Mr. Stewart Fit Role As King of the Lions

Because of the overcrowding that resulted in continued double sessions, Mr. Bill Stewart helped institute several projects to alleviate the tight quarters. New classrooms were constructed with the passing of the school bond issue and plans for a gymnasium and teaching auditorium were begun. Hopefully, these new buildings would take King off double sessions within two years. Mr. Stewart made plans for expanding the library, obtaining a foreign language lab, and converting rooms into a biology lab. He also urged the repaving of the student and faculty parking lots.

Mr. Stewart added another trophy to the display case.

New buildings began to take shape with the passing of the bond issue.

Mr. Stewart showed his pride by wearing a Madcap.

Mr. Anthony Lobo

Due to Mr. Lobo, the Spurrllows again presented their soul sounds to King.

Thank You, Mr. Lobo For "Oh Happy Days"

Students were entertained by such well-known musical groups as the Spurrllows and Free Fair at class assemblies, thanks to Mr. Anthony Lobo, who made special arrangements with managers months in advance for these special appearances. As assistant principal, he was responsible for organizing the sale and collection of locks. Mr. Lobo was in charge of the registration and scheduling of classes for each student. He juggled the class schedules when the students were presented with assemblies or pep rallies.

Mr. Lobo slaved through mounds of daily paperwork.

Mr. Scott showed his powerful back swing.

Students Were Kept In Line by Guess Who?

The deans, Mrs. Guess Simmons and Mr. Robert Scott, assisted students with personal and discipline problems. They aided teachers by helping them with one of their major problems: student tardiness to classes. As advisor of the Presidents' Round Table, Mrs. Simmons helped club presidents with projects. She compiled the attendance reports every twenty days for the county office. Mr. Robert Scott registered license numbers and issued parking stickers for students, faculty, and staff. Among events they chaperoned were school dances, football games and Lions' Roar.

Mrs. Guess Simmons

Mr. Robert Scott

Club representatives discussed projects with Mrs. Simmons.

Frank Hurless was called in by Mr. Scott about absences.

Office Staff Handled Secretarial Duties

The office staff, responsible for all office work throughout the school, included: Mrs. Eddie Mae Forbes, bookstore manager, in addition to working in the main office; Mrs. Margaret McKillop, secretary to the principal and supervisor of the main office; Mrs. Elizabeth Ogle, registration and vice-principal secretary; Mrs. Lya Gillespie, bookkeeper; Mrs. Geneva Hyde, dean's secretary, Mrs. Virginia Fenn, IBM office, Mrs. Karow, dean and guidance office secretary, and Mrs. Donna Allen, library secretary. Student assistants aided the office staff by typing, running the mimeograph machine, and switchboard, and with bookkeeping.

A student assistant worked at switchboard.

Gloria Swansone completed filing a student record.

Liza Shipley and Claire Weschler shuffled schedule cards.

The Xerox machine was put to frequent use by Mrs. Ogle.

Diane Constantine, student assistant, was supervised by Mrs. MacKillop.

Counselors Directed Senior Placement Test

The guidance counselors shared the problems of more than 2000 students as they tried to develop a more personal attitude toward them. The counselors not only helped in solving school-oriented problems, but encouraged students to discuss any family troubles with them. As in past years, the guidance department administered the required Senior Placement Test and other optional testing programs, such as the PSAT and National Merit. Through arrangements made by the guidance office, representatives from Mercer, Tulane, and other universities came to King for interviews with seniors. These interviews gave students information on what to expect at college.

Miss Craver helped a student with a schedule change.

Mercer University representative explained entrance qualifications to senior girls.

Mrs. Rawls and student assistant Rhonda Adams checked bulletin room numbers.

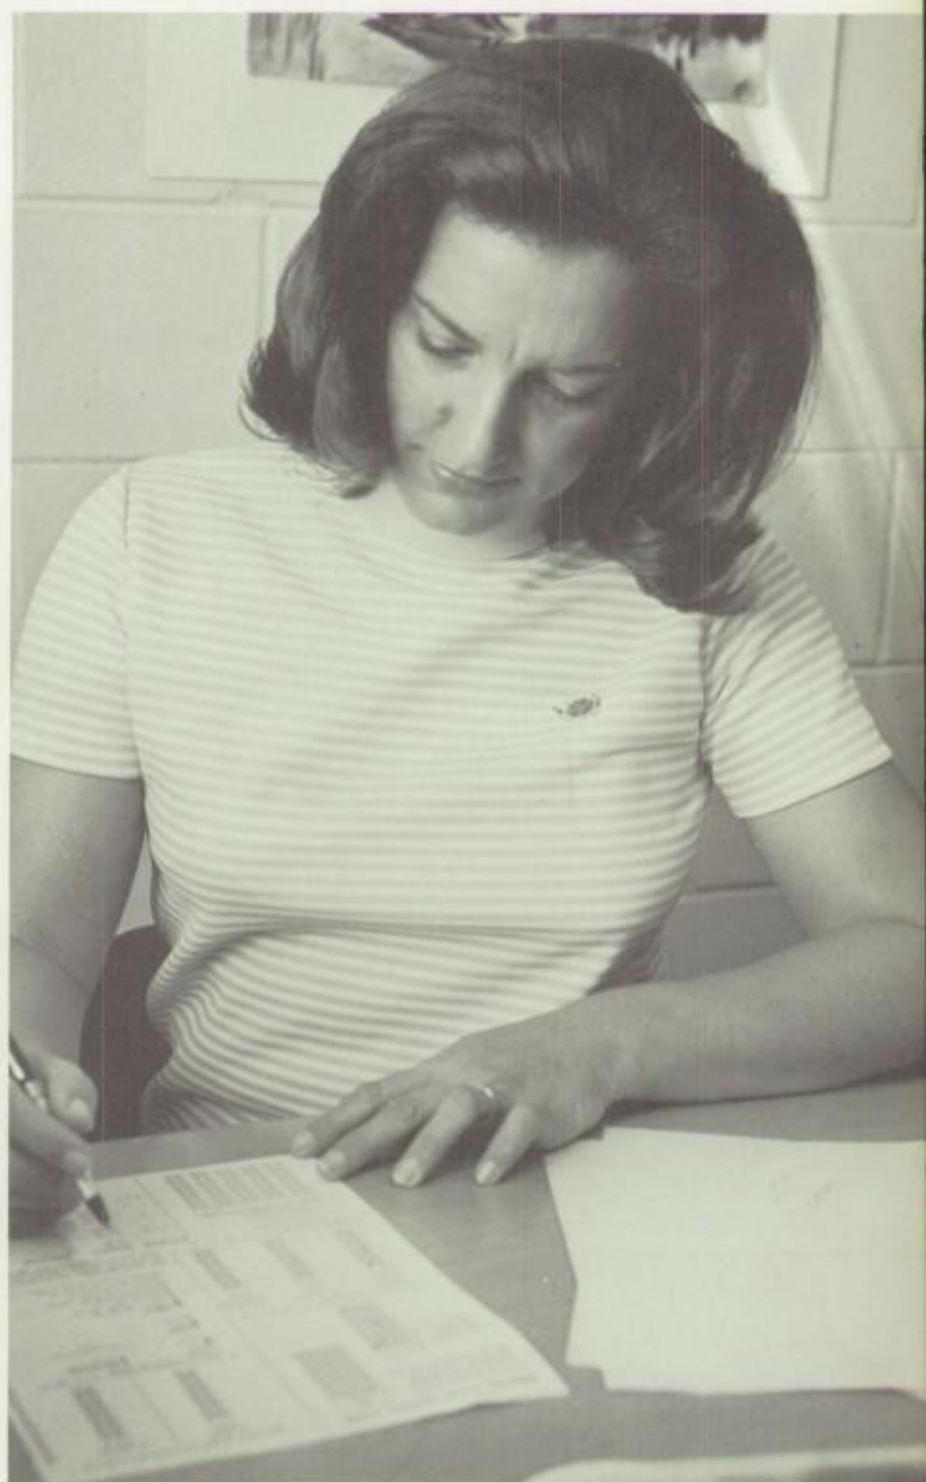

Miss Lucille Craver
Mr. Jarman Scally

Mrs. May Rawls
Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor

Mr. Scally went over a student's personal records file.

Mrs. Taylor worked on scheduling for 1971-72.

English Department Featured Electives

Because of changes in state graduation requirements, Senior English became an elective this year. Mass Media and Shakespeare were the other new electives added to the English curriculum. Mass Media dealt with the various news media through which the public opinion can be manipulated. In Shakespeare, students studied comedies, histories and a tragedy written by Shakespeare. Other electives were Drama, Speech, Journalism, Creative Writing and Advanced Composition. The two required courses were Sophomore and Junior English. They were divided into basic, regular, and advanced classes for maximum efficiency in learning.

While Donna Maggio was pleased with her test grade . . . Cheryl Daniel wasn't as happy.

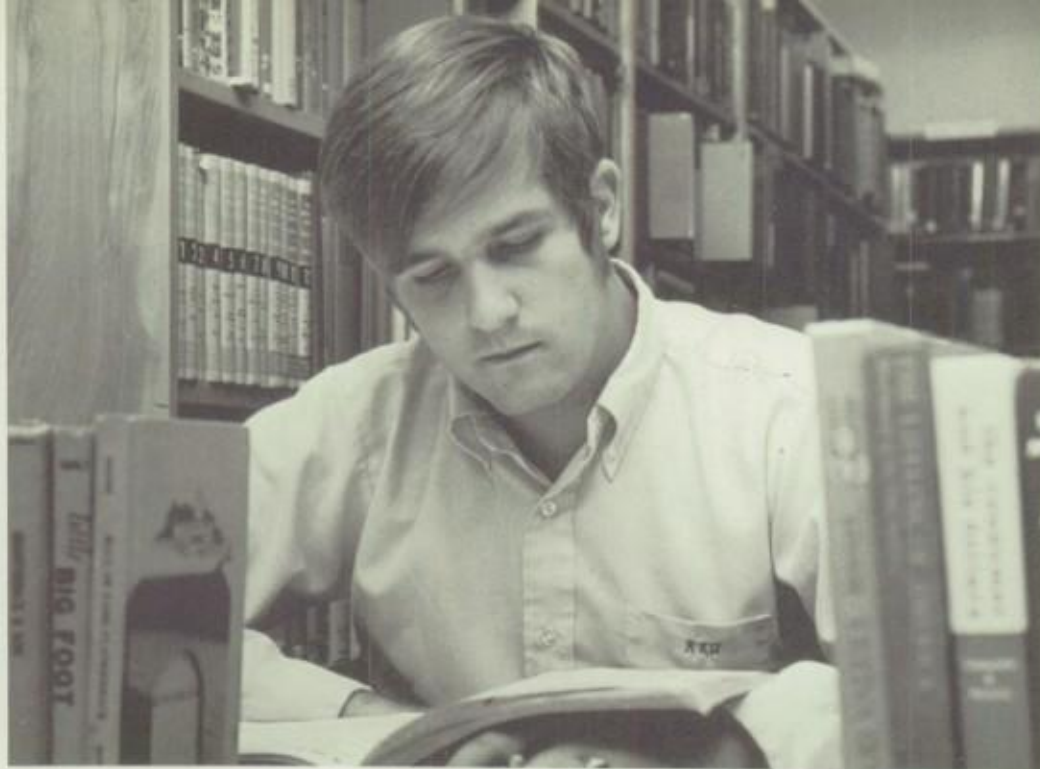

Vilia Johnson paid close attention to Mrs. Wallace in Creative Writing.

Byron Brookins and Clark Leming rehearsed lines from a Shakespeare play.

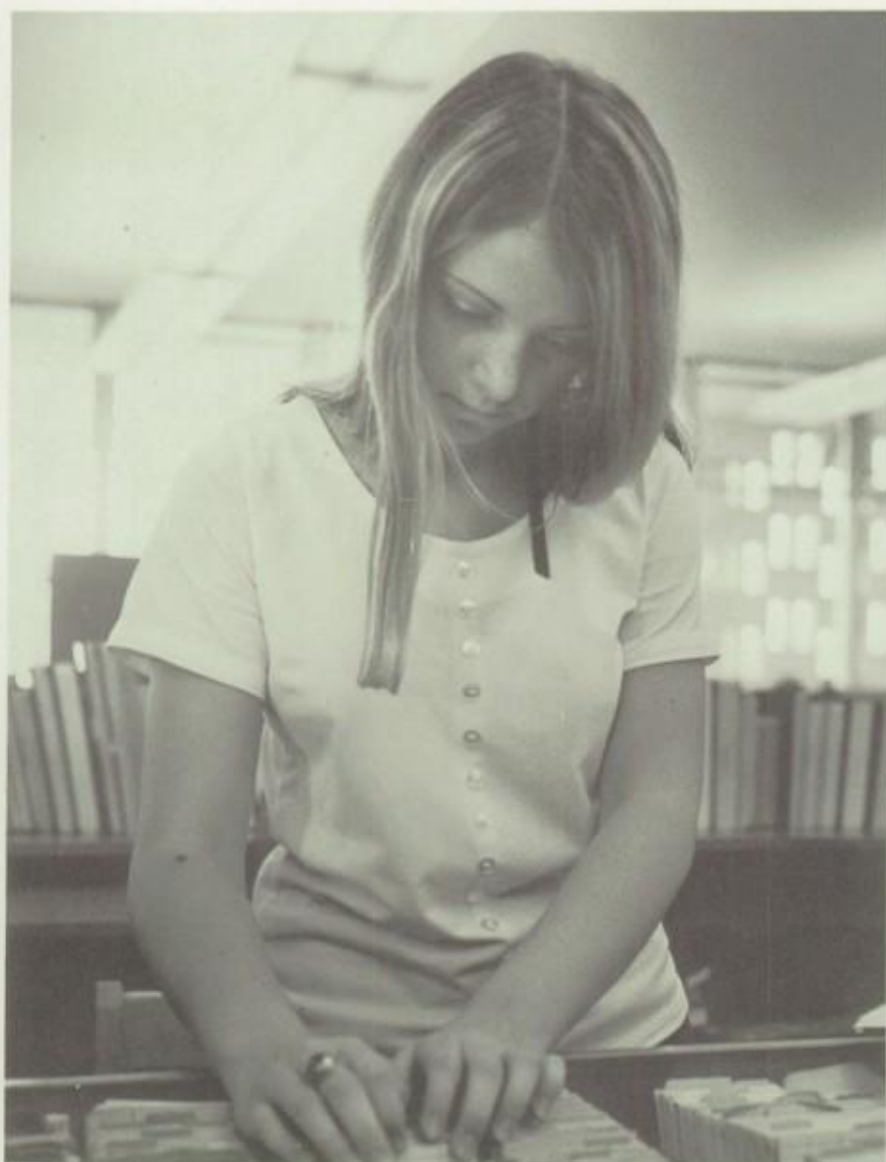

A story was added to the Creative Writing clothesline by Sandy De Motts.

Ken Wingert enjoyed reading a book in the library.

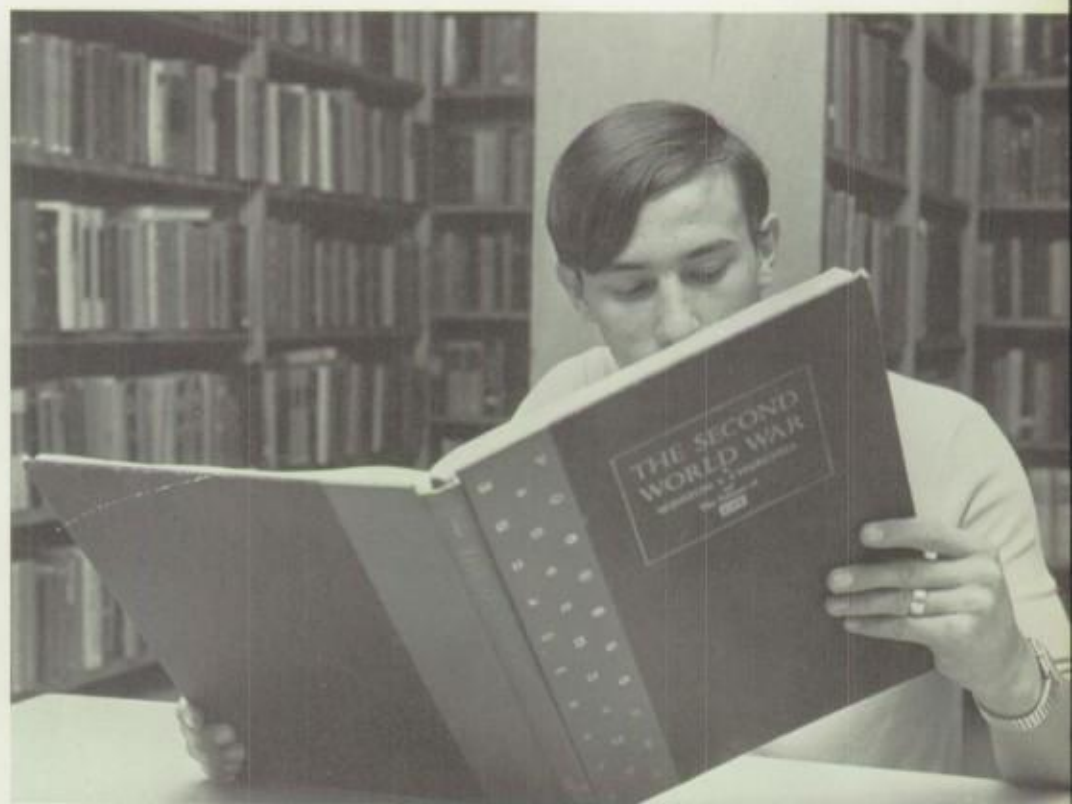

Library Research Took Many Different Forms

Many types of research material were available in the library. Printed research material included current encyclopedias, biographical dictionaries, handbooks and pamphlets, encyclopedias on philosophy and social science, atlases, about one hundred magazines for Life and Look, to Congressional Digest, Consumer Report, and Stereo Review, two local daily newspapers, and the Sunday issue of New York Times. The library had an extensive collection of books on Florida history and Negro history. Non-print research aids included records, filmstrips, slides, transparencies, and a new copying machine, which reproduced pages from books for ten cents per page. There were 19,000 books in the library — about eleven books per student.

Melody Warner, a library aide, looked for a student's library card.

Mrs. Mary Jane Martinez
Mrs. Mary Mulrennan

Jimmy Scott diligently "studied."

Social Studies Was Focused on "Today"

The social studies classes tried to keep up with the times by discussing current problems and situations. Students talked about such "now" topics as ecology, legalization of marijuana, women's liberation, and forced busing. In some classes, mock elections were held to demonstrate the democratic process. Because of changes in graduation requirements, World History was no longer a required course. As a result, the Social Studies Department was able to offer two new courses, Anthropology and Bible History. The anthropology course was one of the few offered by county high schools.

Patty Ward looked doubtfully at her battered textbook.

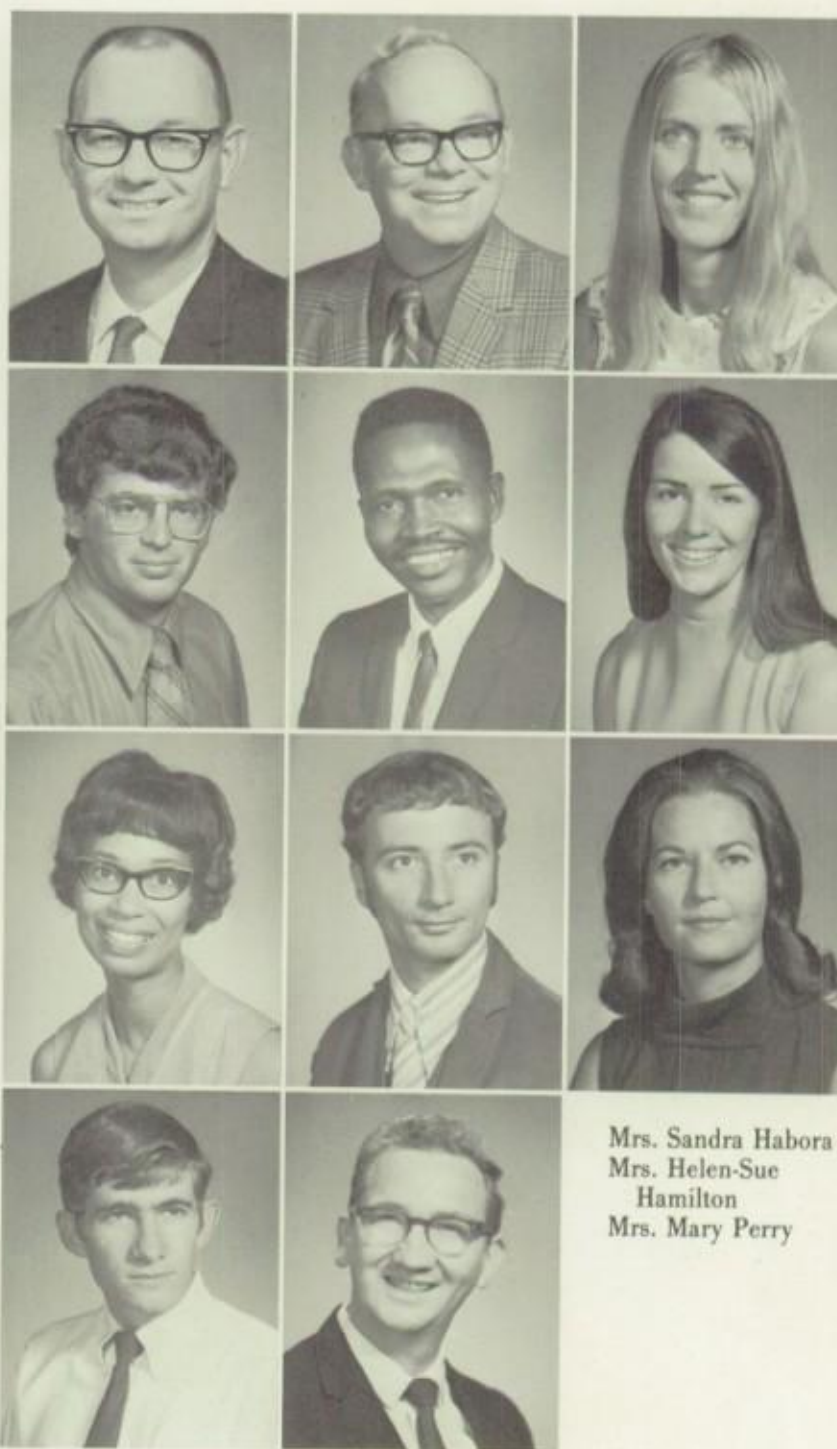

Joe Gomez couldn't quite grasp this trigonometry graph.

Mathematics Program Became Computerized

Computer programming, employing the language of Fortran IV, was used in the teaching of a new course, Math 5. The students in Math 5 learned to write problems in math, chemistry, and physics. When students had written the programs and punched their IBM cards, the programs were taken to the Data Processing Center of Hillsborough County where they were run off of the county's IBM computer. Set Theory and Number Theory were also taught in Math 5. Other math courses were General Math, Math Science, and Algebra II, which gave the student background for the more advanced courses of Geometry, Algebra II, and Trigonometry.

Mr. Tolle rescued Betsy Clark from drowning in algebra.

Finding the tangent of a thirty degree angle was no problem for Dene Ayers.

Specimens Dissected By Science Students

"Yecch" was a common word in many of the science classes while animals were being dissected by the students. Frogs, sharks, and even cats could often be found "under the knife" in Biology and Physiology. Despite its more brutal connotations, dissection was invaluable as a teaching aid. Students were given unlimited experimental opportunity in Chemistry, such as accidentally making nitro glycerine or spilling sulfuric acid on tables. Fortunately, such "experiments" were rare. Physics classes were not quite as exciting. Slide rules were kept busy by the massive math problems and complex experiments. Basic Biology, a new course offered this year, dealt mainly with the biological fundamentals.

Chemistry assistant William Spamer stored nitric acid.

Bert Bruner, Chuck Sheffield, and Debbie Locklair were pleased with the results of their Physics experiment.

Hablan Uds. French, Spanish or Latin?

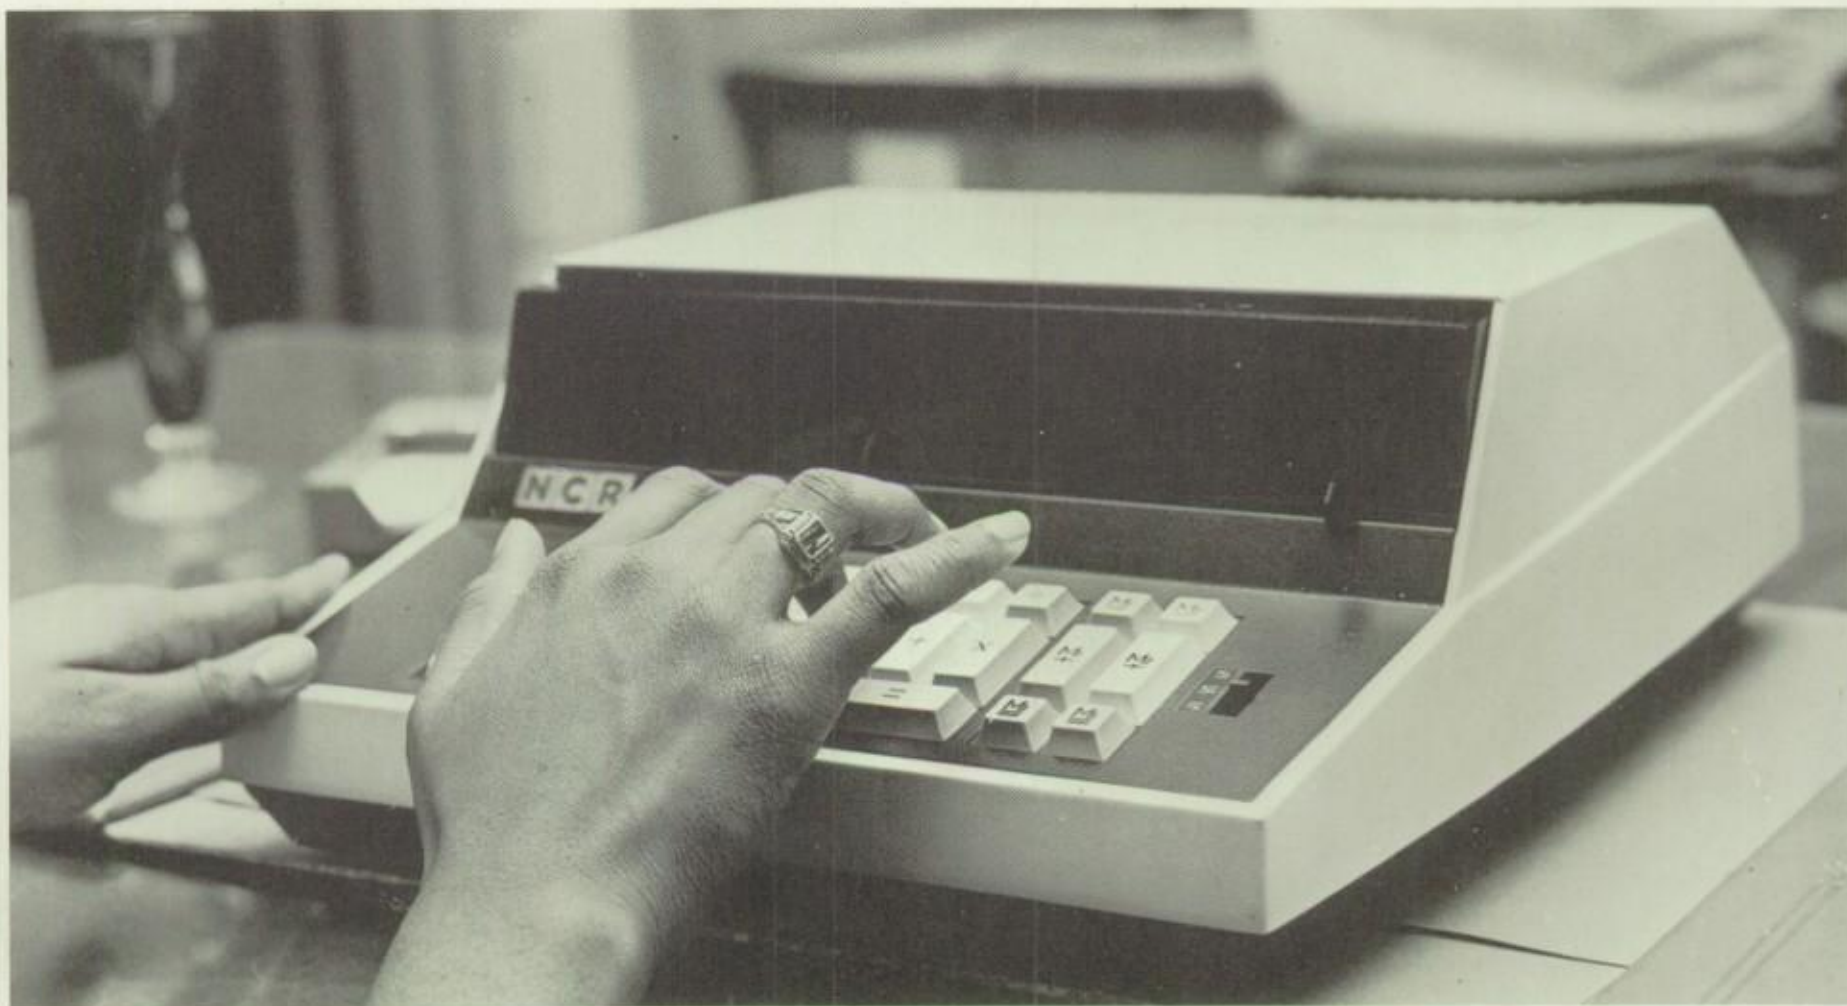

Habla Ud. Espanol? Parlez-vous Français? Dicisne Latinam linguam? These and other questions were answered by the more than 200 students who took Spanish I, II, III, or IV, the more than forty students who took French I, II, or III, and the forty-five students who took Latin I or II. In the first two years of any of these languages, students learned the basic grammatical facts and concentrated on the art of conversation. The skills of speaking, listening, reading, and writing were given emphasis for third and fourth-year students. Fourth year students were also introduced to literature which they read and discussed in each class.

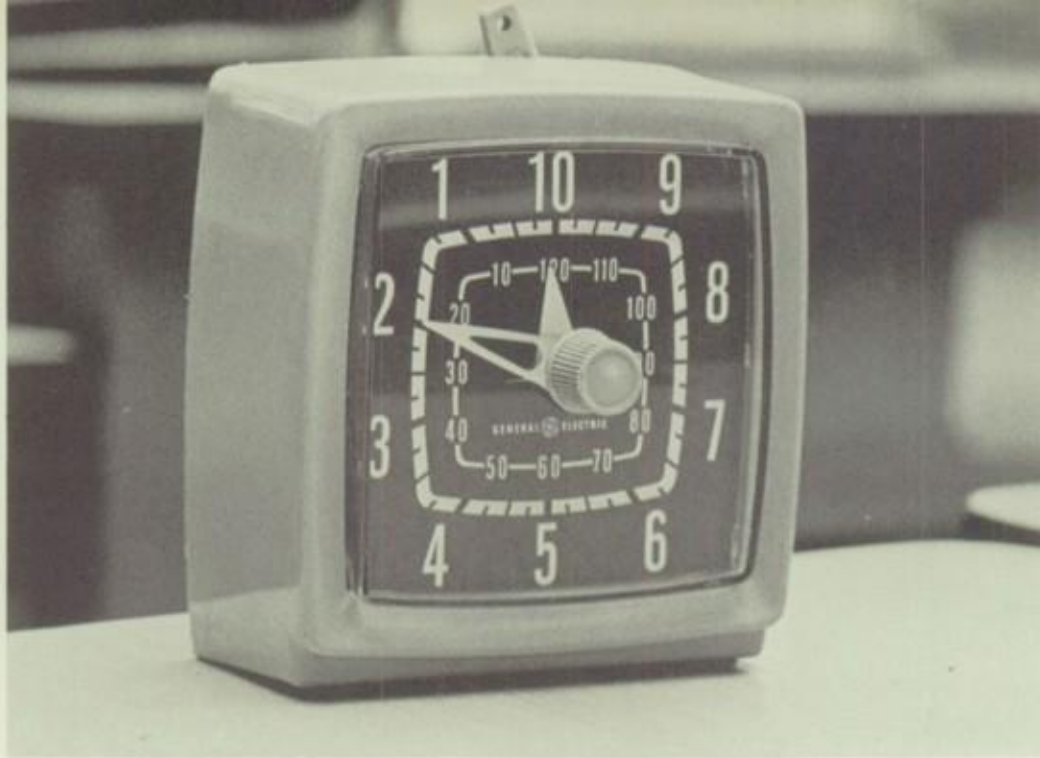

Mrs. Stephens showed Jane Swafford how to operate the adding machine.

Anilda Sierra practiced shorthand using a headset.

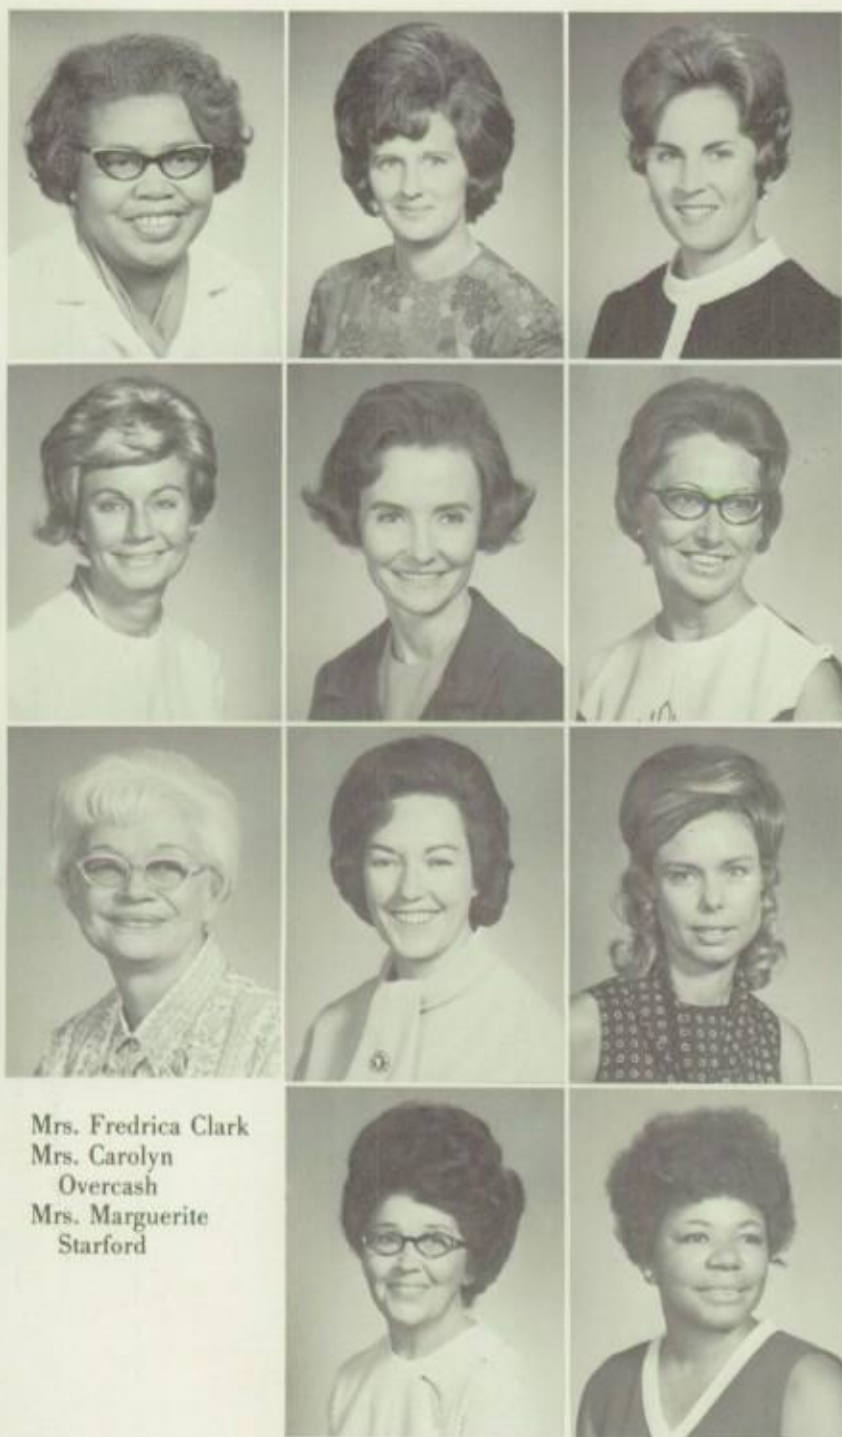

The electronic calculator was used by a student in Business Education.

Seconds ticked away on a timed writing test.

Business Education Met Special Needs

The business education curriculum was designed to meet the special interests of all students. Students enrolled in the Vocational Office Education program were trained in clerical and secretarial skills through classwork in the morning and part-time jobs during the afternoon. As part of the course work students operated several business machines, including the electronic calculator. Subjects required in this program were Clerical Recordkeeping, Accounting, Business English, and Shorthand and Transcription. As an aid in college work and for personal use both Personal Typing and ABC Shorthand were available to all students. Business Math, Business Law, Advertising, Salesmanship, and Introduction to Data Processing were devised to prepare students for business careers.

Special Education Benefited Students

Special Education, a new program, was designed to improve student skills. Students were guided on an individual basis in order that they could make the most progress. Textbooks were not used, as in regular classes. Instead the curriculum featured materials devised by the instructor. In addition to stressing basic scholastic information the course offered various types of skills, including development of manual dexterity, civic responsibility, and social relationships. A project students particularly enjoyed was making neckties. The academic curriculum was comprised of math, fine arts, language arts, and science.

Mrs. Harvey demonstrated a measurement chart in class.

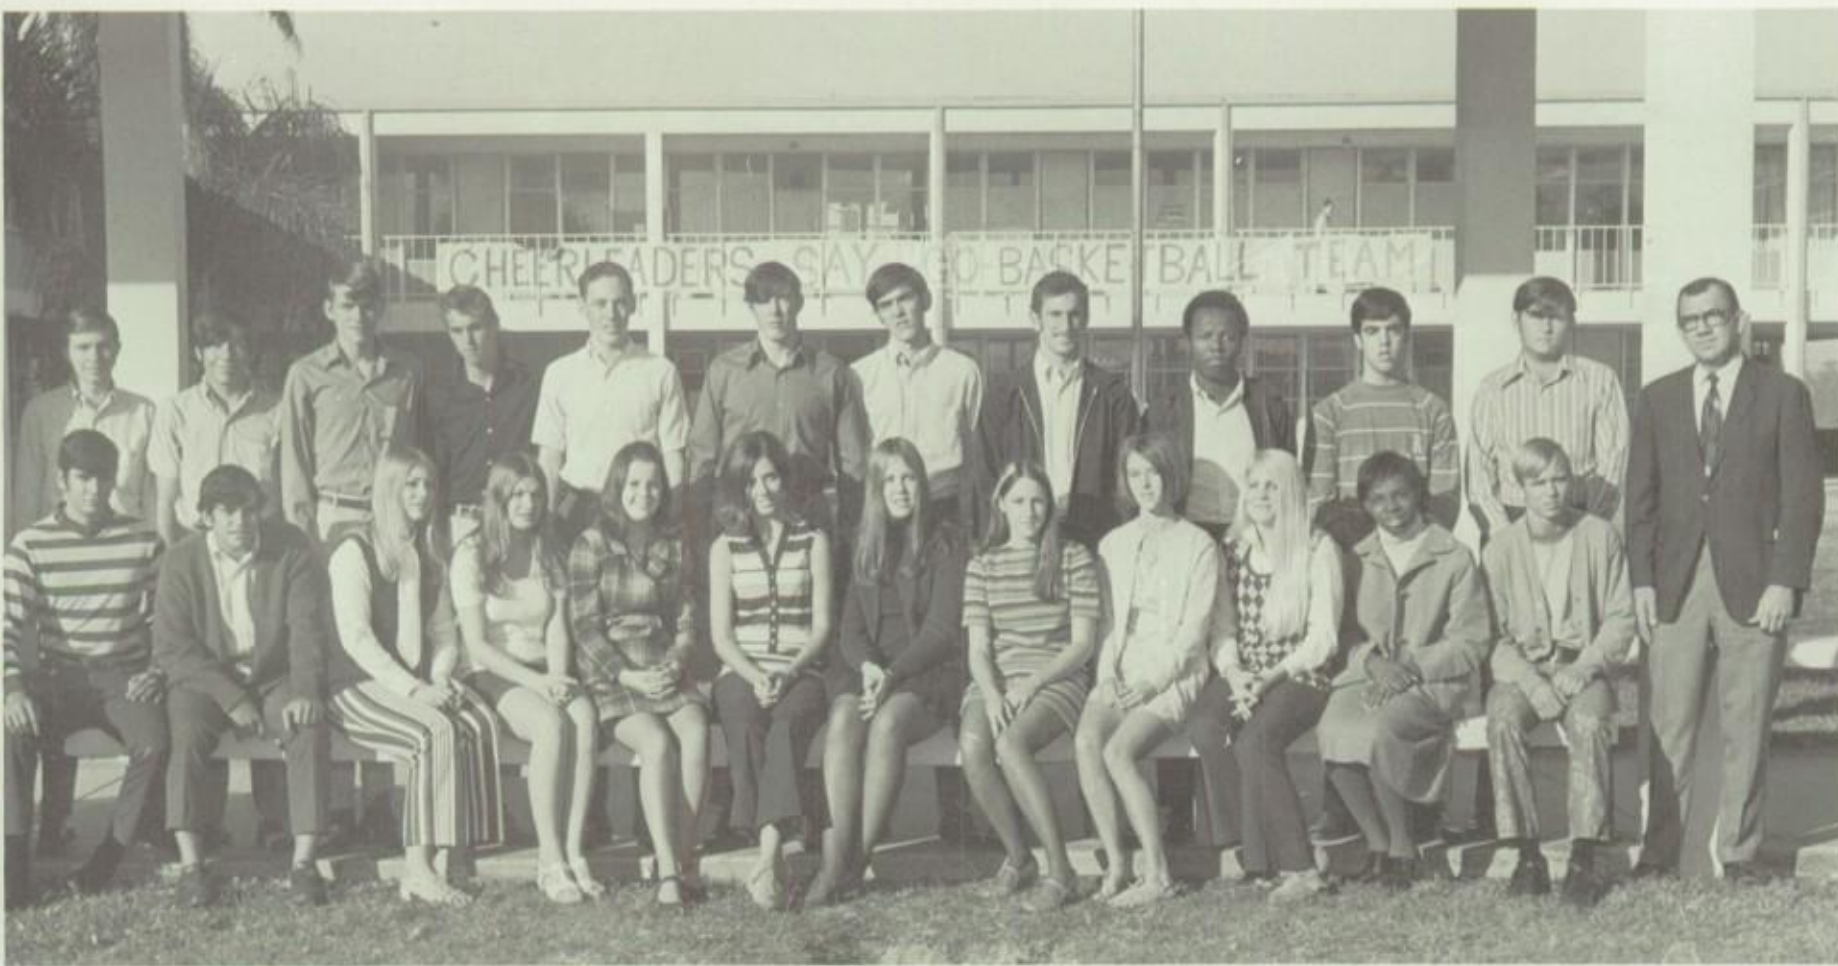

Jim Horne, Mr. Jones and Ken Wingert inspected a chair mended in DCT.

Businesses Aided DCT Through Job Training

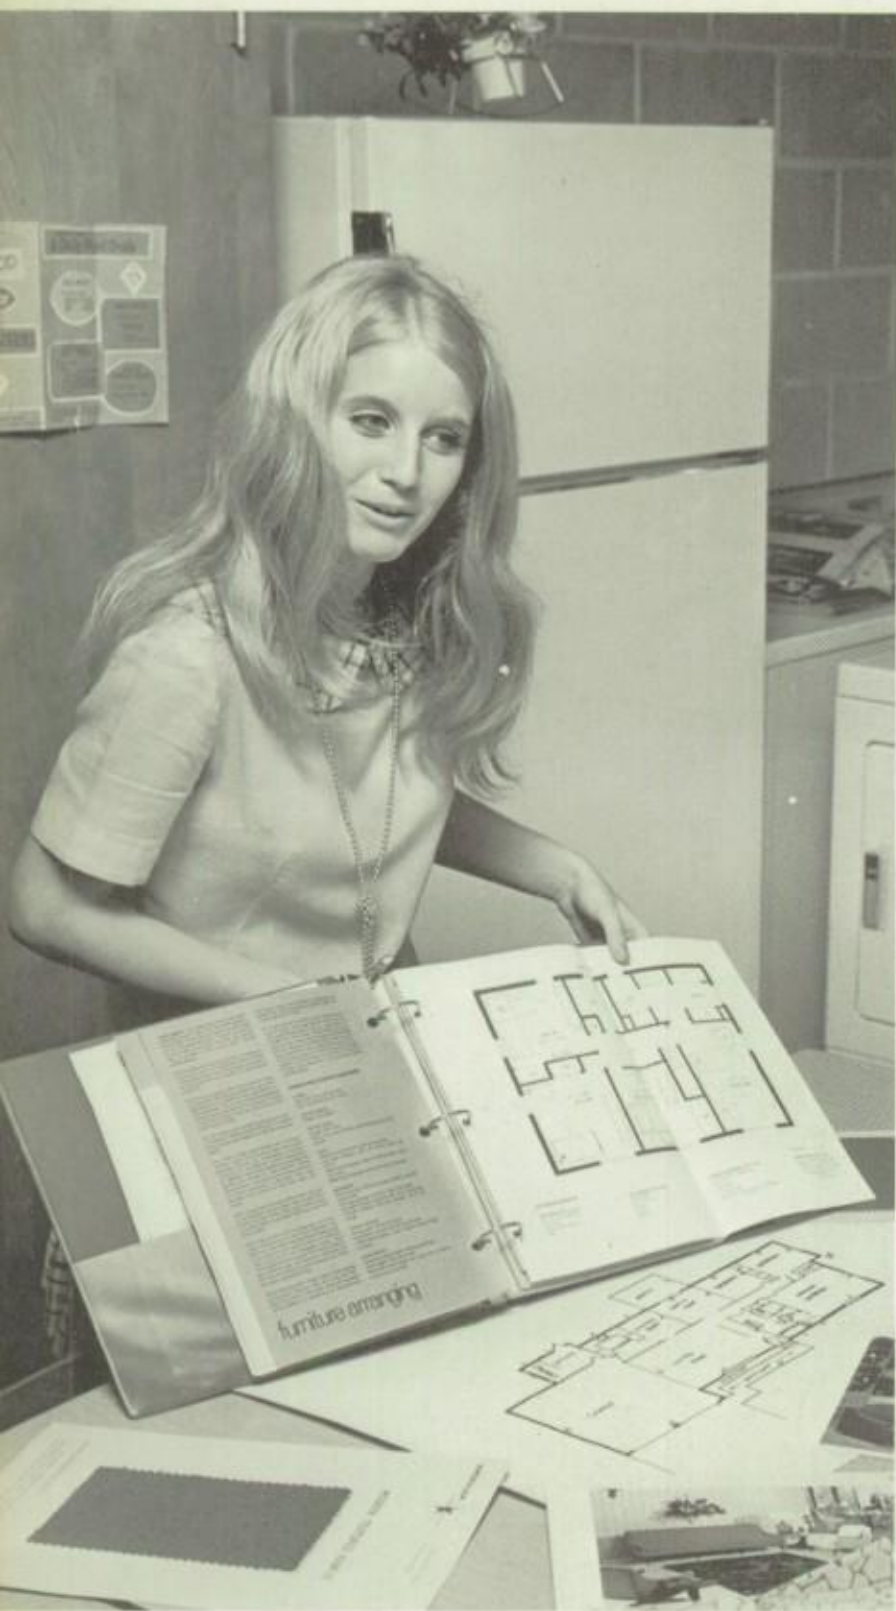

The 27 students enrolled in the Diversified Cooperative Training program received on the job training at many Tampa Bay area businesses. DCT occupations included a shoe salesman, a steel worker, cashiers, secretaries, mechanics, new car cleaner, press helper, warehouse worker, and communications laborer. Students were on an early schedule, attending classes in the morning and earning while they learned on supervised afternoon and evening jobs. The hourly wages ranged from $1.30 to $2.50, with some students receiving tips and commission. All efforts were made to provide the student with necessary training while he was still at King.

There Was No Place Like Home — Economics

The varied home economics curriculum stressed the importance of the home in all of its courses. Modern Family Living was a course concerned with the development of satisfying relationships with family and friends. The care, uses, and sewing of modern textiles was dealt with in Clothing and Textiles. In Child Development, the mental, emotional, social, and physical development of children from birth to age six was studied. The preparation and serving of food was covered in Foods and Nutrition. Housing and Home Furnishings helped students plan a home of tomorrow, while Home Economics I explored the basic fundamentals relating to the home.

As part of Modern Family Living, Raymond Hernandez, Rick Leverett, Gerald King, Sandy Dorman sifted flour for a pie.

Selma Davis found out that threading a needle took concentration.

Physical Education: Fun Way to Fitness

Flying footballs, soccer balls, softballs, basketballs, and volleyballs filled the air anywhere the coaches held classes of boys' physical education. Also flying were golf balls, tennis balls, and arrows as some of the boys and girls were involved in a special co-ed class. There they learned their skills in various games.

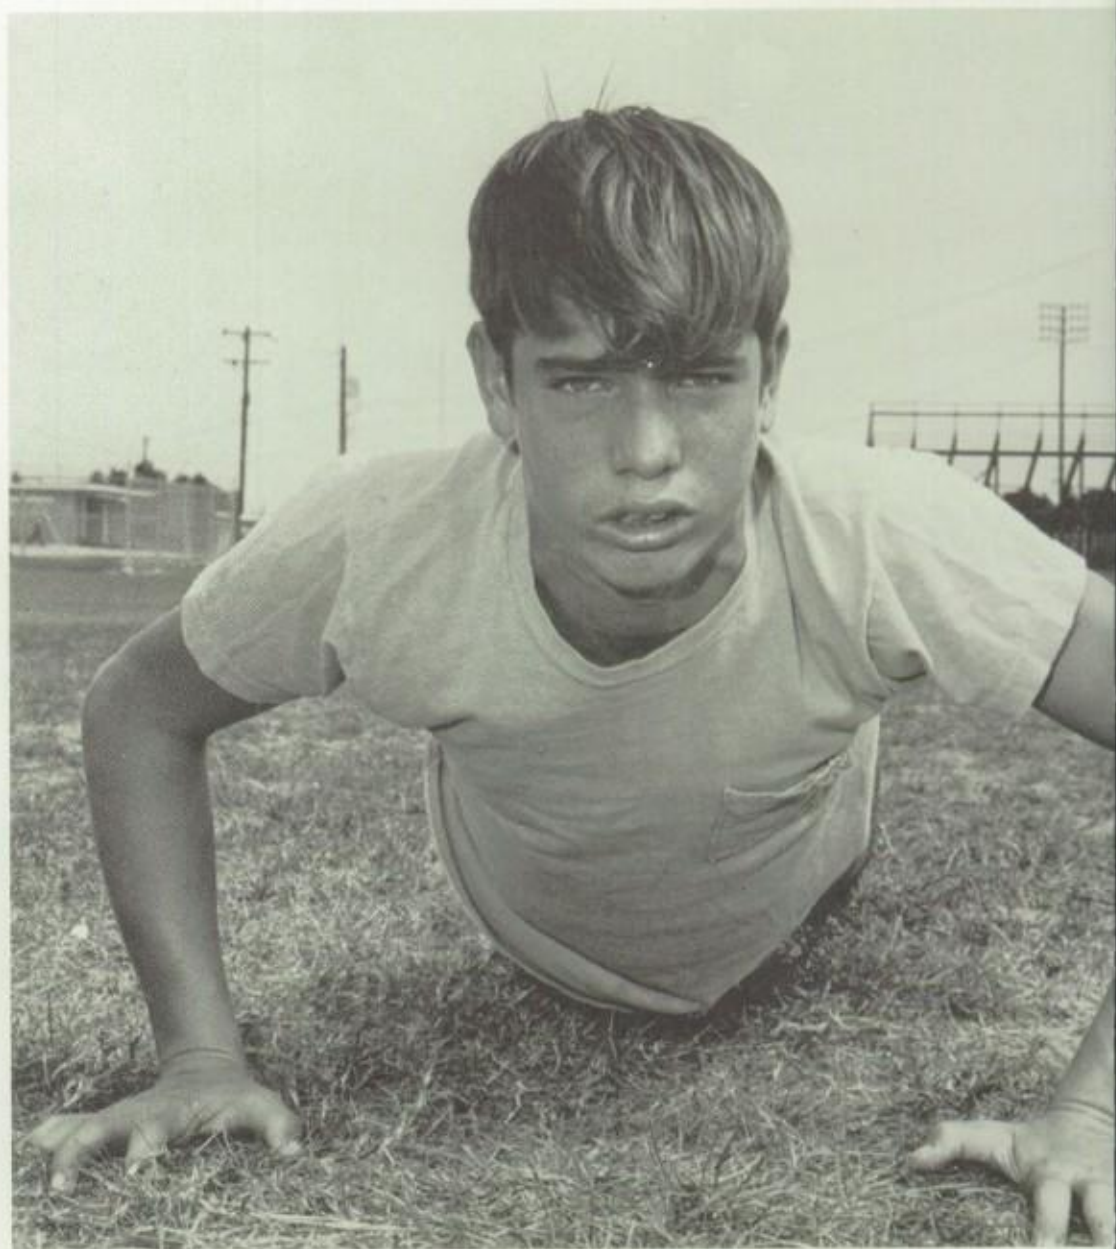

Innovation was the key to the girls' physical education program. In addition to the usual activities there were two approaches introduced: a modern-jazz dance unit and the co-educational class selected from the junior and senior classes.

"No, watch the ball," Miss Catalano told Heather Shields.

"Forty push-ups, only ten more," said Monte Montsdeoca.

Basic Fundamentals Were Stressed in Art

In art classes, the stress was on learning the fundamentals; one and two point perspective, line shadowing and monochromatics. Materials used for finger and brush painting were water colors, India ink and tempera paints. Advanced art students were encouraged to develop their own style of painting and sculpturing. In Commercial Art, political cartoons and advertisements were studied, while in arts and crafts, students worked with ceramics and clay sculptures. The art classes created posters and advertisements for football games, elections and the projects of various clubs at King.

Mr. James Broadie

Mr. Broadie helped Laurianna Thomas with her sketches.

Cynthia Hawley worked on self-expression in her painting.

Gloria Leggett concentrated on a creative idea.

Directed by Mrs. Seevers, the chorus performed, "Do You Hear What I Hear?"

New Sophomore Chorus Completed Curriculum

The addition of a sophomore chorus taught by Mrs. Jean Seevers resulted in a more complete choral program for the music department. A new dance band directed by Mr. Thomas Luter gave students an opportunity to develop their abilities in the jazz-pop performing medium. The bands and chorus performed concerts for the entertainment of the faculty, student body, and the general public. For half-time shows at every football game, the Marching Kings presented intricate marching drills and formations to the fans. The band was also rated superior at the district marching contest.

Industrial Arts Had Work-Study Experiments

The selection of basic courses in Industrial Arts were General Shop I, Woodworking, and Drafting I and II. In order to take advanced courses of Woodworking and Metalworking, General Shop was required. The instructor's approval was required before students could take Drafting III. In the second semester, metal working students studied power mechanics. Students were supplied with power-tools and machines to provide finished projects in the classes of Metalworking, Woodworking, and Power Mechanics. Work-study experiments in several areas were brought out in the major courses.

In General Shop, Stacy Goins squared off a piece of wood.

Students stared in horror as their classmate unsuccessfully attempted to parallel park.

Driver's Education Required By New Law

A new Florida State Law required the completion of a driver's education course to obtain an operator's license under the age of eighteen. This law tended to make driver's education a popular, and crowded course. The semester course included six hours of practice driving and thirty hours of classroom instruction. Students were taught to drive cars both with an automatic transmission and with a standard shift. There were five cars with automatic transmissions and a Volkswagen with standard shift for Driver's Education use. King was one of the first high schools to use a Volkswagen in Driver's Education.

Carl Newsome answered, "I don't know!" when asked where the water was by Leslie Leiberstein, James Wade, and Dennis Minton.

Lunchroom Staff Served Food Fit for the King

Not having a regular scheduled lunch period called for careful planning and ordering to insure sufficient food supply. Students and faculty could choose between a hot main dish or a sandwich lunch. Very few items were purchased, as most of the cooking was done by the lunchroom staff. Offered daily were main dishes, salads, vegetables, fruit, milk, and desserts. The staff also prepared the food for the Sports Award Banquet. Orange juice, doughnuts, and cereal were served from 7:00 to 7:30.

Custodians, Matrons Improved King's Looks

Keeping King clean was a time-consuming job for the matrons and custodians. Both the day and night crews cleaned the teacher's lounge, dean's office, main office, restrooms, and all the classrooms. The custodians also repaired damaged light fixtures, broken desks and other objects; the matrons made coffee for the teachers. Painting the doors, stairways, and outdoor benches, sweeping the halls free of litter and dirt, trimming the landscape of the school and controlling the heating system were among the other tasks of the team.

From a precarious perch, Mr. Davis repaired a light fixture.

ORGANIZATIONS

King Student Council Chosen District VP

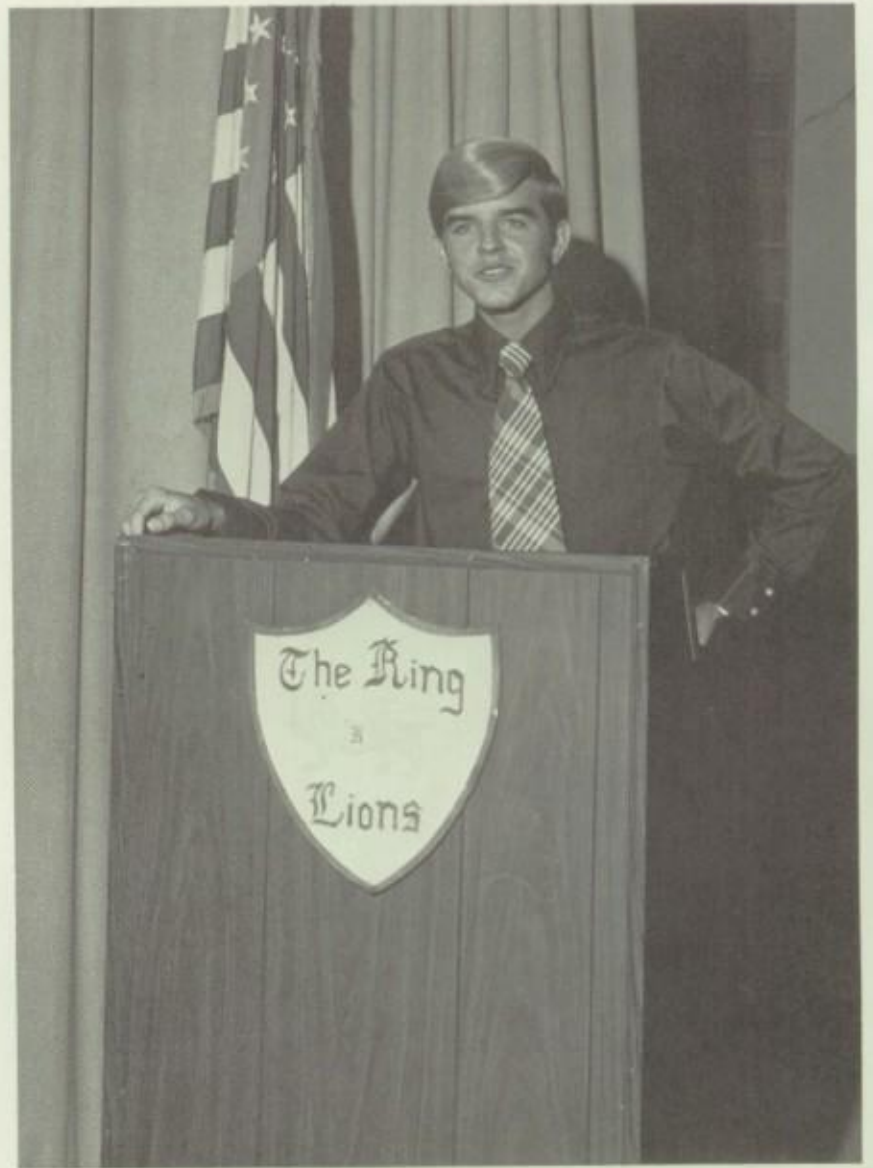

Another first for King High! The Student Council was elected vice-president of District 4, consisting of Hardee, Highlands, Hillsborough, Pasco, and Pinellas counties. Also, the student Council sponsored the first sophomore orientation in three years, and officers came to school three weeks before opening day to organize this. The council held several assemblies, some informative and some, such as the Free Fare and The Spurrllows, entertaining. The Student Council had a new project this year — "hospitality girls." These ten girls were elected by the Council as hostesses for all school activities. Dances were sponsored after the Brandon game and at Christmas as well as the traditional Lions' Roar.

Bobbie Jo Burnham, secretary, took notes at a Student Council meeting.

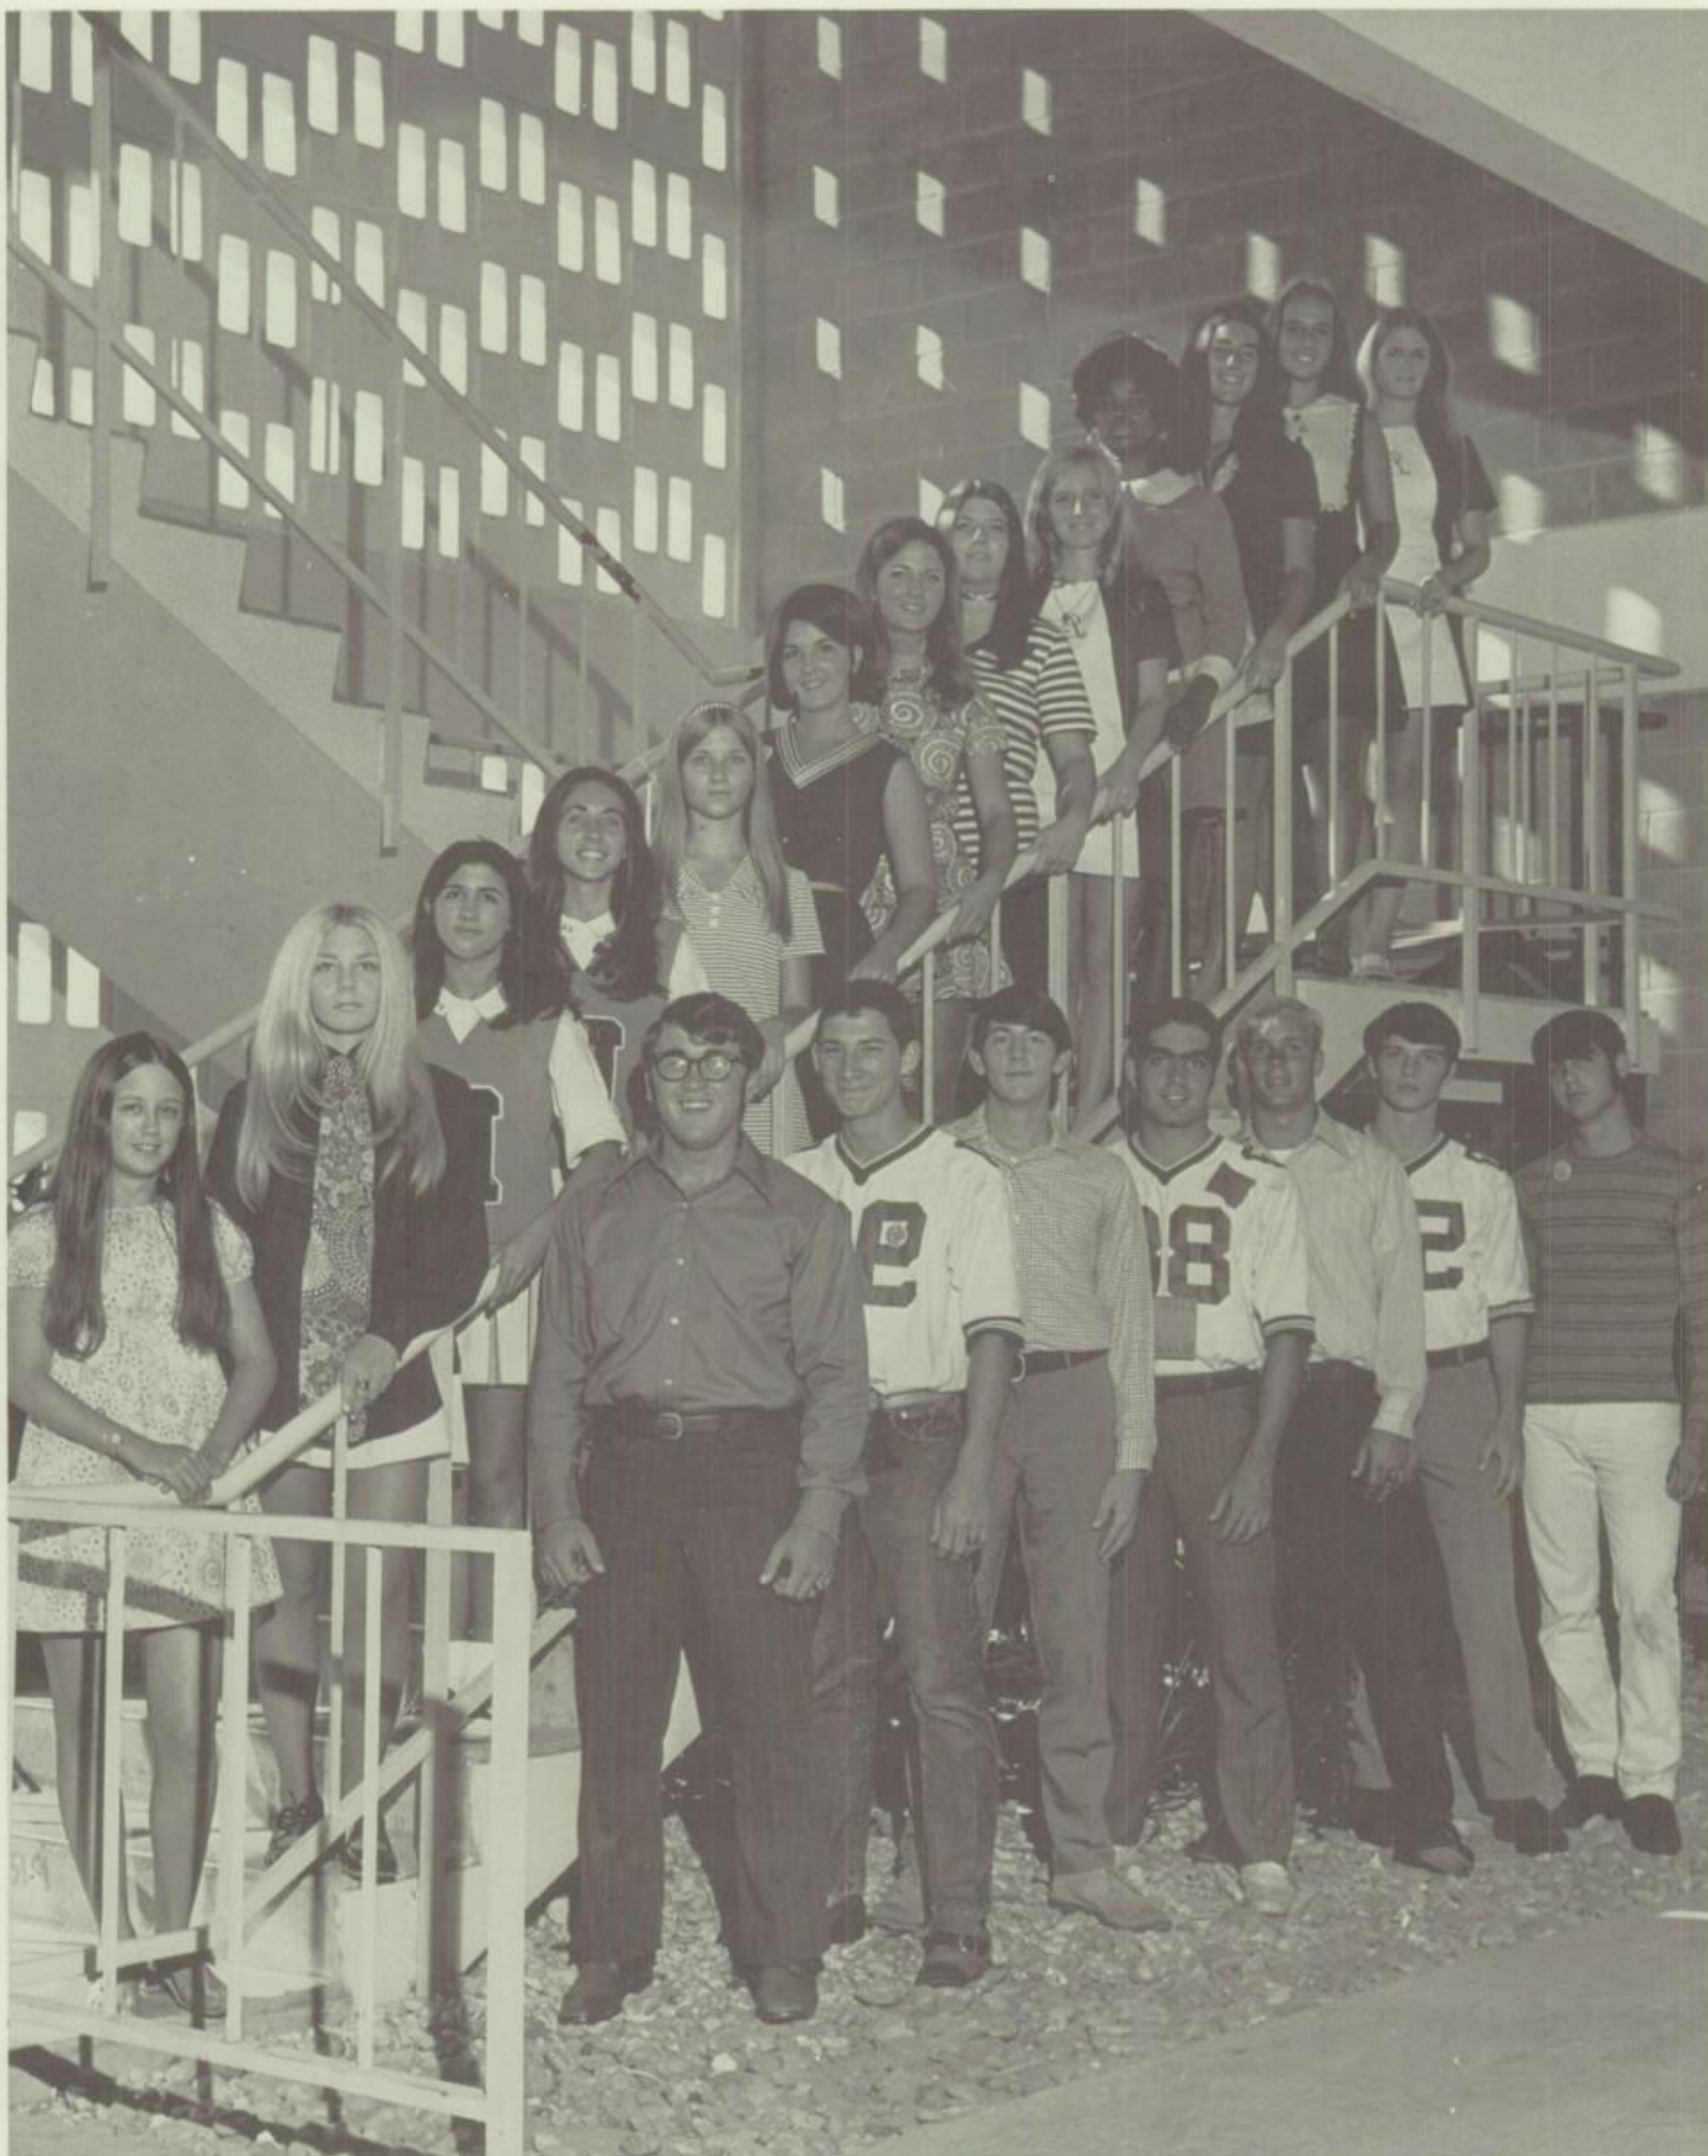

Money from beat tags was counted by Eric Draper, treasurer.

President Butch Cope talked to juniors at an assembly.

Vice-President Earl Lovelace presided at a committee meeting.

Presidents' Round Table Coordinated Activities

Presidents' Round Table communicated ideas and harmonized projects between the various clubs and organizations. The difficulties of the different groups were brought before the Round Table which was headed by the student council president and supervised by the dean of girls. The Presidents' Round Table functioned as a coordinating club. The members, made up of the presidents and vice-presidents of organizations, gained valuable experience and knowledge of leadership through their work.

Youth Council Acted As "Judge and Jury"

In order to develop a better understanding of law enforcement, each week two representatives of the King Youth Council met at the county courthouse with Youth Council representatives from other high schools. There they acted as "jury" in young adult crime cases, suggesting their own verdicts and ideas of sentences. These sentences ranged from picking up beer cans at the beach to six months in jail. They also worked with students within the county on such projects as the hotline, an open phone for teenagers with problems, the halfway house, a home for drug addicts, the juvenile home, and the safe driving campaign.

Susan Bussell practiced a "Hurkey Jump."

"Go Lions . . . FIGHT"

Spirit Raisers Had "Soul-Sa-Soul" Sound

"Ahhh . . .! Can ya dig it?" was one of the "soul" sounds which was heard from the varsity cheerleaders. The entire squad, under the leadership of their sponsor, Mrs. Joan Falsone, attended a cheerleader camp at Jacksonville University for one week and came back with "soul-sa-soul" spirited cheers. In order to incorporate ideas of other cheerleaders throughout the state into their own repertoire, they put in many long, hard hours of practice. Their promotion of school spirit did not stop at cheering at games and pep assemblies. They participated in painting the goalposts and acting as guides at the sophomore orientation.

EXCITEMENT!!!

J.V. Cheerleaders or Mystic Spiritualists?

A pumpkin filled with tootsie rolls, a pride flag, a "sack the red and black" burlap bag, a pot of flowers, and colorful posters were good luck charms? No, just spirit-filled presents given to the J.V. football team and coaches by the J.V. cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs. Joan Falsone. Not only were the J.V. cheerleaders "baby lion" spirit raisers, they were also enthusiastic sales girls. They sold "King High Lions" cushions at the varsity football games and tickets for Burger Chef at school and throughout their neighborhoods.

"Now man, you had really better take PRIDE in this letter," said David Gray to Larry Weyand, Steve Bohon, and Richard Earle.

Honor Was the Word The Lettermen Heard

"A privilege to be a K club member?" "No, an honor!" was the word which the new lettermen heard. King letters were earned in football, basketball, baseball, golf, wrestling, and boys' or girls' swimming. One could qualify for a King letter by displaying outstanding competitive spirit, spending long, hard hours practicing, or earning the position of manager. To earn a letter, it was not necessary to participate in a sport competitively. The new members received their letters at either the Football Banquet in January, or the Spring Sports Banquet in April.

Lionettes Continued With King's "New Look"

"Hey look me over!" was the tune to which the Lionettes showed off their new outfits. The white top hats and vests complemented their red velvet costumes which added a total look to their "Old Vaudeville" routine. Not only did they perform with a new look, but their practices were enlivened by their "King High Lions" red shorts and white shirts. A minimum of eight hours of practice a week under the direction of their sponsor, Mr. Luter, resulted in a variety of routines.

King's 'New Look' Band Highlighted Halftimes

After a year and a half of hard work, the band was finally rewarded with new uniforms. They arrived late in September, in time for the King-Hillsborough game. To pay for the uniforms, band members participated in a number of moneymaking projects that included washing cars, selling "Band-Aid" bumper stickers, and "passing the hat." A welcome addition was a dance band consisting of several experienced band members with a special interest in music. This group presented a wide variety of music, everything from The Beatles' "Let It Be" to the Russian folk song "Volga Boatmen." The regular band, sporting a superior rating, performed at the statewide contest late in the school year.

"Something New" Theme For 1970-71 Choruses

"Something New" was the theme of the chorus. New blazers for boys, and navy blue dresses for girls gave a dressy look to their performances. Under the baton of their new director, Mrs. Jean Seevers, the chorus entered statewide competition for the first time in King's history. Also new was an afternoon class offered to sophomores. Although separate practices were held, the two groups were able to combine to give concerts at Christmas and in the spring. In order to maintain a high quality chorus, tryouts were held in May.

Who was really the Learned Lion, Chuck Sheffield or Leo?

Learned Lions Honored Student Brain Power

The Learned Lions, an honor organization, recognized students for their overall academic achievement. To belong to the club, a prospective member had to strain his brain to meet requirements for membership based on grades. A student had to acquire a 3.66 grade average for one semester to be accepted and maintain a 3.60 to remain in the club. New members were inducted into Learned Lions near the end of the first and second semesters. The group was advised by their new sponsor, Mr. Joseph Vaccaro.

NHS Members Aided Guidance Counselors

In the spring senior members of National Honor Society helped guidance counselors by filling out schedule cards for new and returning students. The National Honor Society initiated a tutoring service to help students. The seventy members of National Honor Society were elected by the faculty on the basis of their scholastic ability, leadership qualities, character and service to the school. A minimum grade average of 3.0 was a requirement. At the beginning of the second semester, ten percent of the junior class and 5 percent of the senior class were inducted. The NHS members were given the opportunity to purchase NHS pins and certificates.

Para-Med Project Sent Mice to Cancer College

The Paramedical club collected donations for the American Cancer Society's "Send a Mouse to College" campaign. For 27¢ a student could send a mouse to a college laboratory. The mice were used to find the causes, and possibly the cures for many types of cancer. Another project included volunteer work at the Hillsborough County General Hospital. Members also helped to give the Snelling eye test to junior students. The Para-Meds entertained patients at Veazey's Memorial Restorium with a skit and gifts.

Los Reyes de Leon, or the Spanish Honor Society in "gringo lingo," was an honor organization that recognized students that excelled in Spanish. To be a member, a student had to be taking Spanish III or Spanish IV. Also, he had to be able to habla espanol with a 3.5 grade average and maintain a 3.0 in all other classes. As well as holding a Christmas banquet, members attended the Spanish Little Theatre productions, or Zarzuelas. The society also sent fifteen representatives to the statewide Spanish conference.

The club also arranged for several guest speakers to come and talk to the group about new fields of math and their applications. A great deal of the math club's time was spent preparing its members for the National Math Contest which was given in March. To be a member, a student had to have a B average in math and his last semester of geometry.

Class of 1973 enters King; Pride continues

By HEATHER ANN SHIELDS
Editor

Welcome, Sophomore—Class of '73! We hope your three years at King are enjoyable. To make adjusting to life as a lion a bit easier, we here offer a guide to some of Kings traditions.

The most important thing to remember now is that you belong to THE King High School. Our life as a school depends upon the students' pride in KHS. That five letter word, PRIDE is one that you'll hear plenty—but remember that it's not the word—it's the feeling and spirit that counts.

Our colors are Red, White, and Blue. The sophomores are red, juniors blue, and seniors white. Show your spirit by wearing King's colors on game days!

King's faculty and staff are always willing to help students with their problems. Our guidance office specializes in the smoothing of the individual's school and schedule difficulties. Representatives from colleges and universities throughout the country are guests in the guidance office regularly to help students decide which, if any, college they would be best suited to attend.

King's seven service clubs are a vital part of the King curriculum. They include three choice for boys, and four for girls.

King's Alma Mater is sung at the end of pep rallies and games—win or lose. Please learn it!

O, Alma Mater our own King
To Thee we would be true.
And to thee praise and honor
sing
Our standard Red and Blue.
Yet we will leave to go our way,
To honor you for aye.
With strong foundations King
did lay
And her ideals in view.
Sing it with pride.

Scepter Kept Students Informed With News

The Scepter, King's newspaper, provided information about activities around the school. For the first time the Scepter was published at regular intervals, every three weeks. The Scepter attempted to present an accurate picture of the school and its activities to the students and the community. To become a staff member, a student must have had an active interest in journalism, a "C" average, and the recommendation of his English teacher. Election results, sports reports, features, club projects, and editorials were all a part of the 1970-71 newspapers.

Orb Staff Presented Evening "Happenings"

The Orb, King's literary magazine, was comprised of student poetry, short stories, and art sketches. Creative Writing was a prerequisite to be on the Orb staff. The staff, all seniors, was appointed by the sponsor, Mrs. Edna Nichols. In the spring the editors taught sophomore English classes haiku and used some of the best in the Orb. The staff also presented many Orb Happenings, evenings of entertainment that featured poetry, skits, art shows, films, and group and solo music. Emphasis was placed on student participation in writing, directing, oral interpretation, and musical performances.

"In every man's voice is the sweet song of the poet."

Even Clark Leming, our favorite stand-up comic, occasionally got put down by Liza Shipley, Beth Frain, and Debbie Cadrecha.

"Homeroom 403 and 414 sold 100%?"

"Remember, when you're selling the book, mention we have eight pages of color."

"Do you think Bill Fannin is mad because we scheduled two pictures at the same time again?"

"Becky, you lost a receipt book? The auditors will kill us!"

"You still don't have any dominant pictures!"

"Diana, what's a dominant picture?"

"Tom, you can't fit ten football players into one tiny action shot."

Civinettes Presented Pride Flag to Gridders

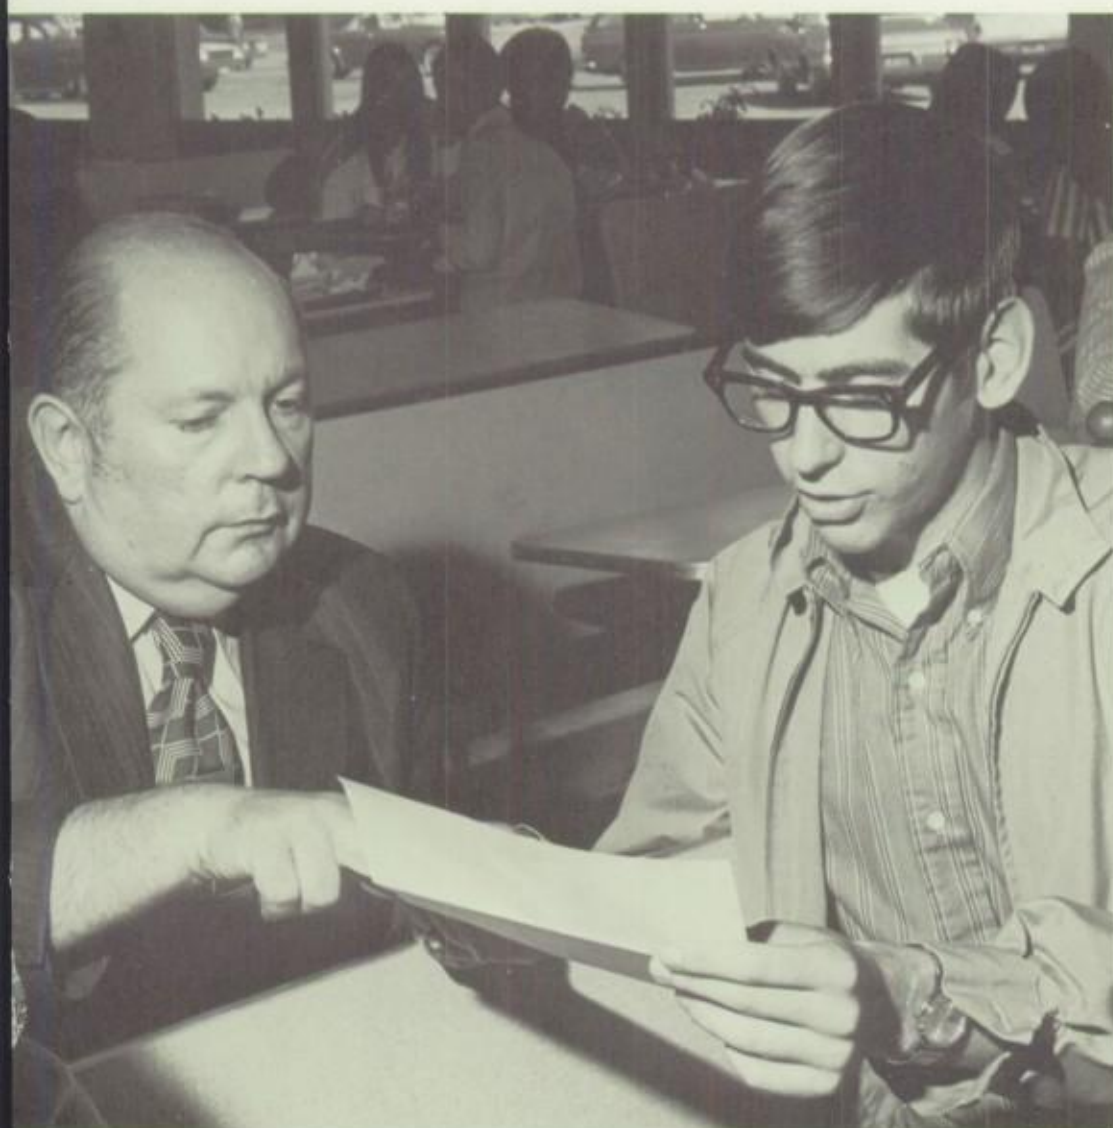

The Civinettes backed our football team by giving them a "Pride Flag," made of material colored a bright Columbia blue and picturing, as its emblem, a large head of a roaring lion. The Civinettes also continued giving Nutriment, a food used to gain weight, to a little girl who was a victim of polio. As a result of this treatment, the girl gained ten pounds. The girls visited Graham's Old Folks' Home and gave monthly birthday parties for the people. The Civinettes also had their traditional money-making project, selling Claxton fruitcakes, and sold the fruitcake to people at school and in their community.

Jerry Gomez and costumed Civinettes spoofed the "big-headed" Hillsborough cheerleaders.

Stadium Was Cleaned By "Big I" Members

Who were those guys you saw running around the Lion's Den every Saturday with brooms and litter bags? They were Interact members and they cleaned up the stadium every Saturday morning during football season. The club was paid one-hundred and forty dollars at the end of the season and the money brought their treasury up to one-hundred and fifty dollars. Interact also rewrote their constitution to bring it up-to-date. Their membership doubled since last year and Interact took in ten new members and six honorary girl members. The guys had a party at Hillsborough State Park at the beginning of the year to welcome new members.

Kiwanettes Gave Turkey Dinner to Needy Family

Girls clad in red, white, and blue dresses were running through bulletin rooms during the first few weeks of football season as the Kiwanettes sold shakers. Proceeds from the red and blue "ra-ras" were used in a number of service projects to help other people. The Kiwanettes brought a happy Thanksgiving to a needy family by giving them a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. The girls also took some orphan children on a picnic with members of the Key Club.

Kiwanettes presented a Christmas skit at their inter-club supper meeting.

Money earned from the game was used in service projects and for sending representatives to the state convention. Members also helped in the landscaping of Tampa Stadium. They planted shrubbery, cleaned the grounds, and performed various odd-jobs. Along with their sister club, the Kiwanettes, the Key Club co-sponsored a picnic for children from a local orphanage.

Opti-Miss Volunteered Time for Handicapped

As their money-making project this year, Opti-Miss sold Dream Pets, miniature stuffed animals. To promote school spirit, Opti-Miss gave out "cryin' rags" for football pep rallies and performed a skit for the King-Blake game. They also helped in a litter "Clean-up Day" in Temple Terrace and collected money for the cancer drive. The Opti-Miss members volunteered their time to help at Stephen Foster Elementary School, a school for the physically handicapped. Three girls visited the school every Monday and helped to entertain the children.

Junior Optimist Parked For Fun and Profit

"Turn left here." "Straight ahead, please." These remarks were heard in King's parking lot during football games this year. Serving the school, Junior Optimist parked cars, and gave the profits to the Booster Club. Junior Optimist also parked cars at the Tampa Bay Tech home games. The club won first prize in the Homecoming display contest for their display of a Lion's paw crushing a panther. Junior Optimist sponsored the third annual Mr. K.H.S. Contest, in which the students voted for the senior boy considered to be "best all around," and helped beautify the school by painting the Junior Optimist wishing well.

The members also helped work in the concession stands during varsity games.

Thespians Took Part In Senior Class Plays

The Thespians was comprised of students who were interested in different areas of the theatre. The Thespians and their sponsor, Mrs. Smith, produced the spring play and many of the Thespians were involved in the two senior class plays. The members were encouraged to broaden their knowledge of the theatre by participating in dramatics in their community and in theatres around Florida. The main requirement for membership was a true interest in all aspects of the theatre.

FHA's Picture Books Aided Pediatrics Ward

What kept up the spirits of the children at St. Joseph's Hospital? Picture books made by the Future Homemakers of America. The books, made out of washable cloth, were given to the pediatrics ward. FHA had another new project — bake sales. The girls made pastry for the sales and used the profits for their various club activities. The members and their new sponsor, Mrs. Joy Thomas, got off to a good start this year with a new member drive. The girls wore tags and put up signs around school advertising FHA. After the drive, FHA took in ten new girls. In the spring the two members who had earned the most points were sent to the state-wide convention in Miami.

FTA Tutored Students In Difficult Subjects

Future Teachers of America had a new service project — tutoring, and the members tried to help fellow students in some of their harder subjects. Tutoring was done in any course the FTA member had taken and passed with at least a B average. Tutoring was available in algebra, biology, chemistry, geometry, and world history. The moneymaking project was a caramel apple and bake sale held at nearby shopping centers. Guest speakers included professors from the University of South Florida. And for the first time, King's FTA became a co-ed organization with the addition of two boys.

FBLA Decided to Keep A Good Project Going

Future Business Leaders of America decided to keep a good thing going again this year for their money-making project. FBLA sold Tom Watt Variety kits, comprised of photo albums, toolkits, stationery, sets of twelve mini-forks, and many other items. With their sponsor, Mrs. Theda Steil, the club members visited the Exchange National Bank, the Tampa Post Office, the County Court House, and reservations office at Eastern Airlines to learn how different types of businesses were run. FBLA also started a new practice by accepting sophomores as members in the fall.

Negative Development ... Positive Results

Learning to use a camera as an "art" was the main interest of the camera club. This "art" was taught to the members by Mr. David Jones and Mr. Ron Williams, the sponsors. Having a darkroom helped in teaching members to develop their own pictures to various sizes. A push of the button was considered simple after many complex cameras were introduced. New frustrations went along with learning proper lens opening, shutter speed, and accurate focusing, which are the main factors of photography.

School Board, Parents Gave Time and Money

The Band Parents, sponsor club of the music department, solicited donations to pay for instruments, music, and new band uniforms. They not only asked businesses and organizations for donations, but many parents dug into their own pockets to defray costs of the fast-expanding music program. Not exclusively for parents of band members, the organization was available to anyone wishing to join.

The main goals of the booster club this year were to pay off the $14,000 still owed on the stadium, to begin plans for adding 640 seats to its eastside stands, and to donate money to the athletic department. The club's main sources of income resulted from handling the parking lots and concession stands at the Lions' home football games.

The Parent Teacher Student Association tried to create a better understanding between the school and the home. In addition to supporting several school projects, this group discussed problems of the education system.

The new classrooms that were constructed this year were due largely to the efforts of the Hillsborough County School Board. The Board proposed the accepted bond issue that will give King a gymnasium and teaching auditorium.

Skits, Funky Chicken Enlivened Lions' Roar

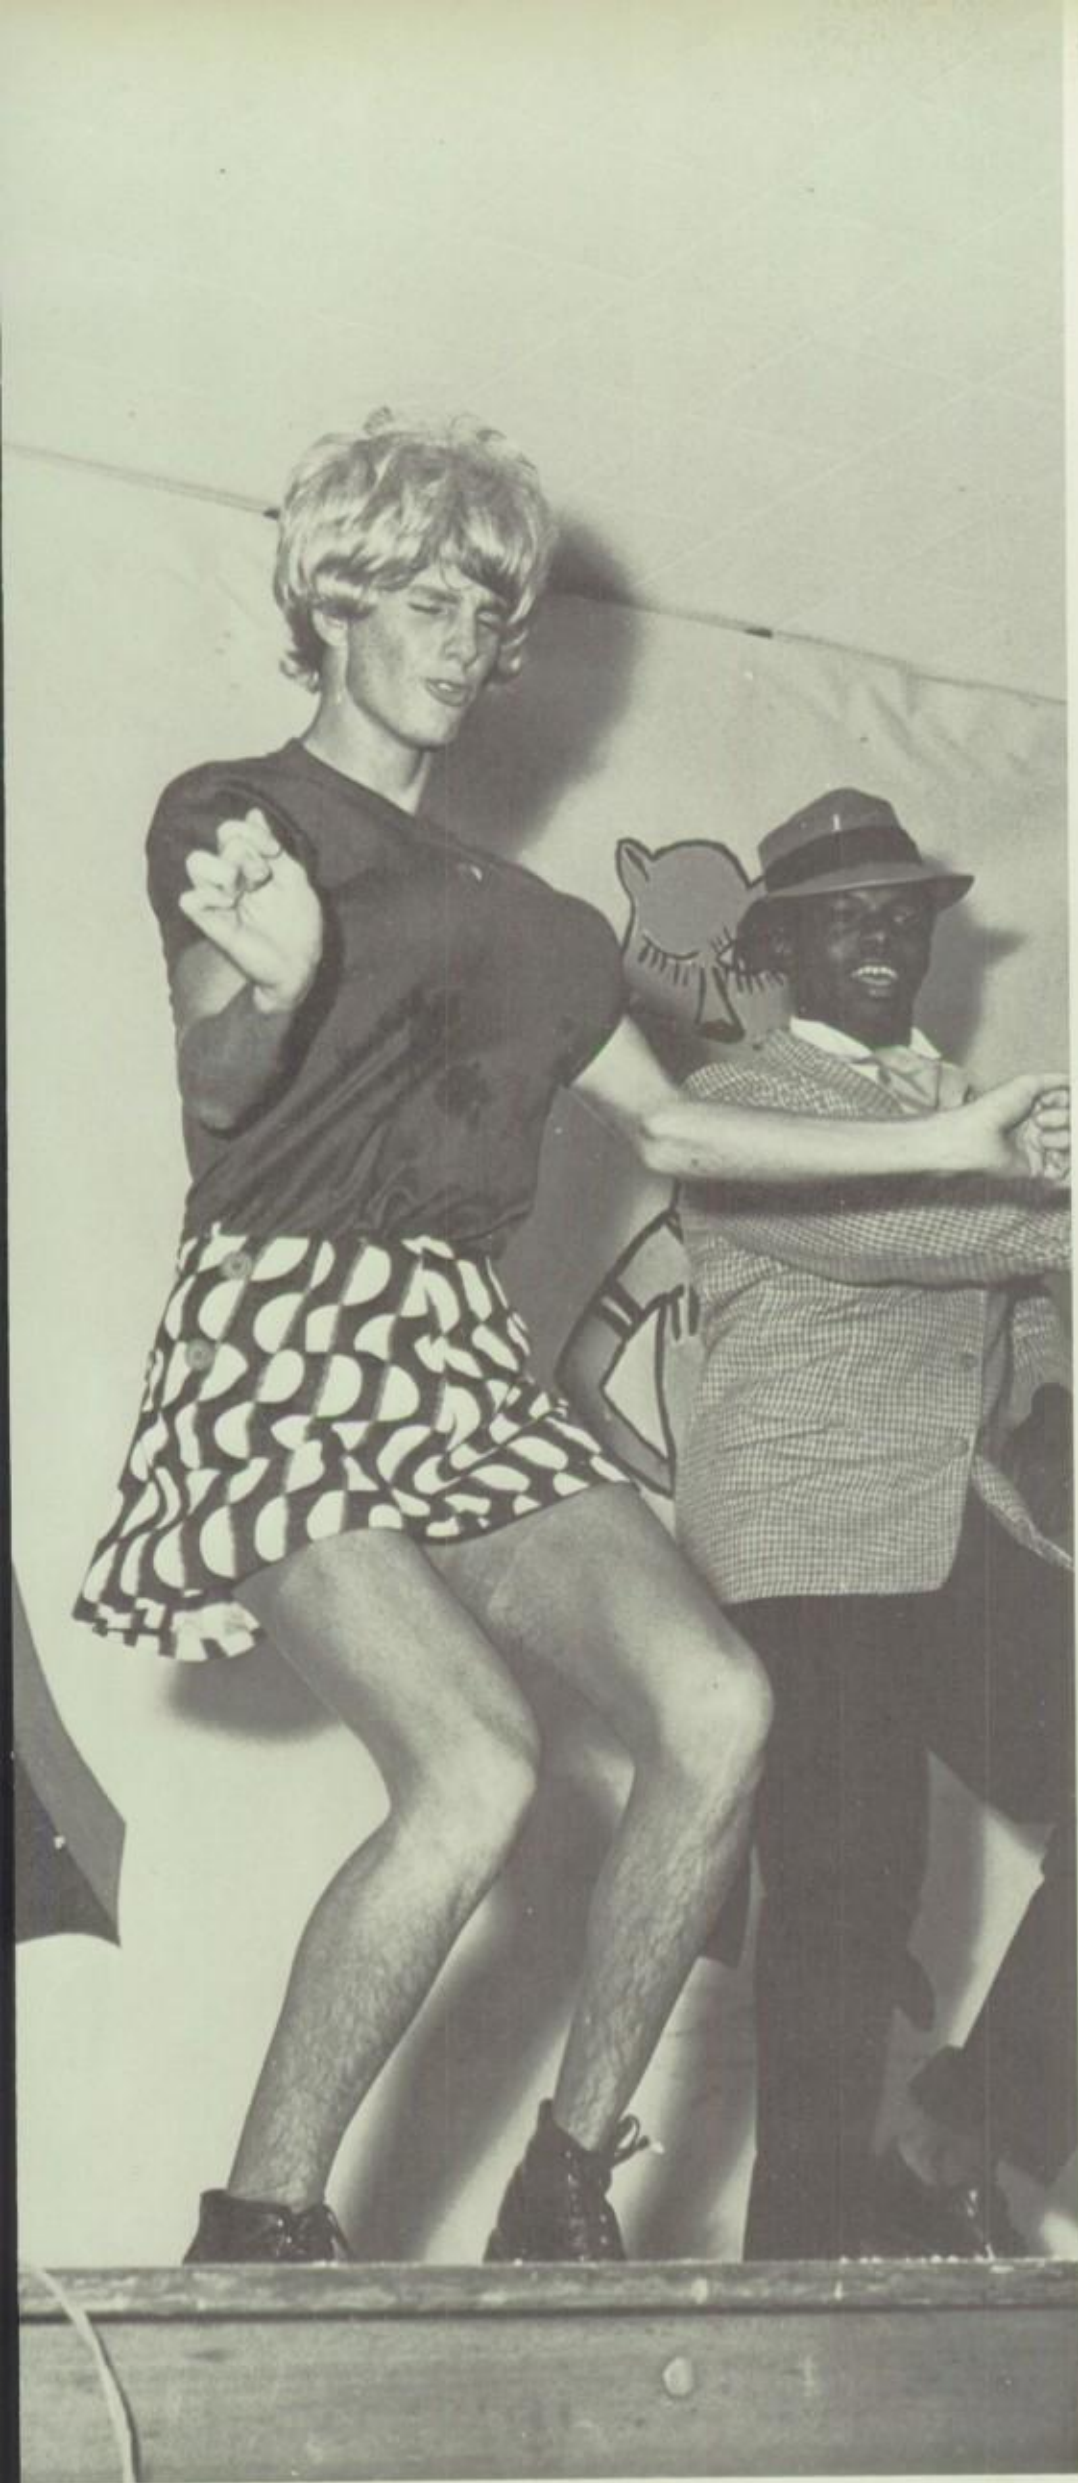

"Indian style" was the thing as everyone brought blankets and sat on the cafeteria floor at the traditional Lions' Roar held on October 22, the night before Homecoming. The cheerleaders and all-new dance band combined throughout the night to raise the spirit for the homecoming game against Plant. Each class presented a skit, each with the theme of whomping Plant. Tommy Mikell and his dancers added soul to the Lions' Roar by doing their thing, the "funky chicken." Bobbi Jo Burnham and Butch Cope premiered their singing abilities with such popular songs as "Light My Fire" and "I'll Never Fall In Love Again." Climaxing the spirited giant pep rally, the Homecoming Queen finalists were announced by Mr. Morin.

"Sex goddesses" Clarissa Leming and Josephine Gomez prepared to plunge into a cream pie.

Ending the suspense, Mr. Morin announced the five Homecoming Queen finalists.

"Chicken-man" Tommy Mikell and Haywood Hampton performed their spirited version of the "funky chicken."

A big hand was given to Cindy Tennant, the Plant coach, by Gay Kennedy, the King coach, in the junior class skit.

Things got a little hairy as Barry Lee drank his mad scientist potion.

Royal Coronation Was Dampened by Defeat

"Ladies and gentlemen, I present the 1970 Homecoming Queen candidates." Following the parade of seventeen girls, Mr. Louis Diaz introduced each candidate and her escort. Then attention turned to the game, as the Lions wrestled with the Plant High Panthers. The eleven-point lead held by the opponent was somewhat overshadowed by the announcing of the queen and her court. After the queen was crowned, the band entertained the audience with their half-time show. Although the game ended in a 24-12 defeat for the Lions, Homecoming 1970 was a traditionally meaningful night.

"Andy, I don't believe it!" exclaimed an astonished Coach O'Brien.

Five Campus Beauties Ruled at Homecoming

Suspense inhabited the hearts of seventeen girls during Homecoming Week as the entire student body cast the votes for the 1970-71 Homecoming Queen. During half-time of the homecoming game, Lynda Evans was announced as the 1970-71 Homecoming Queen, with Linda O'Steen, Lynn Munoz, Donna Suarez, and Sandy Dorman as her court. Each honorary, interest, and service organization sponsored a candidate, with male organizations sponsoring any senior girl of their choice. A special assembly was held to introduce all of the candidates. On Wednesday of Homecoming Week, the students voted for five of the seventeen girls. Secrecy prevailed until the Lions' Roar, the night before Homecoming, when the five finalists were announced. Friday the student body voted for one of the five girls and the results were known that night.

As the last piano note of "Five-Foot Two . . ." faded, the curtain rose on Act I, Scene I of the senior class presentation of "You Can't Take It With You." All profits from the play, written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, were given to the senior class treasury. The comic love story was presented on two evenings, with refreshments for intermissions supplied by students. Mrs. Barbara Yost and Mrs. Rosemary O'Hara, the senior class sponsors, organized and directed the production. Several Tampa businesses contributed furniture and props for the set.

Santa, Elves Landed At "Sugar Shack"

As a Christmas present to Tampa, the Hospitality Girls, Lionettes, and "Dance Band" sponsored a party for three hundred underprivileged children and senior citizens on December 18. Earlier that week, the Lionettes masqueraded as "Santas" and the Hospitality Girls portrayed elves while they collected $331.57 in donations from the students. The money was used to buy small toys for the children and brag books and manicure sets for the senior citizens. The band played while Barbara Burnham sang appropriate songs. As an extra treat, Mr. Luter selected several children to "direct" the band. Then, in keeping with the Christmas theme, Clark Leming told the story of baby Jesus.

"Mr. KHS" Contest Ended Football Season

At the close of the football season, the Junior Optimist Club sponsored the annual "Mr. KHS" contest. Each senior homeroom nominated one boy, and the twenty candidates were introduced at an assembly conducted in the courtyard. Afterwards, the seniors voted for five of the candidates. The ballots were counted, and the five finalists were announced: Jim Congelio, Freeman Gallmon, Joe Gomez, Alan Johnson, and David Rhodes. A second election was held; David Rhodes was announced as "Mr. KHS" at the last football pep rally of the year.

Gridiron Stars Honored At Annual Football Fete

On Wednesday, January 20, the junior varsity and varsity football players gathered for the long-awaited banquet in the cafetorium. After the invocation by Coach White, a buffet dinner, prepared by the lunch-room staff, was served. Then, together with the cheerleaders, Lionettes, Hospitality Girls, managers, and parents, the gridders listened to three speakers. The coaches introduced all the players, and gave out various honors and trophies to the most outstanding seniors. Finally, the president of the Booster Club, Mr. Charlie Dorman, presented awards to the most valuable Booster Club members.

Double "Dirty Dozen" Were Named as Notables

Each year, the Clarion sponsors the selection of the Senior Class Notables, the twelve couples best suited to categories ranging from "Best All Around" to "Wittiest." The voting this year was limited for the first time to one category per person. On the Tuesday before the Christmas holidays, the seniors voted in homeroom on an open ballot. A few weeks later, seniors assembled in the cafetorium for the announcing of the winners. A new tradition was begun, presenting the notables with "Lion Certificates."

LeHeup-Led-King Found Winning Fun—Finally!

King's impotent offense united behind quarterback Andy LeHeup after six games and only one victory, and sparks began to fly when the Lions got their hands on the ball. During the last four games King scored 122 points, for an average of more than thirty points per game. Unfortunately, two of the Lion opponents managed to outscore the newly found offense and record wins.

Plant City ran and passed its way to a 47-28 win over King at the Planter homecoming. John McLain tallied five touchdowns, and the Lion specialty teams gave up three touchdowns on one kick-off and two punt returns.

After a week off, Middleton's undefeated and fourth state-wide ranked Tigers invaded the Lions' Den, expecting an easy win. The heavily-favored Tigers ran up a 24-7 lead in the first half, and it seemed that they would live up to pre-game predictions.

During the second half, however, LeHeup completed passes for 133 yards and his second TD of the night. Most of them went to Steve Vickers who grabbed nine for 109 yards.

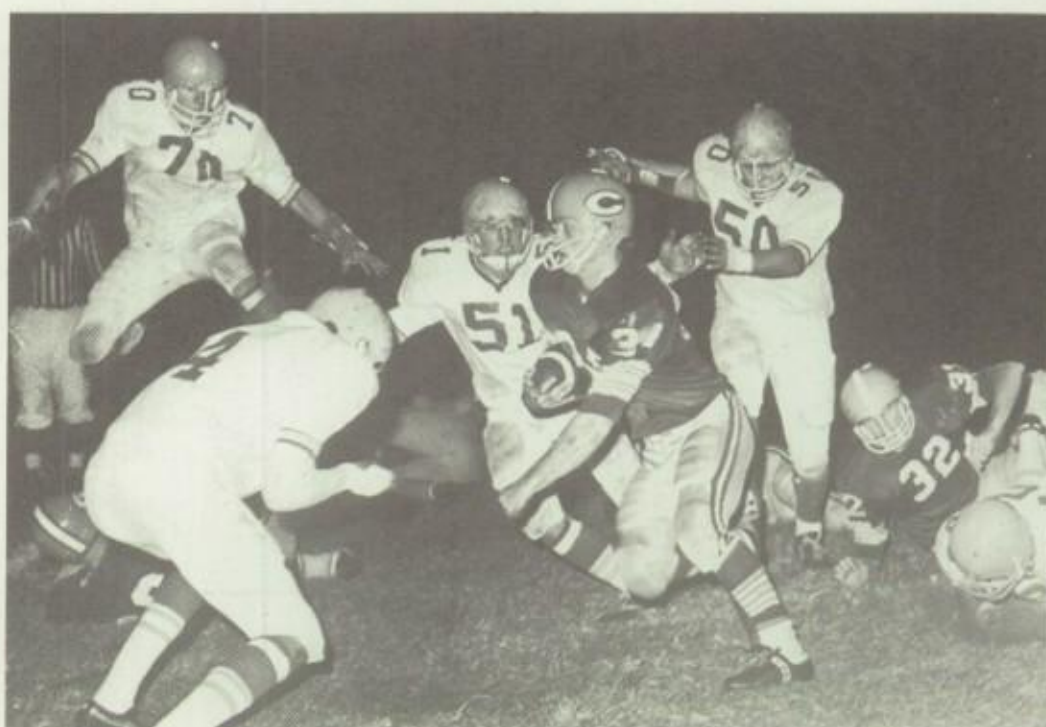

The Lion defense roared to life in that half, allowing only one touchdown to the highest scoring offense in the county. They stayed tough throughout the next two games.

King finished the season by walloping winless Leto 36-14 and arch-rival Chamberlain 34-7. LeHeup vaulted to the conference lead in TD tosses with his last two performances. He ended the year with 52 total points and a selection on the all-conference team.

Bill Fisher took second place in team scoring with 24 points, while Tom Jackson placed third on nineteen extra-points and a field goal.

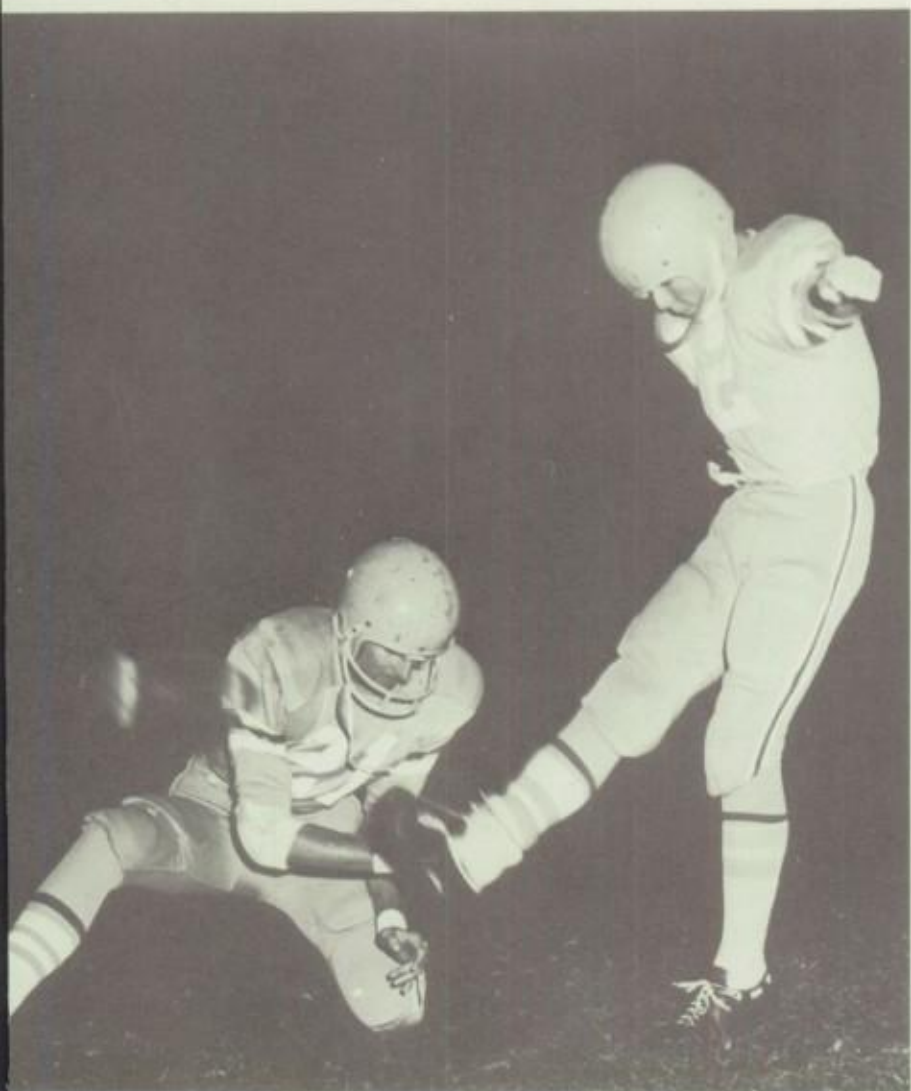

David Rhodes broke for daylight through the Tiger secondary.

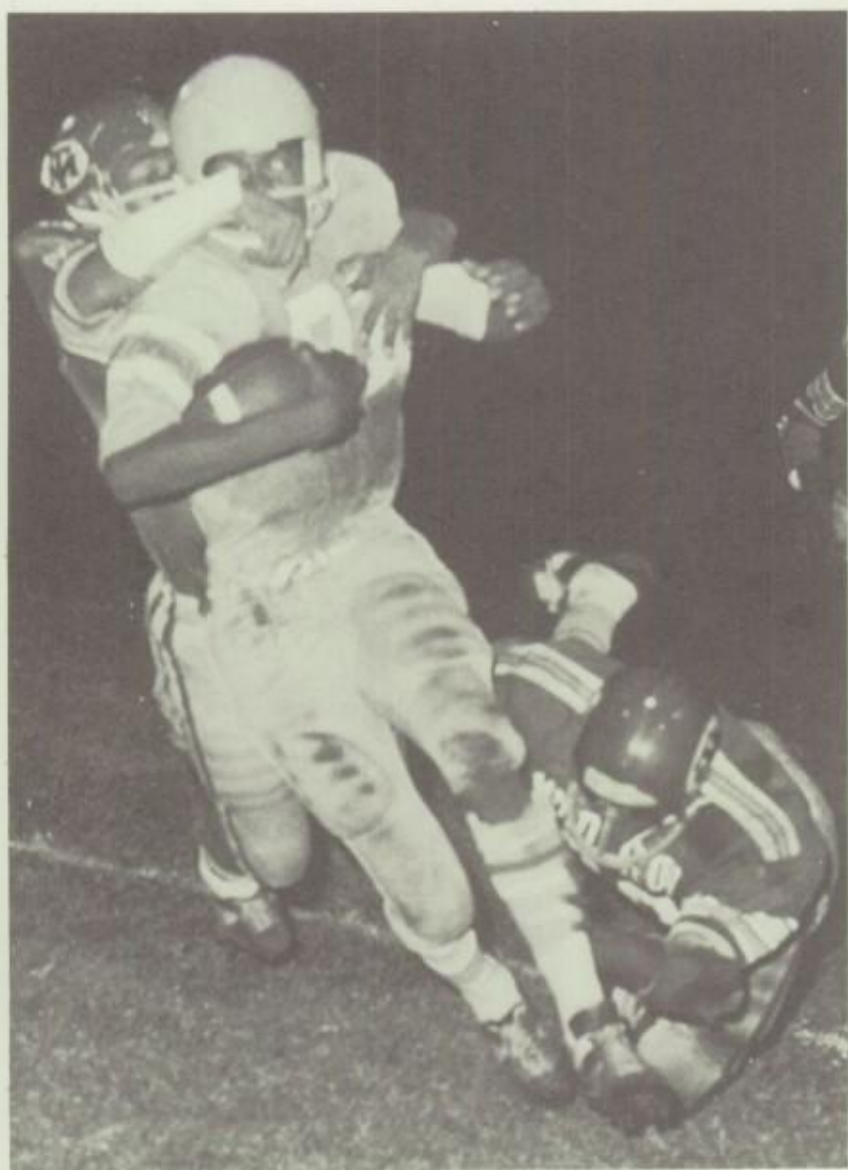

Chamberlain discovered the Lions a tough defense to run against.

Flanker Steve Vickers took an Andy LeHeup pass for a first down.

Tom Jackson's 30-yard field goal drew King within 8 points of Middleton.

Hammerlocked, Freeman Gallmon found real estate hard to come by.

Spring Practice Found Talent for 1970 Lions

For the ordinary enthusiast, a high school football season ends with the final whistle of a chilly November game. He puts his Pride hat into his closet and hangs his stadium seat in the utility room, where they collect dust until the breezy September evening when his team comes out of mothballs once again.

The player, however, is a slave to the game for eleven months out of the year. For the King Lions, preparation for that first September contest began in January of 1970.

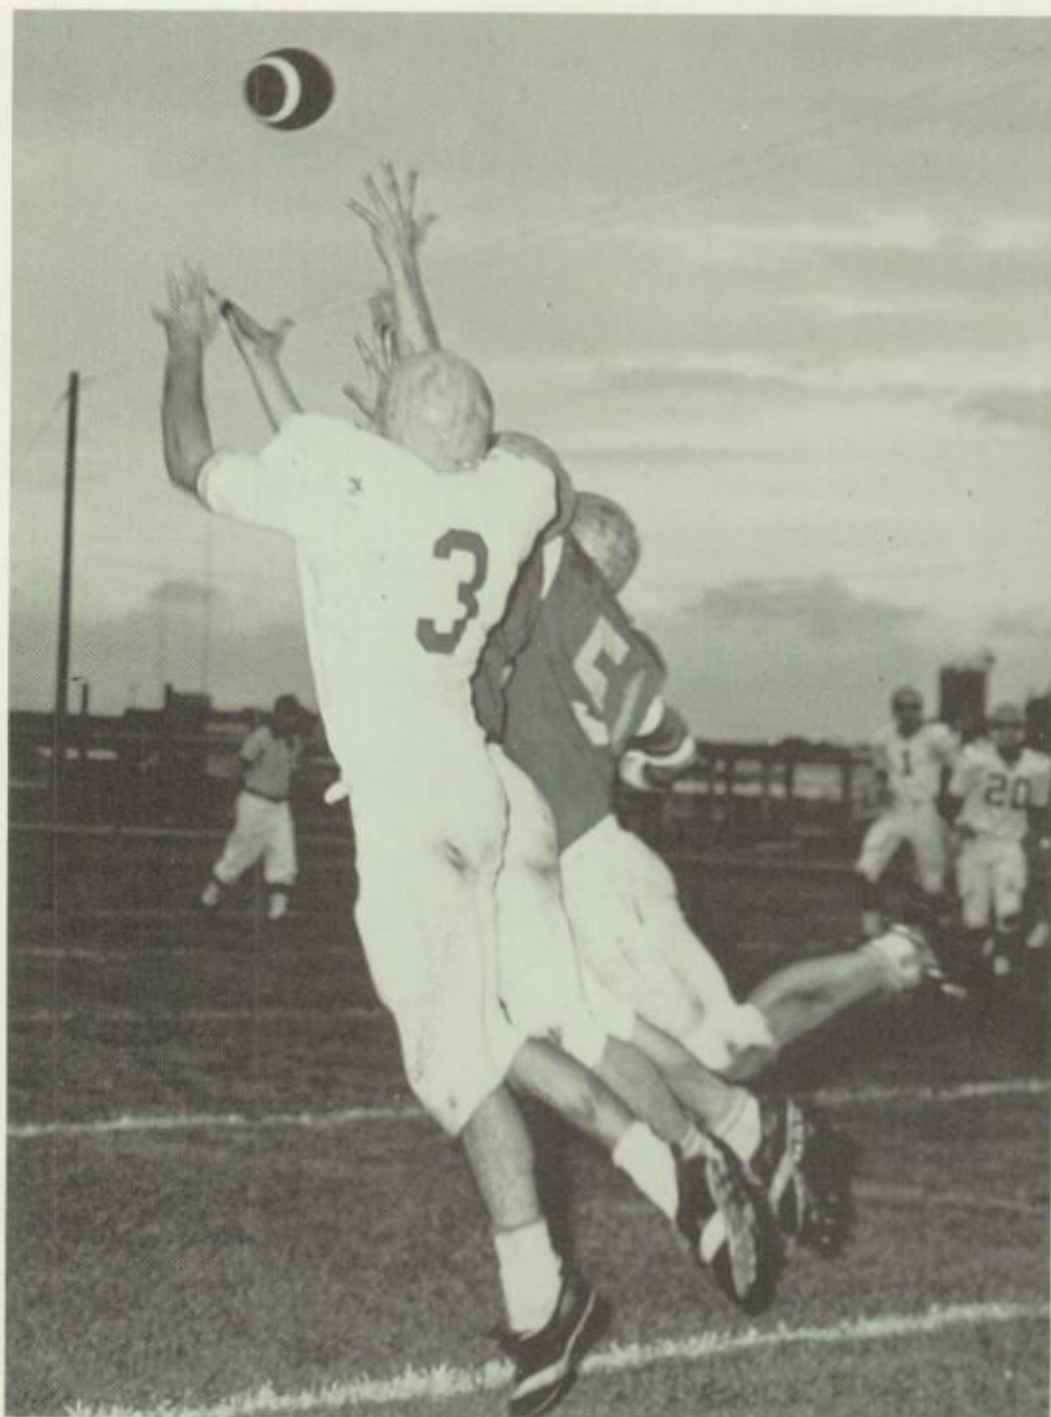

A rigorous physical training program filled the quiet days of February, March, and April. The Lions lifted weights on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, while Tuesdays and Thursdays were sacred for learning new plays.

In May, the Lions donned their pads for annual spring practice. Finishing touches were worked out on the field before the intra-squad game on the final day of the month.

The team was divided into two squads, the Red and the White.

The White seemed to have gotten the better of the deal as they defeated the Red soundly, 28-7.

Bill Fisher scored twice for the White while Freeman Gallmon and Doug Cureton added one Six-pointer each. Fred LeHeup tallied the only Red score.

Doug Cureton fought defenders for a pass.

Steve Vickers eluded the grasp of a White tackler for a long gain.

Knights, Eagles Sent Lions to Early Losses

Robinson and Brandon sent the Lions to two opening game losses. The first was to the Knights, 32-20, and the second to the Eagles, 14-0.

Robinson staged a remarkable rally in the second half of the contest, scoring 20 points in the third quarter. Earlier, King had led 14-6 on touchdowns by Doug Cureton and extra-points by Tom Jackson.

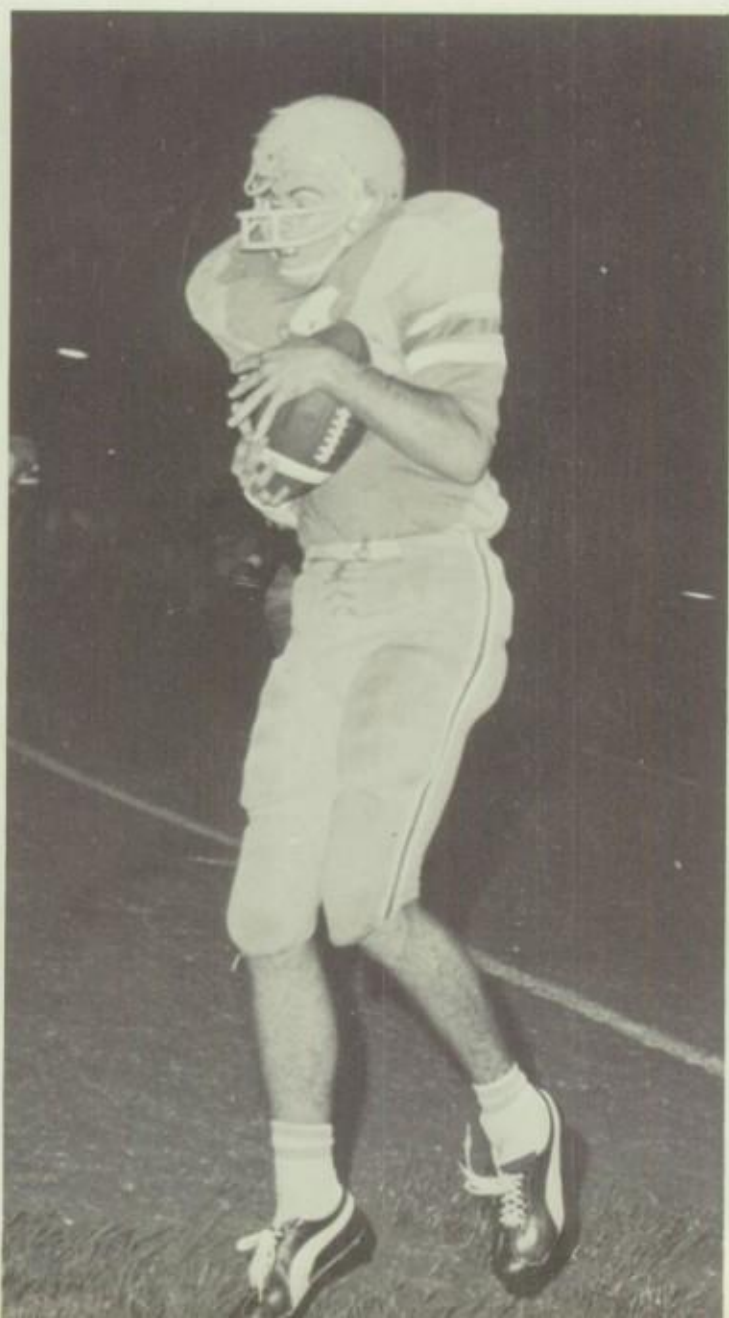

All-Conference choice Morris LaGrand found running tough against the tough Lion front wall. He left the game in the third quarter with an injury.

A steady drizzle marred King's home-opener with Brandon. It virtually stopped the passing game that had worked so well against Robinson as the boys from the country shipped the Lions, 14-0.

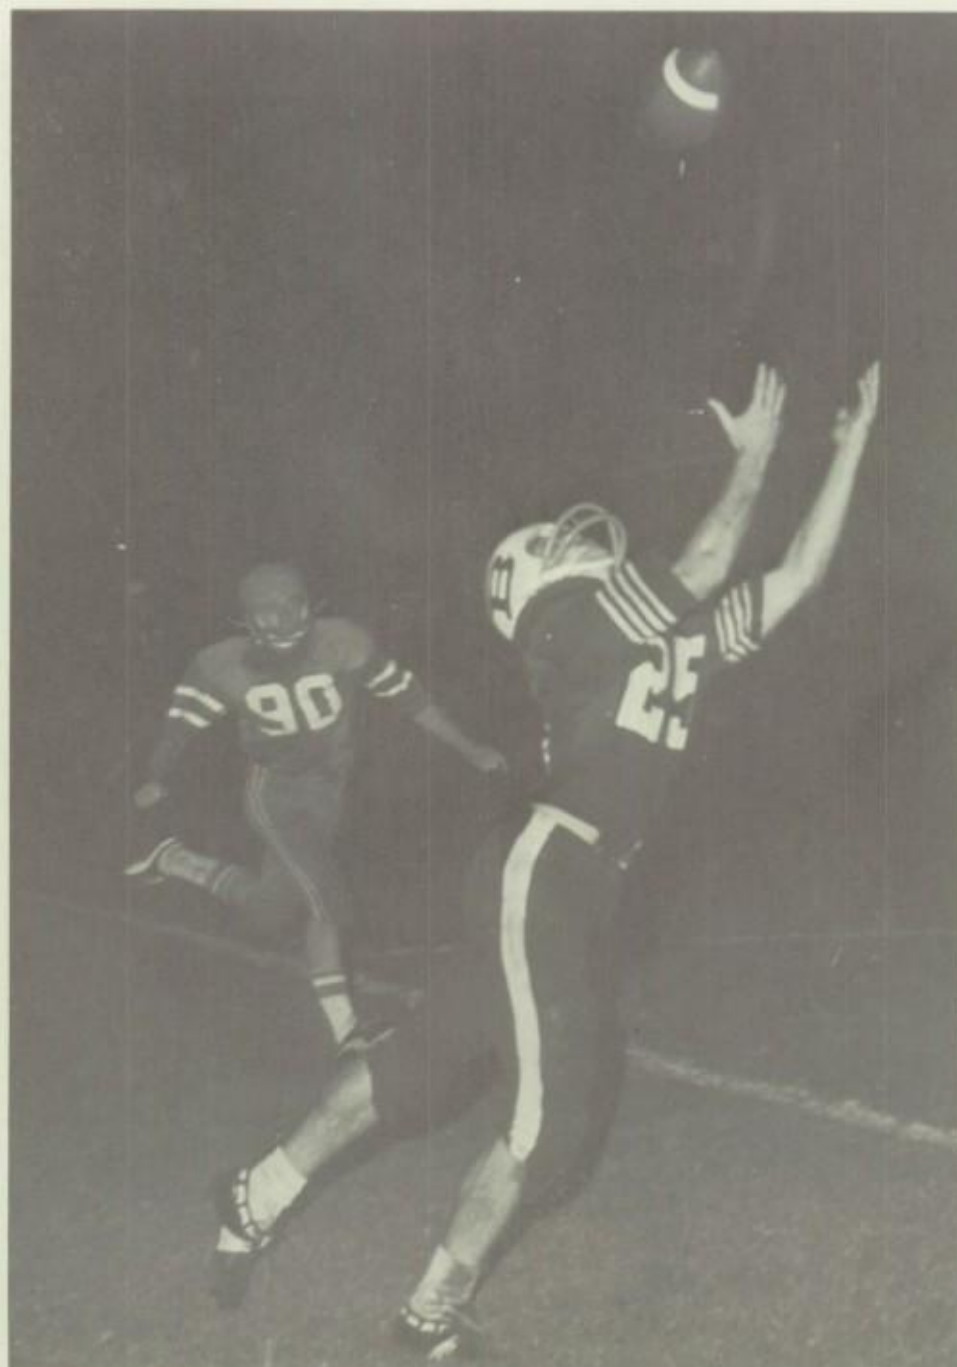

Brandon unleashed a powerful rushing attack that netted 140 yards in the first half alone, while King was held to minus seven.

The first half held all the scoring action, with two long runs by Lane Exum and John Raburn leading to the two Eagle scores. Exum booted both extra-points.

King managed only 71 yards passing, as Andy LeHeup connected with receivers only five of twenty-eight times.

Freeman Gallmon made the grab with a Knight on his back.

Eagle Johnny Raburn found Jeff Gibson in pursuit.

Doug Cureton snatched a Leheup pass in Robinson encounter.

Doug Cureton staved off the pass rush for Steve Vickers as he hurled against Hillsborough.

Defeats Handicapped Lion Twenty-Two

King continued to flounder in the Western Conference cellar as the Lions dropped two more. The first to take home a victory was Hillsborough. They put it all together against the Big Blue with a 30-13 win. Actually, the game was closer than the score indicated. The Terriers came up with the big play when they were down, which proved to be the difference. Twice, with third and long situations, the vicious Big Red backs knifed through King's defensive line, only to be dragged down by junior halfback Stacy Stevens. Unfortunately, the damage was done by then.

Andy LeHeup missed the game due to illness, and sub Steve Vickers switched from his split end position to quarterback. He handled himself well, taking the Lions into scoring position five times more than the total showed. The "junior wonder" passed for over 200 yards in his signal-calling role.

The rain continued to fall on Lion misfortunes, as King received an 18-0 drubbing at the hands of the undefeated Blake Yellowjackets. Playing in a down-pour with visibility a little more than thirty-feet, both teams floundered in near ineptness.

After receiving the opening kick-off, the Lions found themselves trapped inside the fifteen. A poor punt splashed in King territory. Blake was not able to score but the Lions could not generate an offense either, and stayed trapped in the shadow of their goalposts all evening.

Crusaders: First Win Panthers: Fifth Loss

The Lions finally put it together, although only momentarily, in the fourth quarter against Tampa Catholic, for a tight 14-13 win.

Tampa Catholic took a 7-0 lead when Pat Booth took a Mike Kroll pass for a 64-yard T.D. Two plays later Phil McNiff snatched a pass from the reeling King offense, and outraced the backfield for a 25-yard score. A run for two failed.

King stormed back for two scores in the final period. Jim Congelio grabbed a 17-yard pass from Andy LeHeup for a touchdown. Later LeHeup rounded right end for an eleven-yard touchdown. Tom Jackson booted both crucial extra-points for the Lion victory.

Plant left King with its fifth loss and its fourth straight homecoming disaster. The Panthers put it to King with a bruising ground attack that netted 157-yards.

Leading the rushers was Nate DeLisi who rammed his way for 117 yards on 18 carries. He also added a touchdown in the 24-12 Plant win.

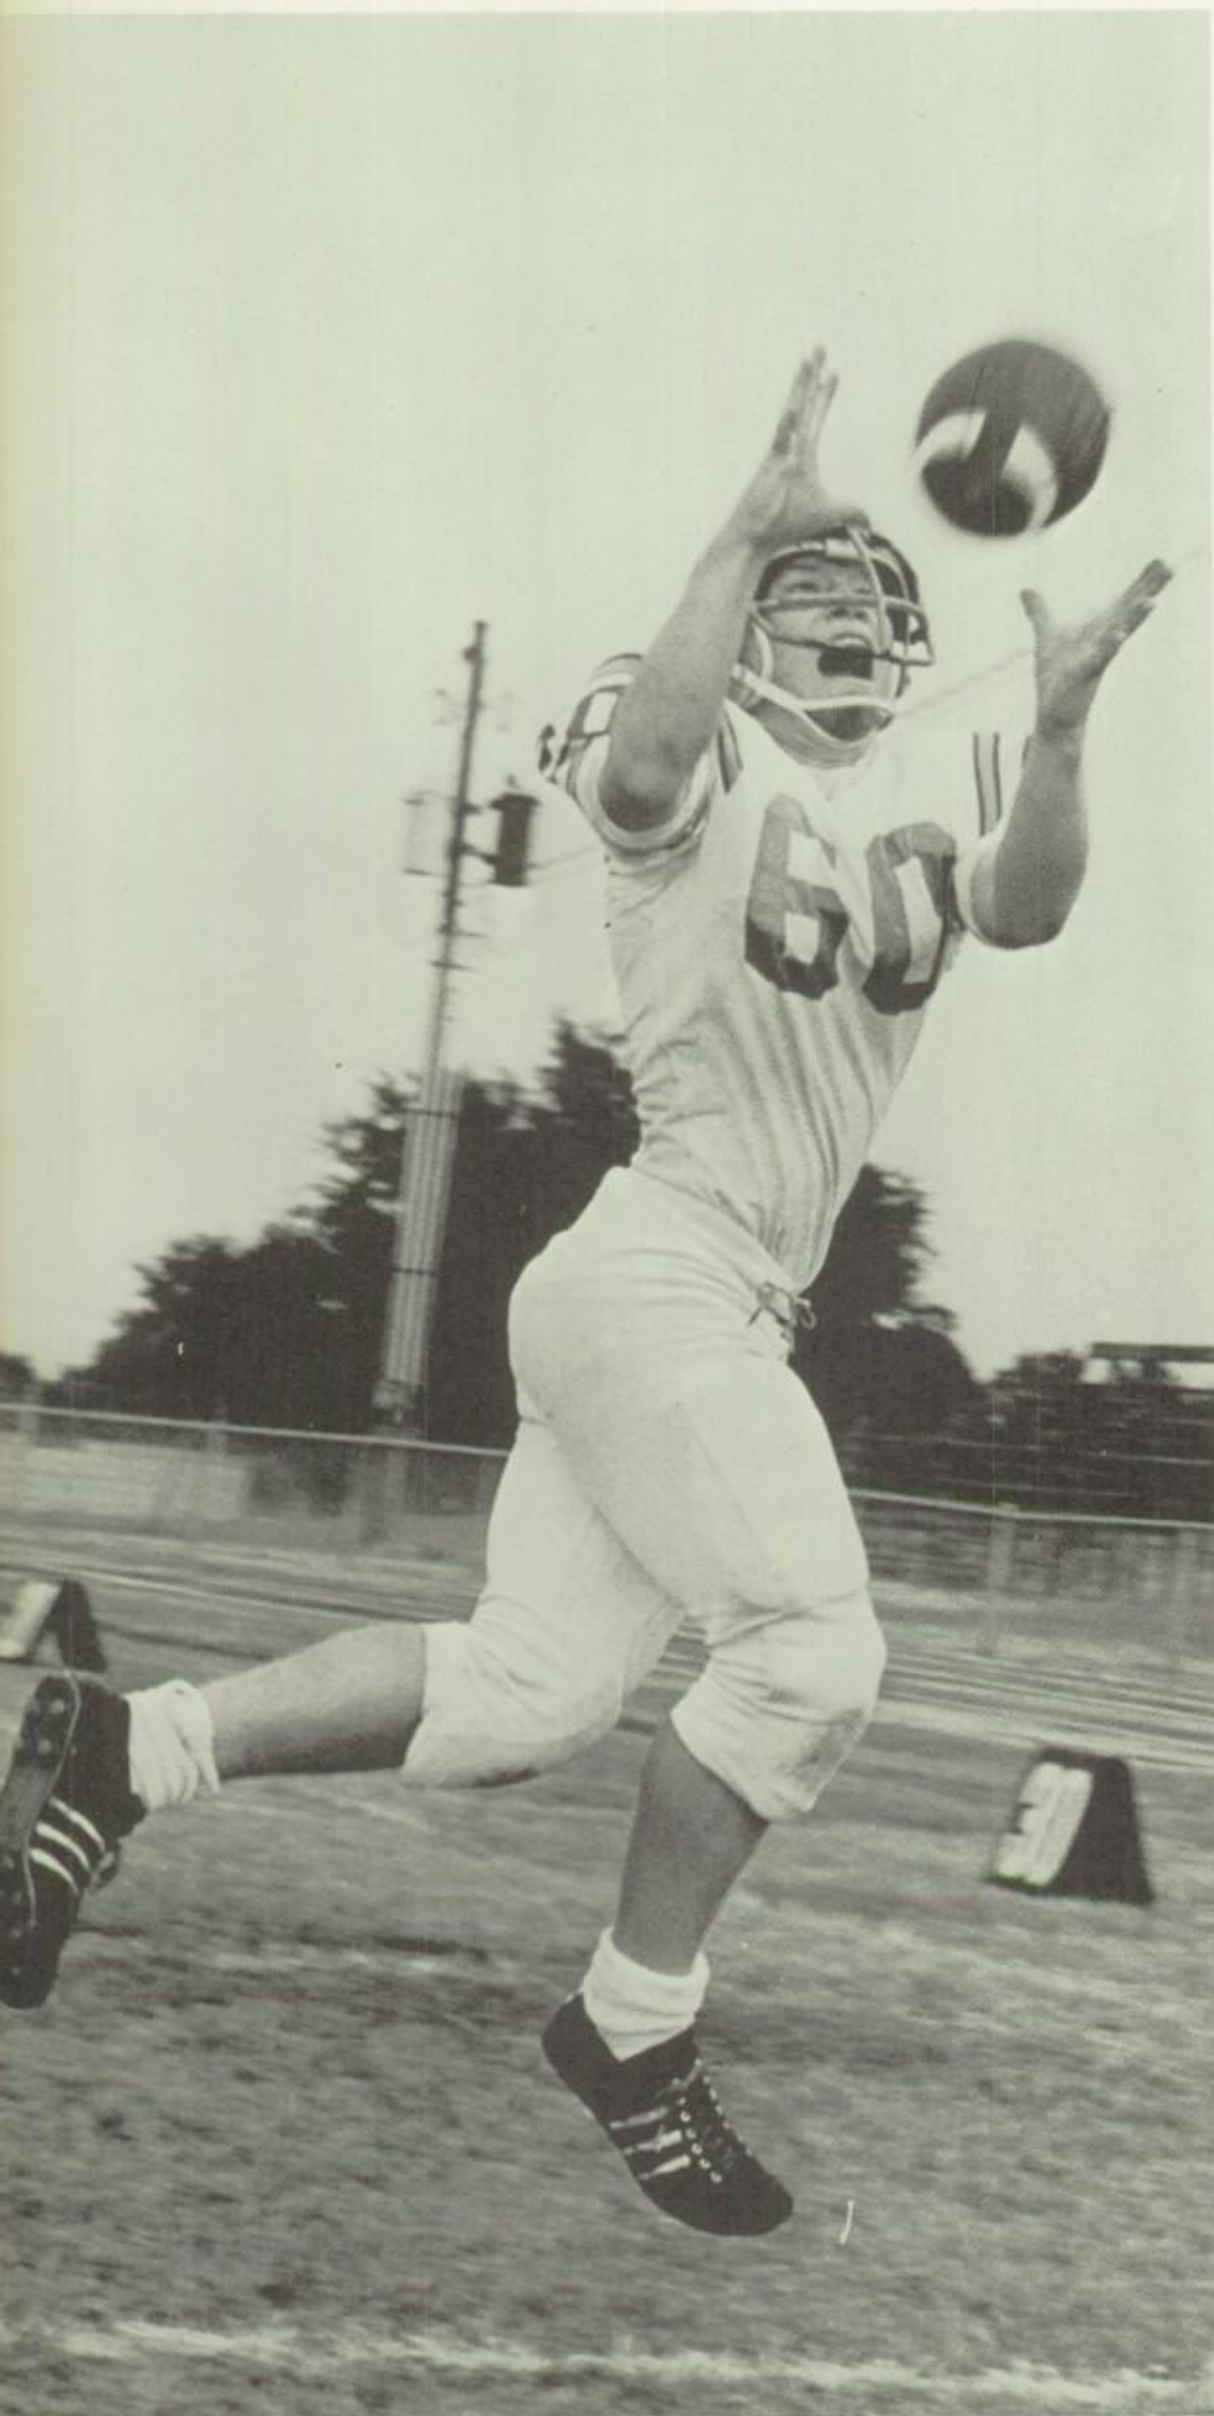

The King passing attack proved inept against Panther defenders, as LeHeup connected on only nine of thirty-four passes. Four were intercepted, two by Bruce Ely.

Fred LeHeup warded off tacklers after stealing a Crusader pass.

Rolling over Plant defenders, Doug Cureton struggled to the Panther forty-yardline.

Dennis Russ showed the form that aided his selection as a co-captain at linebacker.

6-1-1 JV Lions Gained Half Conference Title

King's Baby Lions posted a record 6-1-1 season to tie for first place in the Western Conference. The team sharing the other half was Robinson's Squires, who owned an identical record.

Pacing the junior varsity was quarterback Jimmy Fisher. Fisher tossed 16 touchdown passes and complemented that total with 12 two-point conversion passes, accounting for 120 points.

Chuck Cannon, a speedy split-end scored eleven times and added five two-point conversions. In close pursuit was Kever Raulerson with 64 points.

A tough defense provided two shutouts and held five teams to less than fifteen points. It gave up an average of only ten-points-per-game, while the offense was scoring at a 26.5 clip.

Ricky Lee, Bruce Sizemore, and Bud Merrell led the defensive secondary with three interceptions each. Merrell ran one of his back for six points against Plant City.

The defensive line was led by Dave Kennedy and was backed up by linebackers Micky Earle and co-captain Dennis Russ. Kennedy realized the "line-man's dream" when he recovered a fumble in the end-zone for a T.D. against Plant.

With winning already a part of their tradition, twenty-five of the super sophs joined the varsity for the final two games of the season. The upperclassmen won both, 36-14 over Leto, and 34-7 over Chamberlain.

Kever Raulerson sprinted for daylight and six points.

King Quint Made Costly Mistakes, Dropping Six

How long does it take a new coach to put together a basketball team made up of nearly all inexperienced players? For the King Lion roundballers it took just about six games, as the squad dropped its first six encounters, before whipping Plant City.

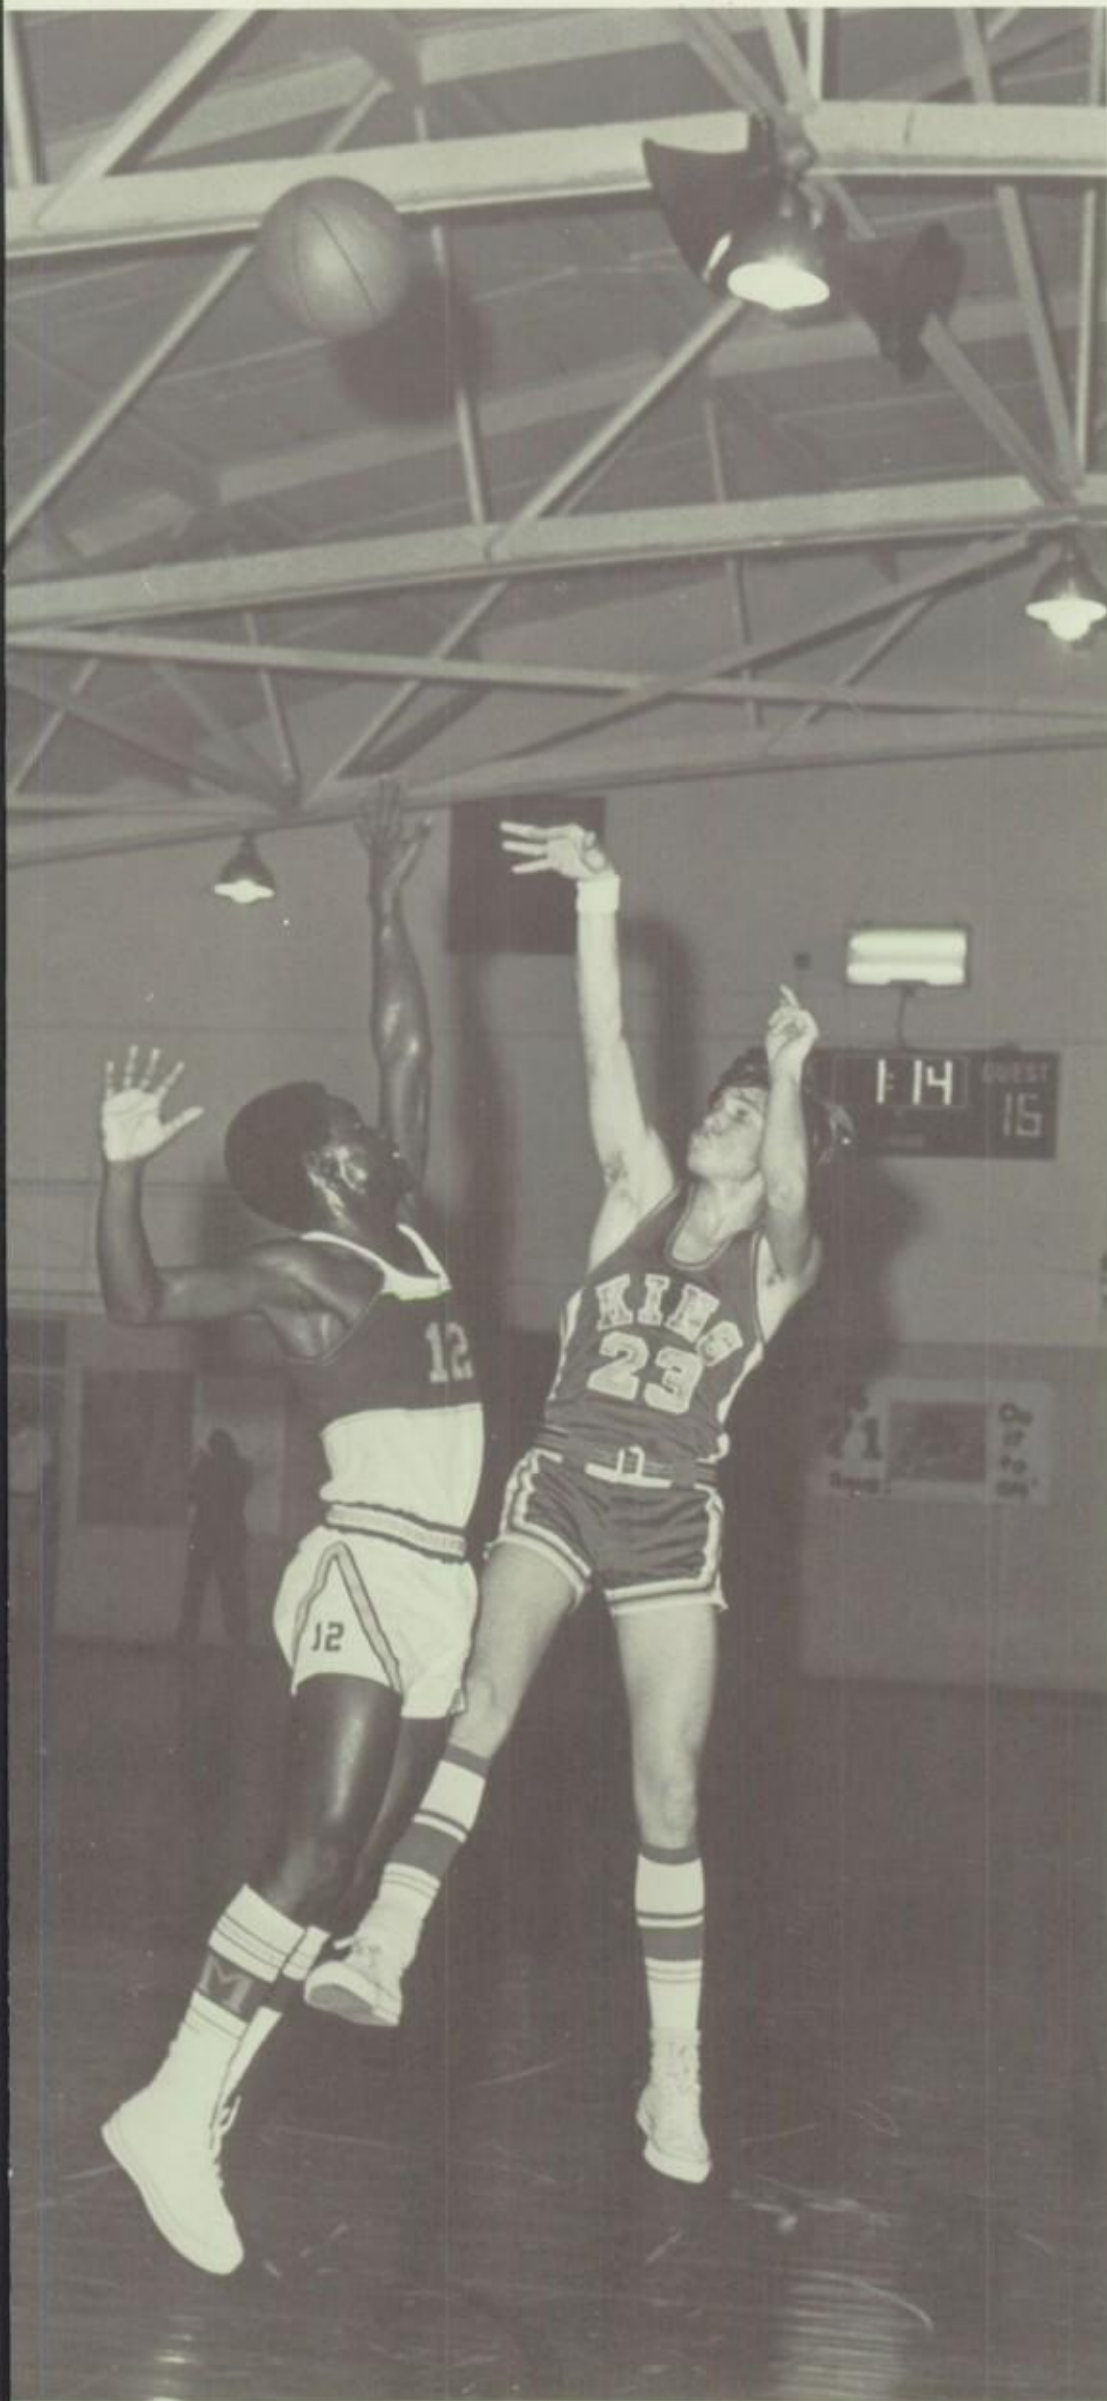

The Lions lost their opener to one of the pre-season favorites, Robinson. The Plant Panthers topped King for their second loss before Middleton rapped the young pride behind Andy Frazier. Chamberlain broke the century mark on King the Tuesday before Jesuit caged the Lions. The Chiefs then toppled the Lion hopes in the first-annual Western Conference tournament.

Then, entering the new year, King roared past Plant City's Planters 47-39. Joe Carter led the charge, scoring 15 points.

A new trend had started and it continued at the Blake gym as the Lion quint surprised the Yellow Jackets 76-75. Billy Harrison was the big gun with a 26-point performance. Carter, Tommie Johnson, and Tommy Mikell all followed with 12 each.

Billy Harrison brought the ball down the court to a confident Herb Fluitt, who made a jump shot.

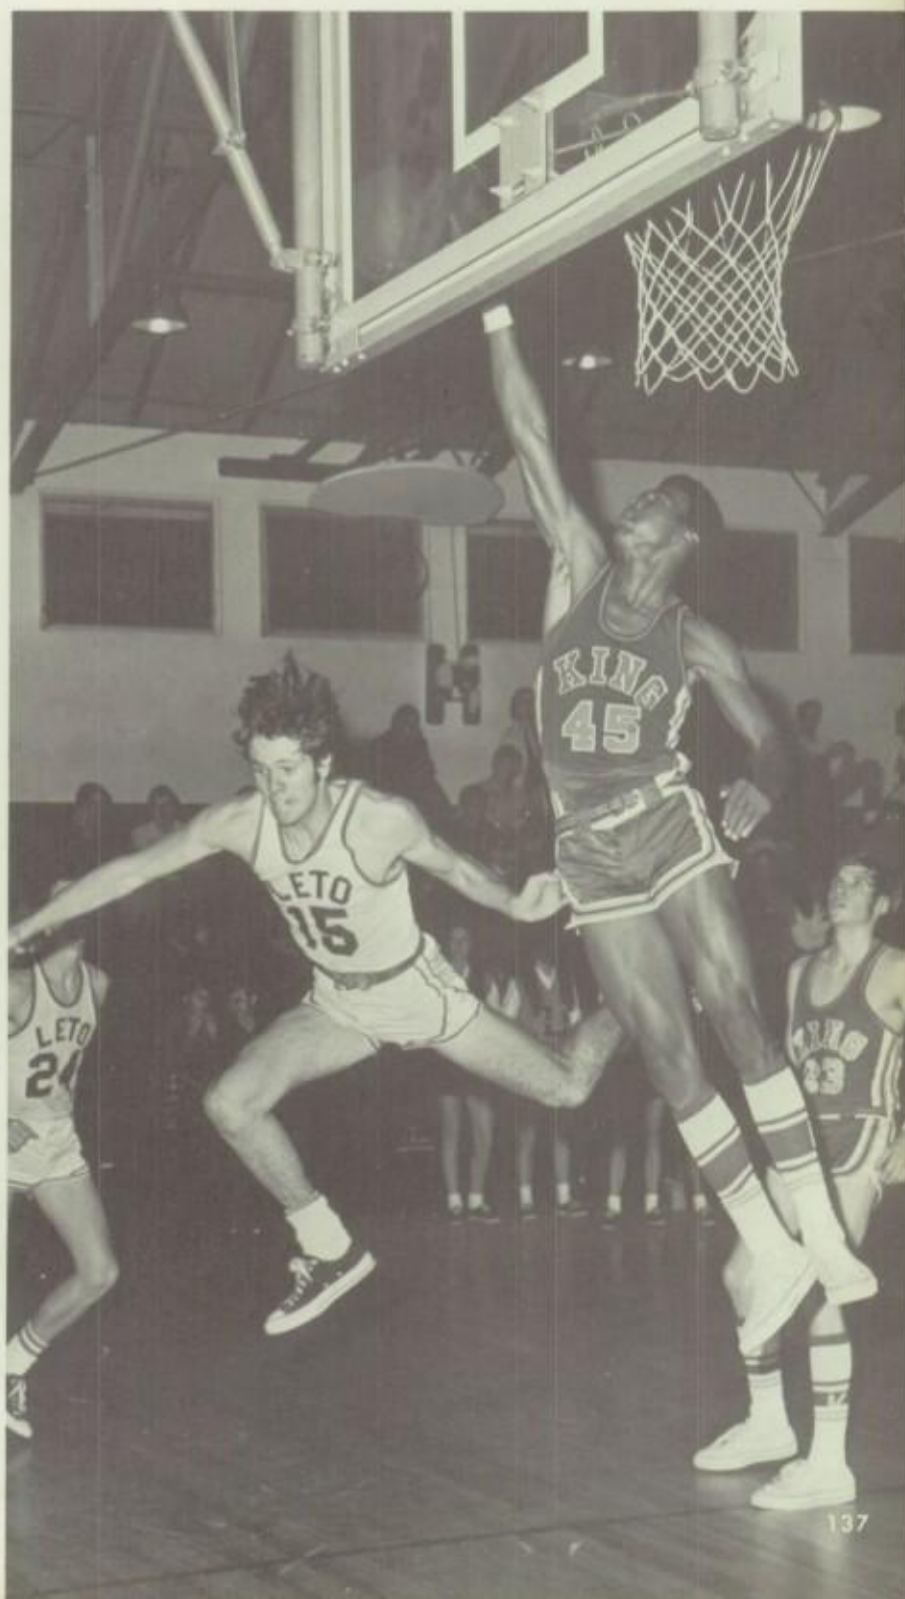

Joe Carter went for two against Florida's second best squad.

Faltering Lions Fell Into Eighth Place Tie

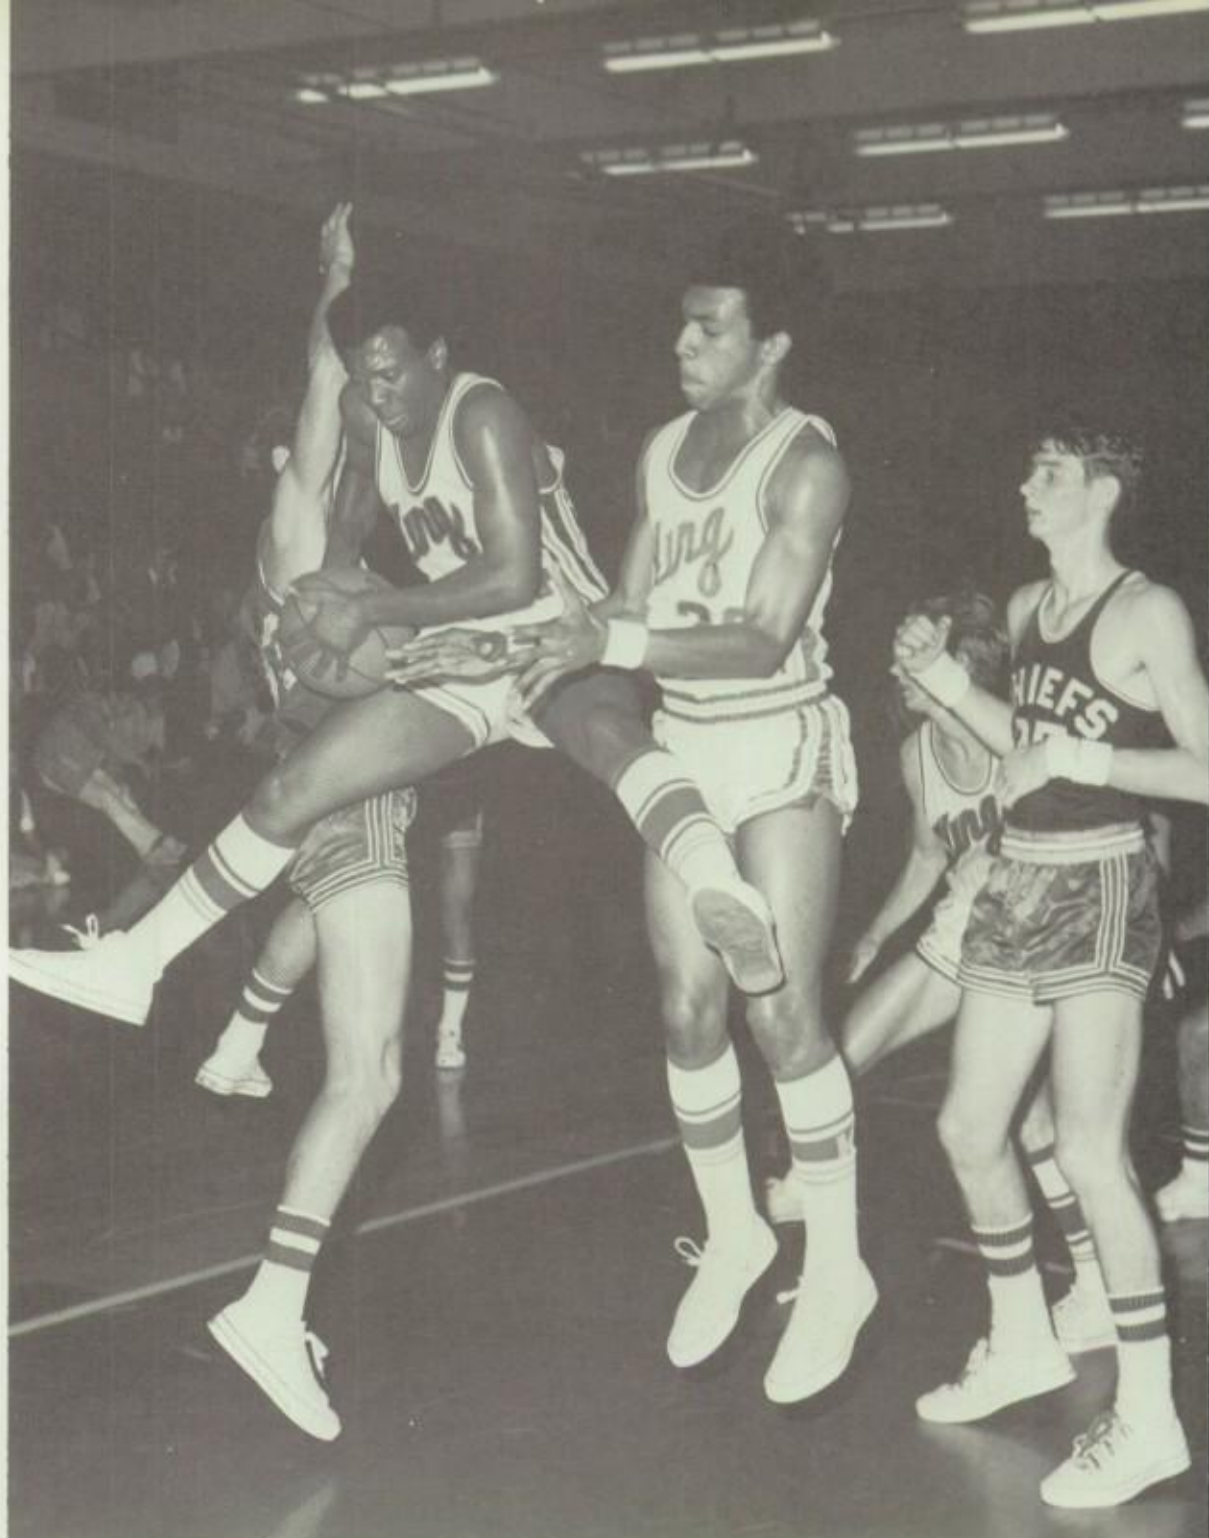

The Lion streak vanished, however, as Brandon's Eagles, led by Comer Copeland's 22 points, sank King's upset hopes, 76-56. Rebounding Tommie Johnson lifted the Lion quint to an 83-69 victory over Leto. Robinson and Hillsborough sent the Lions to successive setbacks before King whipped Tampa Catholic, 66-62. Two games and two losses later King again met the Crusaders. The Lion quint won again, this time more convincingly, 65-51. Hotshooting Doug Aplin and Vic Peterson combined for 47 points in the 79-50 Chamberlain win. Coupled with Leto's upset of Hillsborough, the Lions fell into a tie for eighth in the Western Conference. A win against the faltering Plant City Planters was a must to stay out of the cellar.

Another rebound by Tommy Johnson as a Falcon tried out his wings.

Individual Efforts Fell Short in Closing Duels

Tommy Mikell and Terry McLean fought Knight Frank Williams for the ball.

Plant City put Mary Help gym in cold storage to freeze out a 27-25 win. Tommie Johnson netted eight points for King.

Seeking to avenge the earlier loss, Blake's gruesome twosome of Robert Bell and Nate Bolden dominated the boards while combining for 39 points.

Johnson and Billy Harrison netted 18 and 17 points.

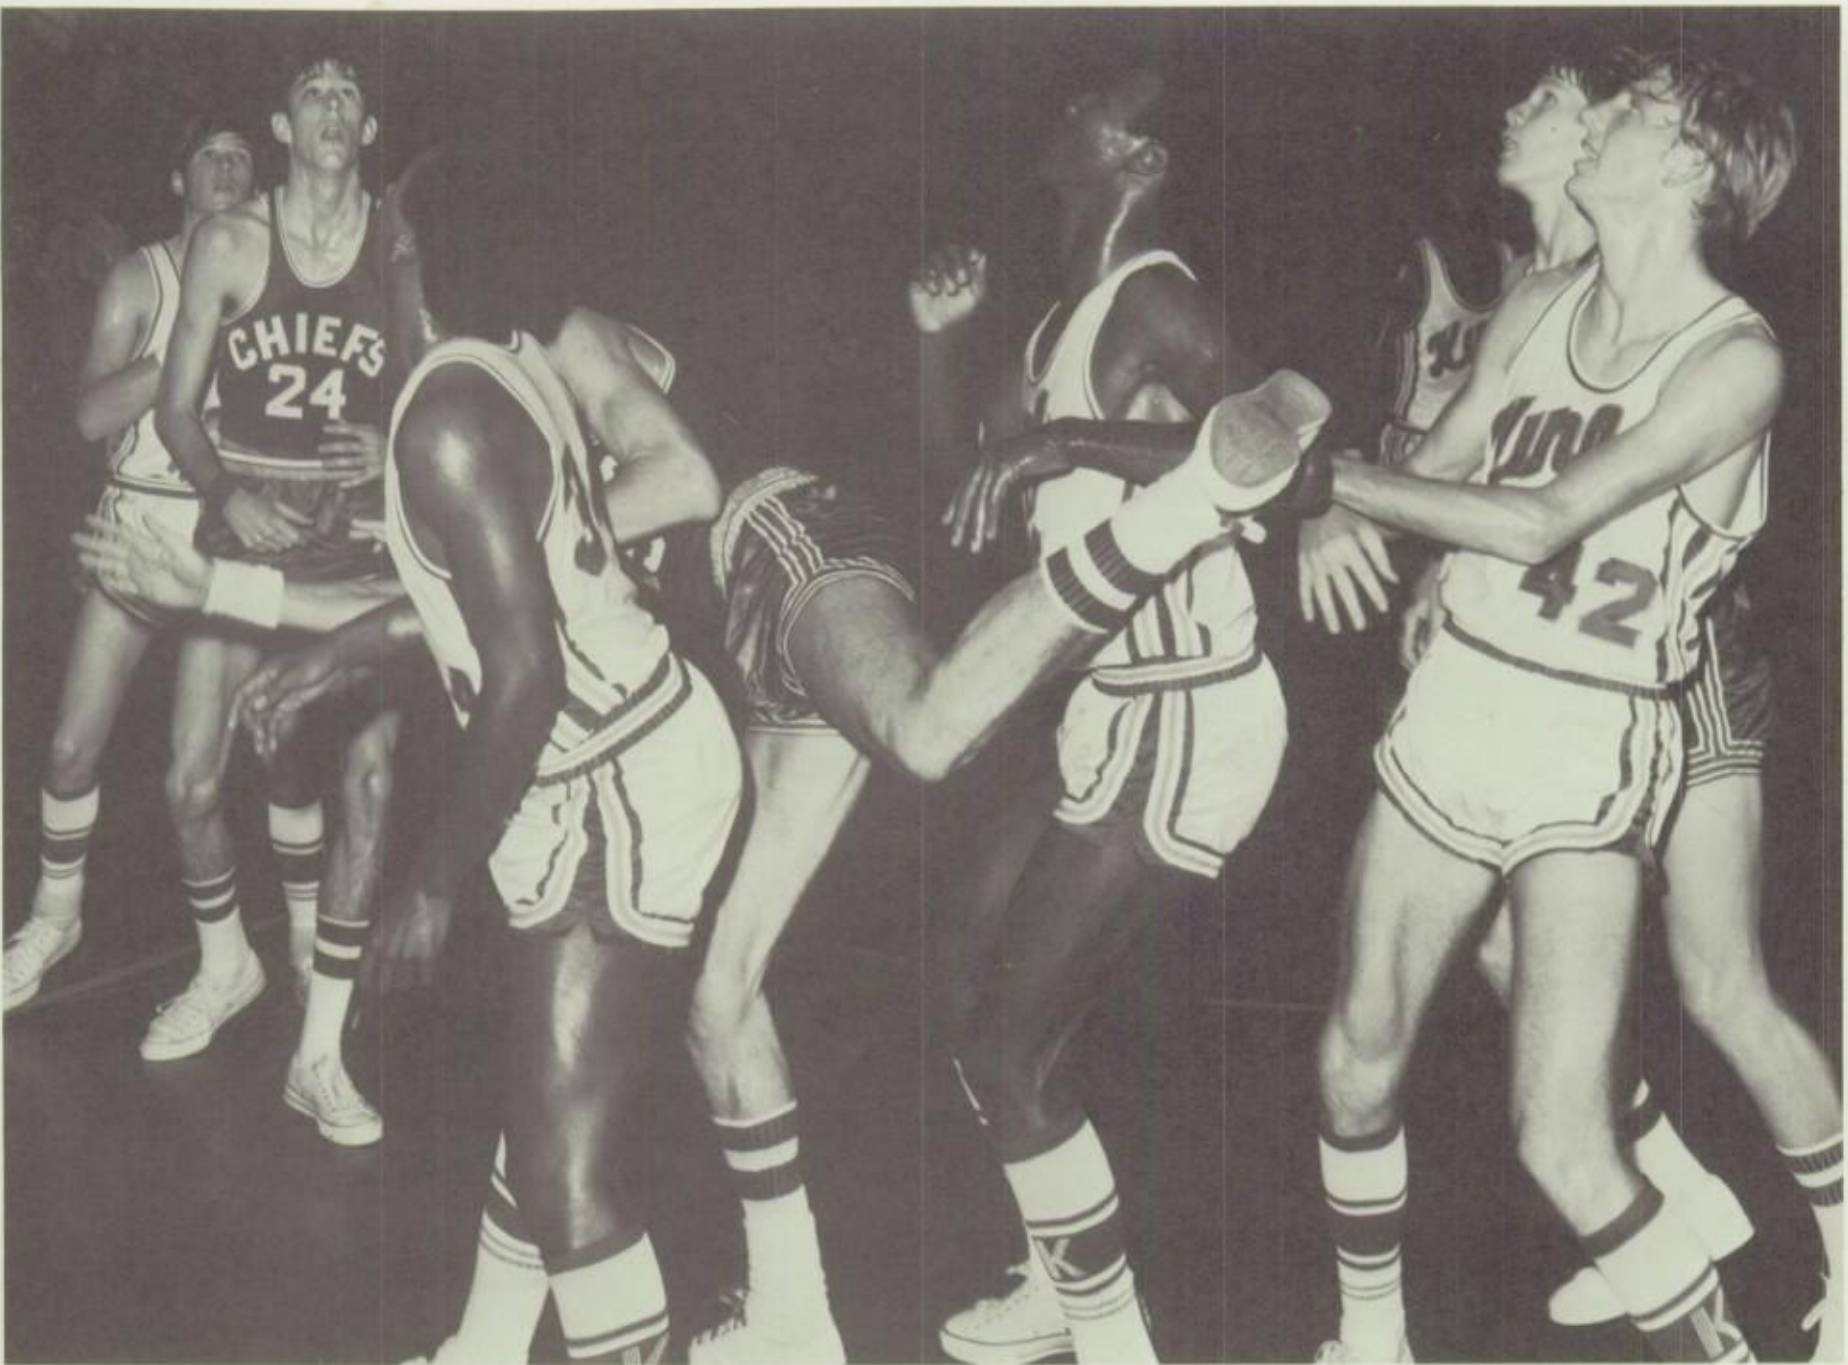

Brandon's David Rhodes and Co. broke open a close battle at Brandon in the second half for a 62-45 win. Tom Mikell dumped in 17 points.

Johnson was again high man when Jesuit dropped the Lions, 78-68. He had 27 points.

Leto squeezed out a 63-56 win although Joe Carter and Mikell scored 17 points each.

Hillsborough eked past King, 87-79 in a game that was decided in the last minute. Five Lions scored in double figures. They were Mikell (20), Johnson (17), Herb Fluitt and Carter (12) each, and Harrison (10).

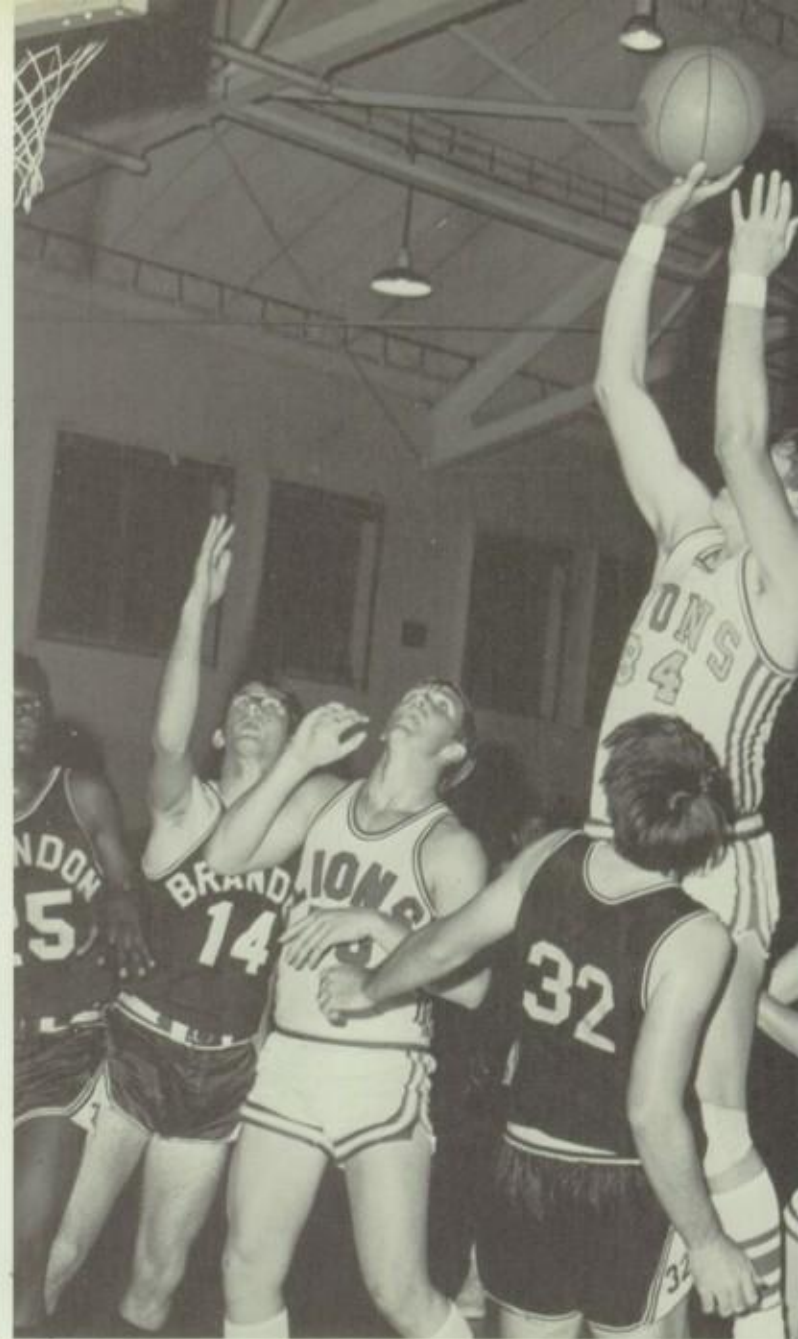

In district play, Chamberlain topped King, 74-70. A controversial foul against Mikell sent the Chiefs to a four-point lead with seconds left.

'Geezez,' stammered Tom Mikell, 'Johnson, did you ever see a center that big before?'

"Hey, fella, let go of me!" cried Tim Allen.

Dave Kennedy popped a short jump shot.

Defense-Minded Sophs Posted 13-Win Season

Coach Jim Vining continued educating King athletes in a new sophomore philosophy — winning. This time his target was the Baby Lion basketball team.

Using an eight-game win skein and five other scattered victories, the soph cagers posted a 13-9 record, one of the best season records ever.

Bud Merrill, who averaged 17.3 points per game, paced the soph attack. He was followed by Jimmy Fisher (10.4) and Billy McPhillips (10). All played football for Vining.

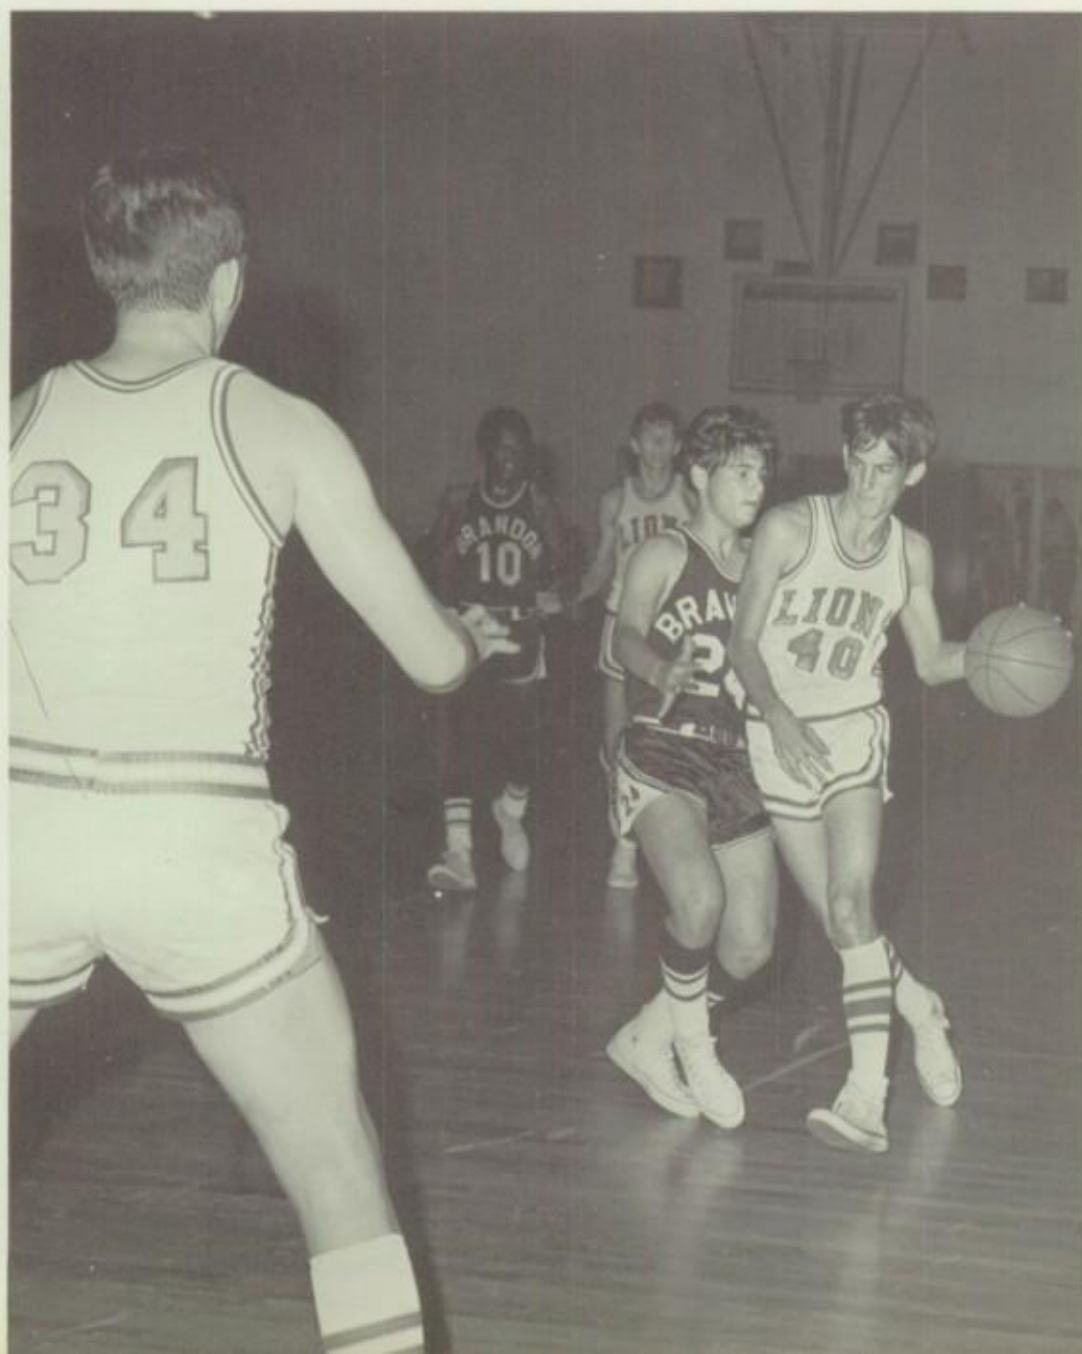

Tim Allen and Randy Tarter rounded out the tough starting five. Allen averaged 9.0 while Tarter, the team quarterback, scored at just over a five-point clip.

The win streak began when the Cubs topped Robinson, 50-46. Before it was over, Tampa Catholic, Plant, Middleton, Chamberlain, Plant City, and Blake fell.

Brandon ended the skein, tripping the Baby Lions, 60-57 in overtime. After that the sophs managed only one win in the last three games. That was a 75-74 dumping of Leto.

Grapplers Felt Press of Winless Year Pin

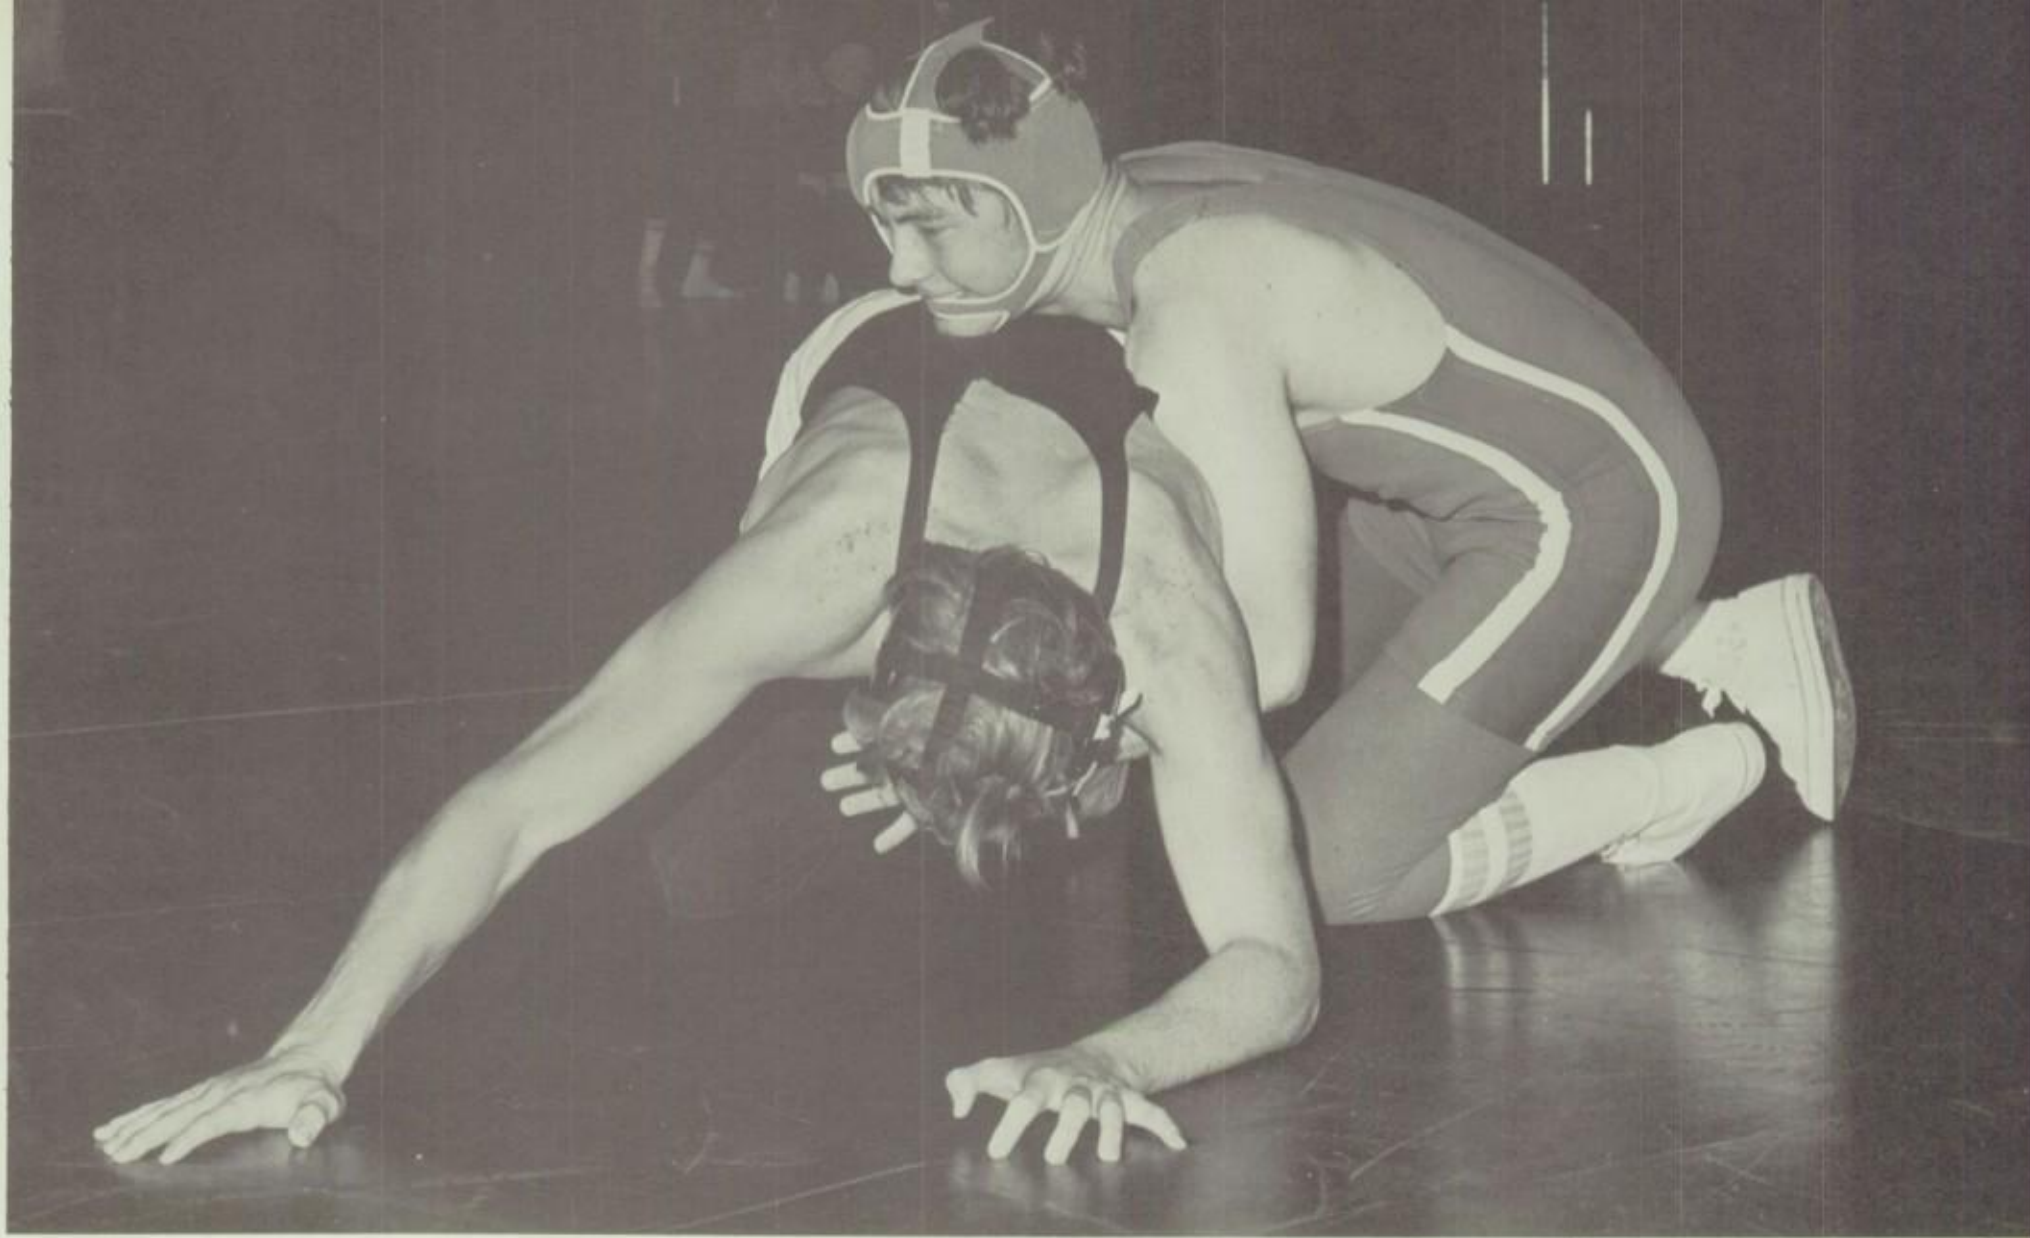

Out-manned and inexperienced they might have been, but the Superman-dressed Lion grapplers still stuck it out through what had to be a very depressing season. The matmen went through seven regular-season contests without a victory, while tying one match.

Several of the Lion wrestlers were inconsistent in their performances, but those same Lions had to be switched from different weight classes from week to week to fill gaps in the different weight-classes. Only two of the wrestlers won with any regularity at all. They were David Coutcher and Harrell Nunn. Of the lightweights, Larry Brubaker was the most consistent victor. Nunn took second in the district match held at USF and finished fifth in the state meet. Coutcher lost in the quarterfinals of the 132-pound class at district.

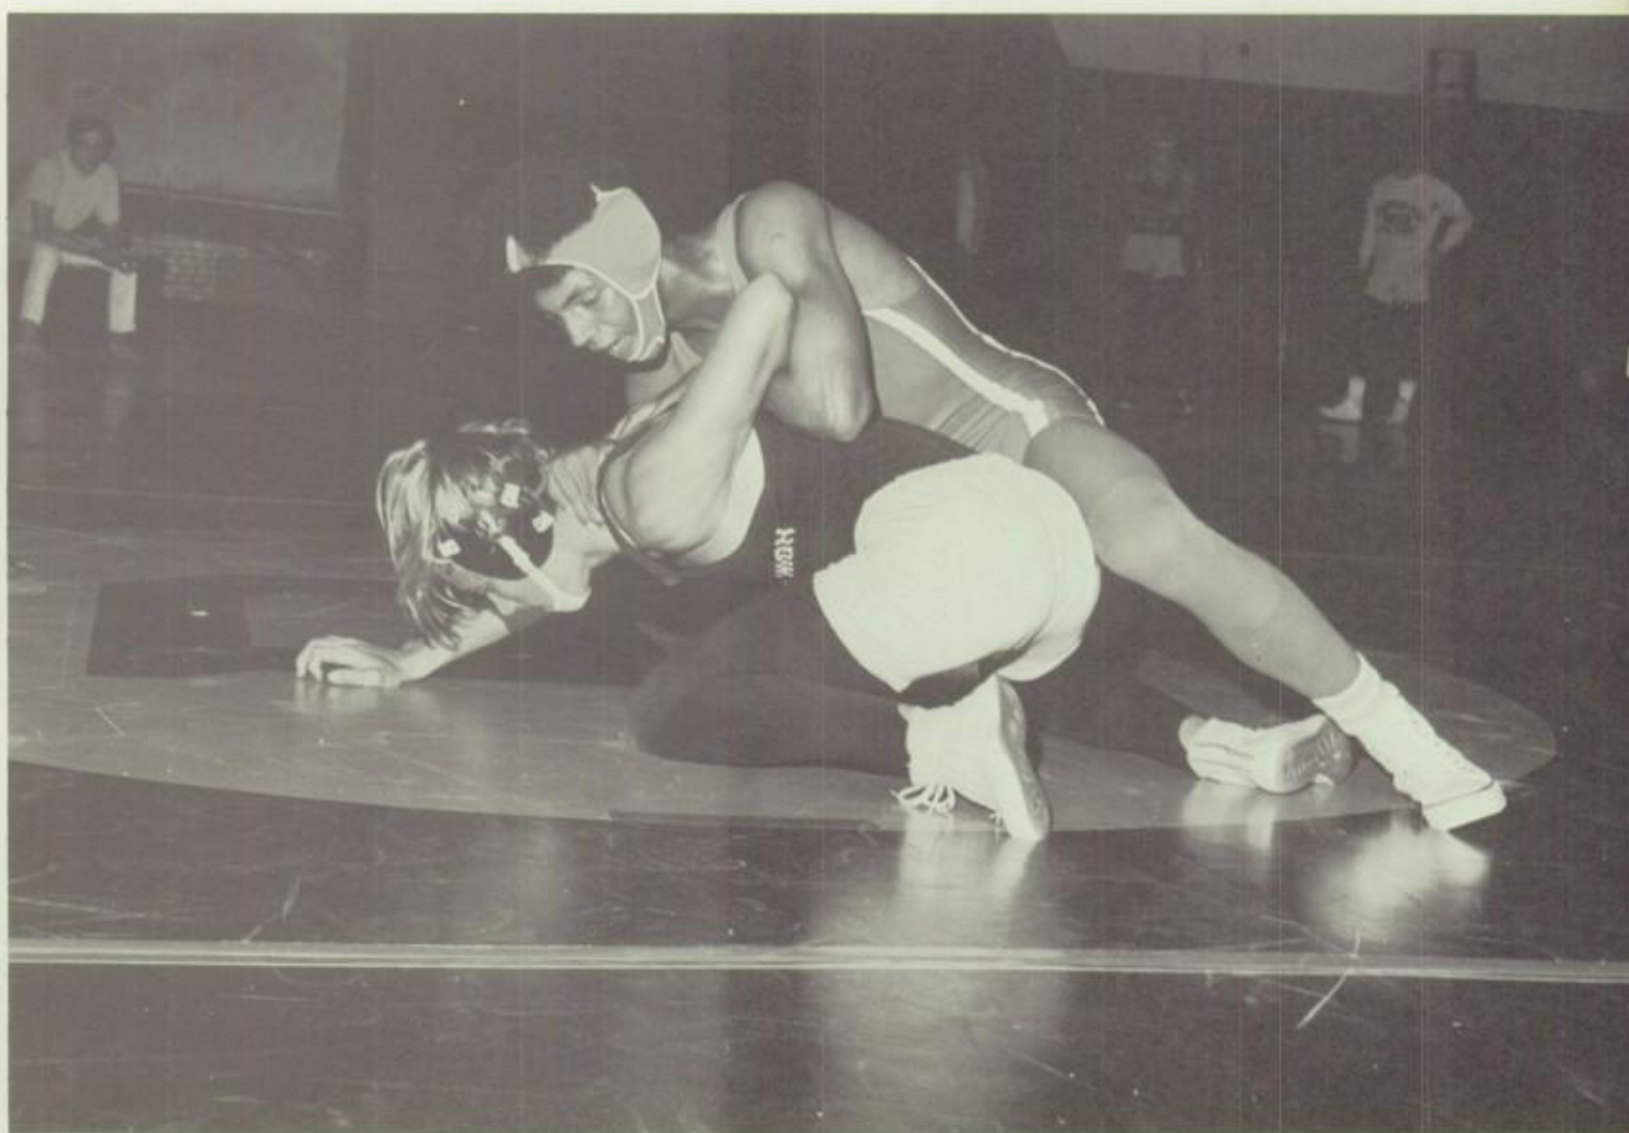

Coach Jim Riser had a tough time making the program go with only two-thirds of the classes filled in most of the contests.

Larry Brubaker attempted to turn his Knight opponent.

Jimmy Nunn broke his Robinson opponent down, but before it was over the tables turned on him. He had a bad Knight.

Not everything was light for Robinson, though. Ronnie Morris showed the dark side of things when he "chicken-winged" his foe.

Mark Williams was caught by the camera just before releasing the discus.

Lion Cindermen Lacked Important Experience

King's track team faced a serious rebuilding year in 1971. Only a few seniors with any experience returned from the previous years.

Seniors Alan Johnson, Doug Cureton, and Ken Barber were the most outstanding of the sprinters. Johnson, according to White the "most dedicated" of the team, ran the 220- and the 100-yard dashes. Cureton, acclaimed as the best 440-yard man in the county, set a record at the Jesuit Invitational with a 2:06.4 in his specialty. Barber was the best distance runner. His best time in the mile was 4:52, and in the two-mile, 10:45.

Field events, a sore spot in the King track program in past years, got a shot in the arm from the underclassmen.

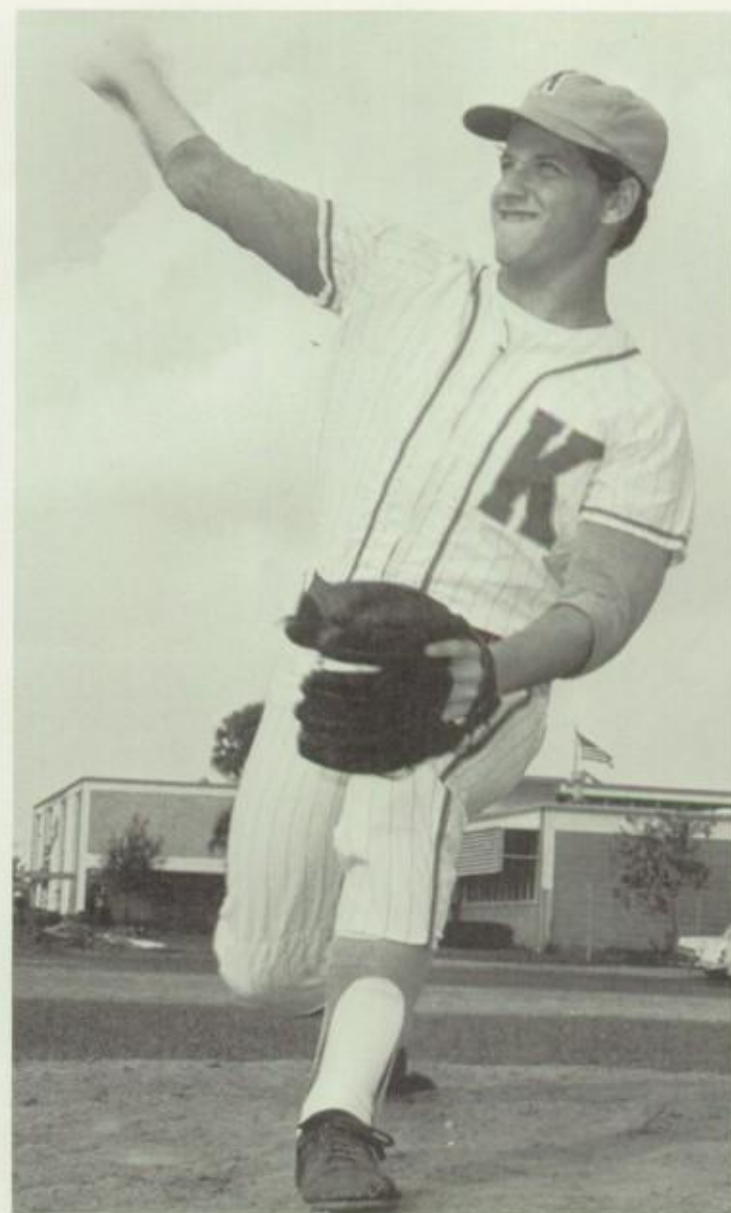

Cureton! You sprinters gotta put a little soul in your runnin'!"

Andy LeHeup's stretch pegged the runner at first base.

The wind up — the pitch — POW!

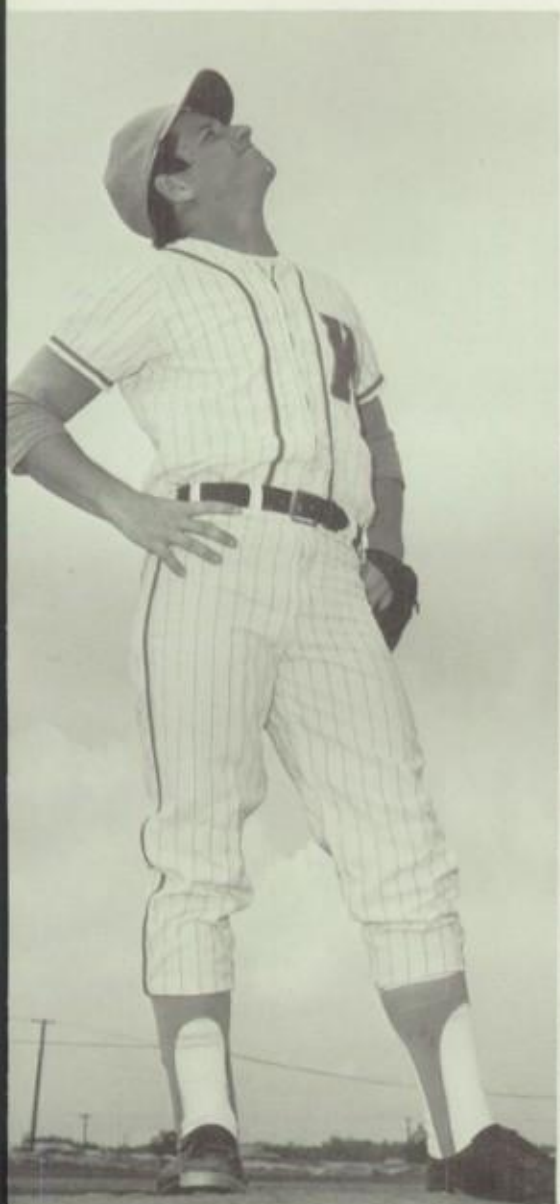

Inconsistency Plagued Lions in So-So Year

Someone should have told the King baseball team that 1971 was supposed to be the year to "get it together." The Lions failed to cooperate, with a fine defense taking the spotlight over a slumbering offense. In their first nine games the Lions dropped three of four losses by two runs or less. One of those losses was a 1-0 shutout at the hands of Kathleen.

Pitcher David Rhodes was the most consistent victim of King's inability to score. He allowed only seven runs in 35 innings for a fine 1.4 ERA, but still had to settle for a 2-3 record.

Defensively, the Lions had catcher Robbie Waller and first baseman Tommy Guess to be proud of. Juniors Steve Vickers, in the outfield, and George Cort, at second base, played well.

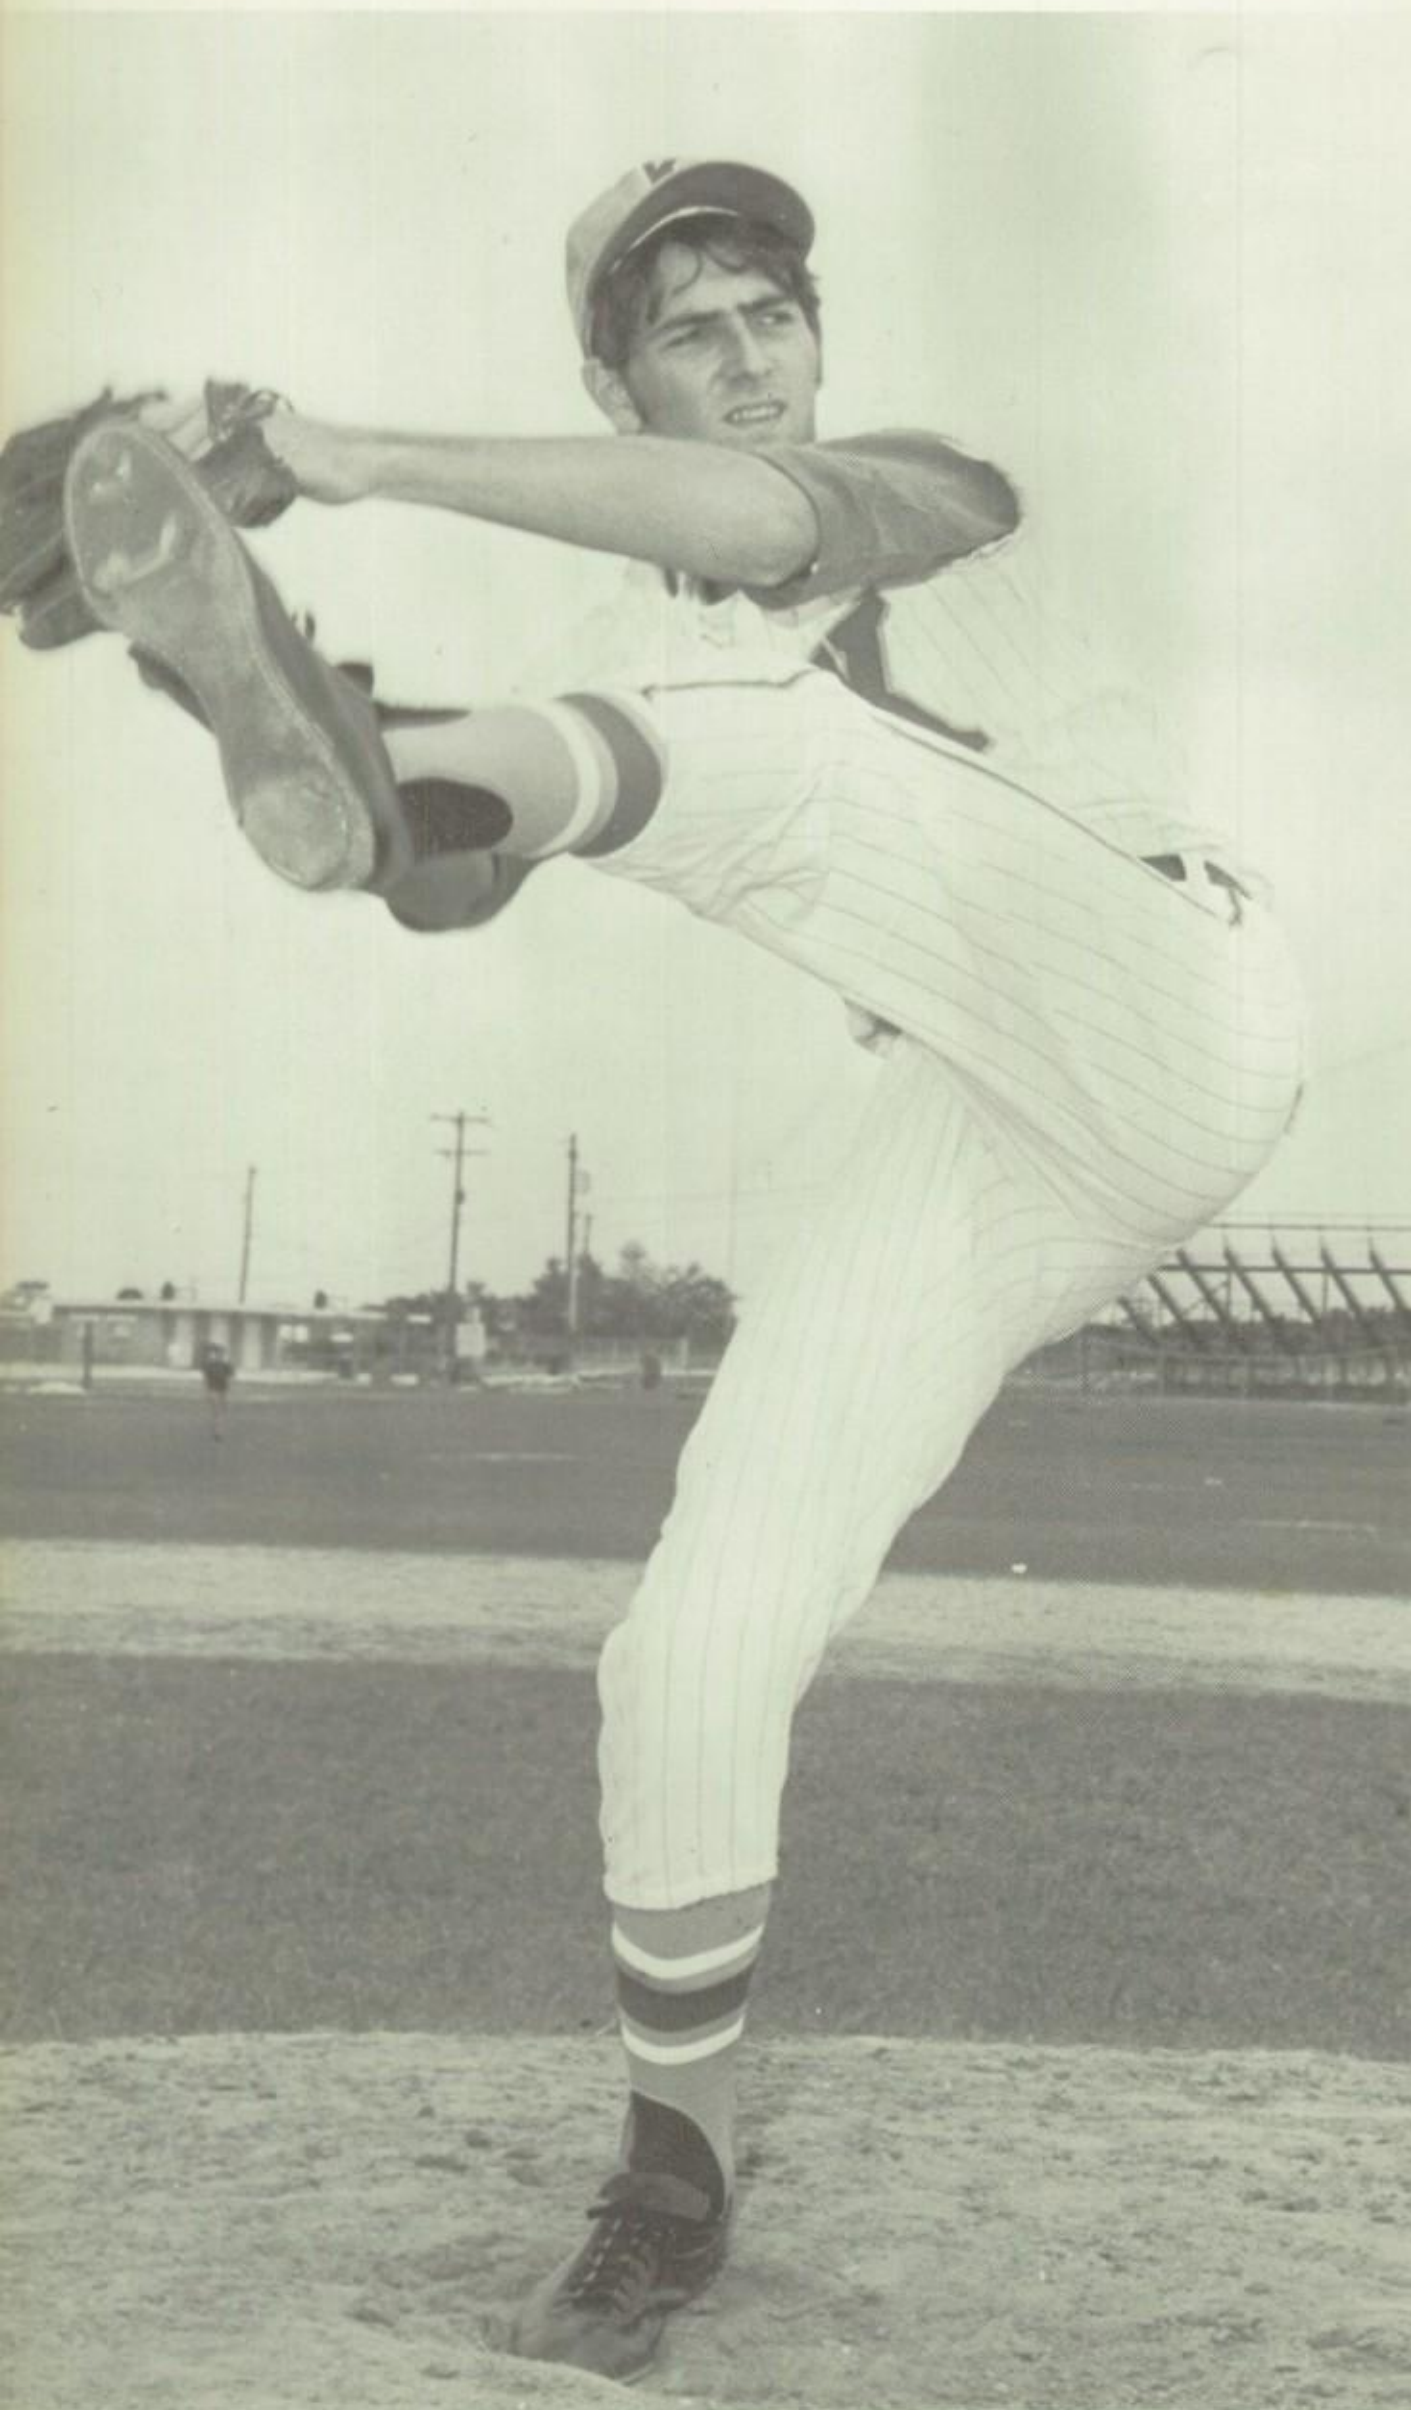

There were a few consistent hitters dotting the King line-up, with South Carolina-bound Andy LeHeup showing the most power. He homered twice in the first nine contests. Guess and Cort kissed one each in the same number of games. Raymond Hernandez owned a fine batting average.

It's a deep drive to right — and you can tell that one good-bye! "Go take a shower, David."

Spring sports highlighted the 1971 athletic year, and one of the best areas for King was the two swim teams. The boys had a fine record behind lettermen Chuck and Mike Sheffield, Larry Weyand, Don Rooks, Barry Sharpe, Steve Williams, and Doug Carrol, proving that they were a power to be reckoned with in county battles.

The girls, although far better-looking, found the road to victory a tougher one than did the guys. The only two girls that returned with much experience were Janice Green and Patty Pantley.

Sophomore Billy McPhillips proved to be one of the better underclassmen, turning low times for the 200-yard freestyle. His best was a near-record 1:56.

Barry Sharp executed a fine free-style stroke.

Coach Hodgens showed the hard way into the pool.

Coach Ralph Tennant instructed Tommy Hanlon in the finer points of play.

The Faces Were New but Results Were the Same

New faces dotting the King High golf line-up led many skeptics to believe that this was the year to unseat the perennial Western Conference, county, and twice-defending state championship title holders. The Lions had owned the Western Conference and Hillsborough County trophies for five straight years, and as far as local opponents were concerned it was time to get those trophies back into Circulation.

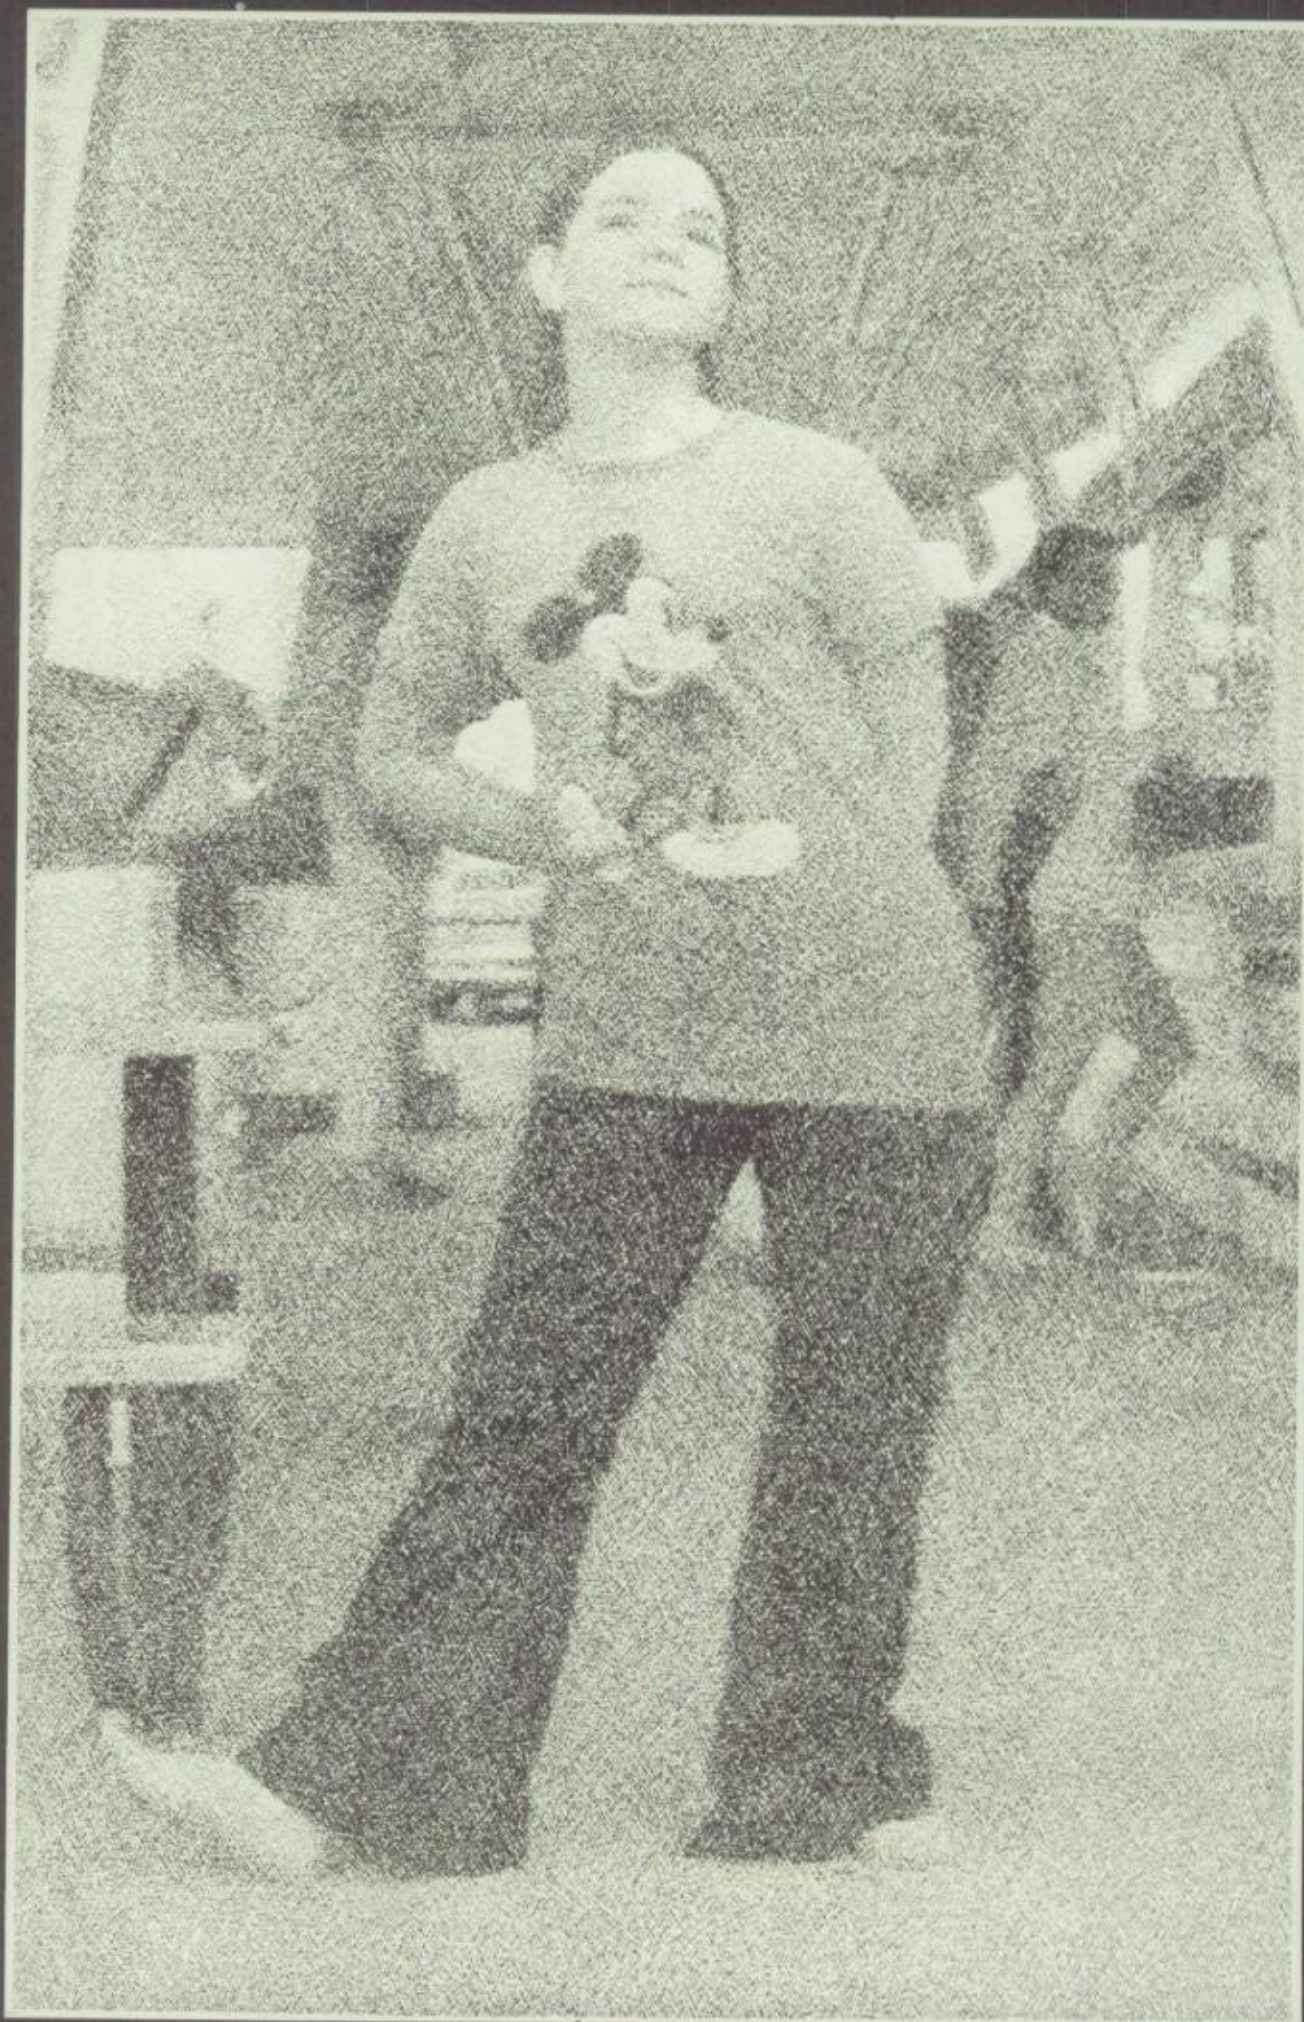

"Not so!" was the thinking of the foursome that represented King at Buckhorn Springs. With Tommy Mikell and Tommy Hanlon each firing two-over par 74's to go along with Jeff Gibson's 80 and Gary Jones' 87, the Lions retained the coveted trophies.

Jeff Gibson, Tom Mikell, and Norman Dudley strove for third number one ranking ala Iwo Jima.

Love ya,
 Rita

Coach,

So one of the greatest teachers and the best in my book. It has been great knowing you and I have enjoyed being in your
F Period Health Class.

You are my favorite teacher here at King.
I hope that I may see you after I leave from
King after I grad note.

Be good and stay as sweet as you are. I have enjoyed this class so much. You had better keep and use those notebooks I left you with in your future Health classes.

God Bless you.
